With Chicago's skyline etched in black with dark clouds hovering, a yachtsman on Lake Michigan heads to home port. The dark clouds — so expressive of summers in the Midwest — didn't, however, bring relief yesterday to Chicago's humid heat. Yesterday's high in the windy City was 79, five degrees higher than the overnight low. No relief in the humid conditions was forecast for the Fourth of July weekend. (UPI Telephoto)

Laird Cancels Rand Access To Secrets

Ties Leak Of Pentagon Papers To 'Think Tank'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird Friday ordered all classified information withdrawn from the custody of the Rand Corp. on grounds the research firm allowed the leak of the Pentagon papers in the Vietnam war.

Laird's action, announced while he was flying toward Tokyo, signaled a crackdown specifically on security practices at Rand's offices in Washington and Santa Monica, Calif. But Pentagon officials said it probably would result in tighter safeguarding of classified information and tougher security checks at all non-government locations where classified material is held.

"Lax security practices among defense contractors can no more be tolerated than will such practices within this department," Laird said in a memorandum to Air Force Secretary Robert Seamans ordering the actions against Rand.

The Air Force has given Rand the majority of its contracts.

The corporation —often referred to as a "think tank" — helped in preparation of the secret Vietnam war study which was disclosed to the New York Times and other newspapers.

Daniel Ellsberg, indicted by a federal grand jury for his role in "leaking" the documents, formerly was an analyst with Rand.

Laird's directive said: "In connection with recent compromises of classified documents included in the study, U.S.-Vietnam Relations, 1945-1967, and compromises of related documents, security personnel of contract administrations services of the Defense Supply Agency found a number of deficiences in the system and practices of Rand Corp."

He ordered the Air Force to:

—Withdraw all classified documents from the security custody of Rand Corp., and place them in control of Air Force personnel in special areas to be set up at each of the Rand offices.

—Conduct "a complete inventory of all classified documents and materials in the possession of Rand and determine, under the regulations, Rand's need-to know based on contracts of Rand and of such documents and materials."

The defense secretary also ordered cancellation of all "special access" Rand now holds to cryptographic material, intelligence information and other "special" intelligence material.

At a planeside news conference this morning before leaving on a trip to the Far East, Laird said nothing he had yet read in published stories on the study had adversely affected U.S. military forces in Vietnam.

He also said that he expected to have on his desk by July 19 a report, now underway, on review of the papers that could lead to at least a partial declassification of the documents.

Laird did not spell out what the laxities in Rand's securities practices or say how they were related to the leak of the study.

Pentagon Papers Reveal Secret '64 War Actions

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Johnson administration participated in or backed a series of military actions against North Vietnam during the 1964 presidential election year that were kept secret at the time, the Pentagon study of the origins of the war showed today.

Portions of the study furnished UPI said the "unpublicized" actions were taken "primarily as low-key indications to the enemy of the U. S. willingness and capability to employ increased force if necessary."

But the writers of the report said part of the reason for keeping the steps secret at the time was the fact President Lyndon Johnson was engaged in a re-election campaign against Republican Barry Goldwater.

"The fact that these actions were not publicized —although most of them eventually became public knowledge — stemmed in part from a desire to communicate an implicit threat of 'more to come' for Hanoi's benefit, without arousing undue anxieties domestically in the United States in a presidential election year in which escalation of the war became a significant campaign issue," the report said.

The report listed these unpublicized actions taken by the United States during 1964:

--DeSoto patrols, in which American destroyers probed deep into the Gulf of Tonkin along the coast of North Vietnam both as a show of strength and an intelligence gathering device.

—Air strikes in Laos and limited border-crossing operations in which South Vietnamese forces struck at Viet Cong infiltration routes in Laos.

—South Vietnamese raids by sea and other harassing actions against North Vietnam.

—A "Yankee Team" program which used low-level air reconnaissance missions over Laos. The flights were made by U. S. jets which were accompanied by fighters whose pilots had orders to retaliate against enemy ground fire.

At the very end of 1964, the report said, the United States started operation "Barrel Roll" which consisted of armed reconnaissance missions by U.S.

June's Jobless Count Declines

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Unemployment dropped in June to 5.6 per cent of the nation's work force even though 1.1 million more persons were out of work than in May, the government reported today.

The Labor Department cautioned that the dip might have been caused by a statistical quirk.

A total of 5.5 million Americans were listed as looking for work in June compared to 4.4 million in May. But because unemployment usually rises even more sharply from May to June, the level of unemployment after seasonal adjustment was recorded as down by 530,000.

Thus, the overall unemployment rate—perhaps the most politically sensitive of all government economic statistics — declined from 6.2 per cent in May to 5.6 per cent in June. That figure is always adjusted for seasonal factors such as school vacations, Christmas shopping season and expected lags in various areas of the economy.

The 0.6 decline in joblessness was the sharpest for one month since November, 1961.

Total employment rose 770,000 in June to 79.5 million but that increase, like the rise in joblessness, was less than usual for this time of year. Therefore, on a seasonally adjusted basis, employment declined by 520,000.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics explained that its employment and unemployment figures are based on a survey conducted during the week of each month in which the 12th day falls. In June, that was the week of the 6th through the 12th—earliest it could ever come in a month.

As a result, the bureau explained, many students who probably began looking for work later in the month were still in school and thus not registered either as employed or unemployed.

The seasonal adjustment factors, based on actual figures for the previous eight years, assumed that the influx of students has already entered the labor market.

The unemployment rate for teen-agers fell from 17.3 to 5.8 per cent, seasonally adjusted, during June. That probably was a result of a smaller number of hard-to-employ students seeking work.

In addition, the smaller-than-usual number of teen-agers, who always have a much higher unemployment rate than older workers, warped the overall unemployment rate.

Despite the statistical inconclusiveness, the drop in the overall rate cheered Nixon administration economic strategists. They had been chafing under the longest siege of high unemployment in almost 10 years.

The jobless rate from December through May had hovered around 6 per cent. The rate in December and May, 6.2 per cent each month, equaled the highest level since 1961.

San Anselmo Boots Any Pay Hikes

The City of San Anselmo has announced it will not grant cost-of-living increases to any of its employees.

In a letter to employee groups, City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel listed "drastic cuts" in requests of all departments and the "impossibility to maintain the same effective tax rate (as last year)" as reasons for the city's stance.

Spokesmen for the city's police department reacted today by charging the city with failing to negotiate in good faith and warning many veteran officers may leave as a result.

Lt. G. Albert Howenstein and Officer Bernard Del Santo, police negotiators, said they did not expect a strike as a result of the city's decision, but

Illegal Fireworks Blamed For Fires

Four of nine grass fires which broke out yesterday in the unincorporated portions of Marin County were definitely started by fireworks, according to county Fire Chief Richard D. Pedroli.

The chief reminded Marinites that fireworks are illegal in the county under a county ordinance and asked cooperation of residents in not using them.

He said that there were two small grass fires in Marin City and also fires in Bayside Acres and Santa Venetia caused by fireworks and that some of the other fires may also have been due to them.

Painters, Paper Hangers Join Growing Strike Force In Marin

The strike season was in full force today in Marin County with the painters and paper hangers having joined carpenters and Mill Valley city employees in walking off their jobs.

Most of the county's 250 painters and paperhangers were on strike today, according to a major painting contractor.

They were among 6,000 union painters and paper hangers in Northern California who walked off their jobs yesterday in a "no contract, no work" dispute with contractors. The painters want a 60-cent-an-hour pay hike over their current $5.57 hourly wage.

The situation in the carpenters' strike, which has halted work on the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project and a $480,000 sewage pumping station in San Rafael, remained the same today.

No ove to resume negotiations between the unions and contractors was reported in the dispute, which is also a no contract, no work strike.

Mill Valley's striking employees, excluding police and firemen, also remained off their jobs for the second day today with no progress reported in negotiations.

Neither City Mgr. William H. Cunningham nor spokesmen for the employees could offer hope for an early settlement of the strike, which has idled 39 employees, about half the city's force.

Bernard B. Burnside, secretary of the Mill Valley Employees Association, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, had no comment when asked if progress was made in a two-and-one-half hour negotiating session yesterday.

Cunningham said the two sides "reviewed their positions" in an effort to define issues and set another meeting for 2 p.m. Tuesday.

The striking employees — who work at city hall, the building and planning, public works and parks and recreation departments, the golf course and the library — walked out yesterday.

They are protesting what they say is a lack of serious bargaining on the part of the city. They have charged that a professional negotiator hired by the city is nothing more than a

A Long Holiday Due To Strikes

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Strikes across the nation have idled thousands of miners, construction workers, transportation workers and city employes. Even the halls of justice were left dusty due to strikes.

A strike by Detroit's 1,400 sanitation workers entered its second day today and garbage was piling up at the rate of 9 million pounds a day. Mayor Roman S. Gribb urged each resident to "keep his own area clean."

Some 36,000 copper workers were off the job in eight states and Pacific Coast ports virtually were closed by striking longshoremen. Even the new U.S. postal service, on its first day of operation, faced labor problems.

Striking garbage men and mounting garbage were not the only labor problems faced by Detroit officials. The threat of other work stoppages existed as contract negotiations continue between the city and 43 unions representing 24,000 workers. Janitors failed to report to work Thursday at the city-county building and the Frank Murphy Hall of Justic.

Picket lines representing a combination of 26 copper workers' unions were set up Thursday outside mines of major copper producers in Utah, Arizona, Montana, Nevada and New Mexico and workers in Texas, Washington and New Jersey joined the strike.

Eight companies were idled by the strike, including the big four of Jennecott, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and American Smelting and Refining. Federal mediators were called into the dispute.

In Cleveland, United Transportation Union president Charles Luna said the 265,000-member union would strike July 16 against the Union Pacific Railroad, Southern Railway System and the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. He said strike plans were drawn up after a year of "fruitless negotiations with the railroads."

However, Luna said, the strike against the three railroads "would not hurt the economy of the nation."

Strikes by some 15,000 workers in western states virtually closed Pacific Coast ports, although the longshoremen did unload military cargo, mail and passenger ships. The strike affected dozens of inbound vessels from Asia and Latin America, leaving them unsure as to their course.

Cabs were having a heyday Thursday in San Francisco when 52 drivers of buses between downtown San Francisco and its airport refused to work, sending an average of 5,000 persons a day in search of $8 cab rides or other means of transportation to the airport.

U.S. Admits To Neutral Zone Hits

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command acknowledged today that U.S. planes attacked Communist antiaircraft sites in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) but said it was a protective reaction strike provoked when North Vietnamese gunners opened fire on an American plane.

U.S. military sources with direct knowledge of the incident gave a different account. They said American planes attacked a North Vietnamese troop concentration believed assembling rockets in the supposedly neutral zone and that the planes were not fired on first.

The military sources said the raids were carried out by 14 U.S. F4 Phantom fighter-bombers and five 01 and 02 spotter planes armed with small rockets, that the raid was unauthorized.

The official version said forward air controllers (FACs) on Wednesday morning spotted Communist troop concentrations on the southern side of the Ben Hai river which divides the two Vietnams and air strikes were called against them.

The command said two Air Force F4 Phantoms and six U.S. Navy A7 Intruder jet fighters responded but while they were en route the North Vietnamese opened up on four light planes from positions just north of the river. The bigger planes then hit the antiaircraft sites, wiping out a 37 millimeter site, killing seven Communist troops and touching off 10 secondary explosions, indicating ammunition was hit.

The command said the strikes fitted the category of "protective reaction...an inherent right of self defense." They said no U.S. planes were lost in the strike, the first of its kind since March 30.

Military sources said the White House was so upset by reports of an unauthorized raid it sent a colonel to investigate. The command said only: "The 7th Air Force is routinely checking to see that normal operating procedures were followed."

The military sources said a recently arrived observation pilot spotted troop movements and called for artillery but was given a "negative clearance," meaning the target was in the northern half of the DMZ. He then called for air strikes which were sent in apparently in error.

Brezhnev Leads Cosmonaut Rites

MOSCOW (UPI)—An anguished Leonid I. Brezhnev and other Kremlin leaders today carried to niches in the Kremlin wall the ashes of the three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts who died mysteriously on their return to earth from a mission that was to have taught man how to live in space.

American astronaut Thomas Stafford, commander of the Apollo 10 moon mission, arrived today as the personal representative of President Nixon and joined the 19 surviving Soviet spacemen in the final accolade to the three cosmonauts.

Tens of thousands of Russians crowded into Red Square as the urns carrying the ashes were borne on gun carriages pulled by armored cars across the cobblestones to the tomb of V. I. Lenin the Soviet leaders then carried them to the Kremlin Wall, the Pantheon of Soviet heroes.

Guns of mourning crashed under the azure sky in the 81-degree temperature as the urns were placed in the Kremlin wall. The ceremony was televised to the mourning nation which had made favorite sons of Georgi Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev.

Brezhnev, the Communist Party general secretary; Premie Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny helped bear the urns on their shoulders in slow, precise procession from Lenin's tomb to the great brick wall.

Brezhnev, anguish etched on his face, fought back tears during the eulogies. A few trickled down his cheek as they did Thursday when he visited the men who were lying in state on a triple catafalque in the red-bannered Central House of the Soviet army. He did not speak.

Stafford, who flew in from a visit to Belgrade, was met at the airport by two Soviet cosmonauts and immediately went to Central House to convey sympathy to the families of the dead heroes. He joined the cosmonauts today in standing honor guard before the urns.

Stafford commanded the Apollo 10 moon mission which tested the Lunar module begore the moon landing of Apollo 11.

The cosmonauts died Wednesday from mysterious causes during what seemed a flawless return from man's longest spaceflight, 24 days. They established the first manned orbital space station—the cornerstone of eventual colonies in space.

Results of the autopsies on the three men have not been published.

Cairo Eyes New Path In Mideast

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Mohammed Hossanein Heikal, one of President Anwar Sadat's closest advisers, warned today that Egypt may renounce its commitment to seek a peaceful settlement with Israel and submit a new strategy to its Arab allies.

He said Egypt has made concessions to Israel in its attempt to reach an accommodation, but "did not get anything" in return, and it was time to take another stance.

"Egypt faces in the second half of this decisive year of 1971 a great responsibility that pushes it to expose...a new and complete strategy for its military and political struggle, Heikal, the editor of the Al Ahram newspaper.

Heikal said "circumstances are favorable" for a new Arab summit coference, which Arab presidents and kings have been trying in Algiers for several months to arrange, and that Egypt might present its new policy at the meeting.

Before Egypt goes to the summit conference, Heikal said, it should renounce its commitment to seek a peaceful Middle East solution implicit in its acceptance of the United Nations Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, and the 1970 peace proposals of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Drive For Titian

LONDON (UPI)—Trustees of the National Gallery opened a drive today to acquire Titian's "The Death of Actaeon," bought by a U.S. dealerr last week at auction for $4,032,000.

The gallery's board of directors, which announced the action Thursday, decided they must make the move to prevent other masterpieces in Britain from being bought by foreign buyers, said trustee chairman Sir John Witt.

Last Friday the painting was sold at Christie's June 25 for $4,032,000 to Julius Weitzner, an American art dealer. On Monday it was bought by the J. Paul Getty museum at Malibu, Calif.

The price paid by Getty was the auction price plus what the dealer described as a "nominal sum." Art sources said they believed this to be about $120,000.

Strike Spreads

ROME (UPI) — Groups of sailors and railroadmen joined hotel workers today in a strike wave which a cabinet minister said has plunged the economy into recession.

Workers of Rome's main railroad station, demanding higher pay, larger staffs and a 36-hour week, called a 48-hour strike starting at 9 p.m. today.

Crews of five passenger liners in the port of Trieste called a 24-hour strike today to protest a government plan to reduce transatlantic passenger runs of state-controlled shipping lines and concentrate instead on freighters and cruise ships.

Beatle Punch?

CAMBELTOWN, Scotland (UPI)—A 24-year-old American girl said today Paul McCartney punched her on the nose. The former Beatle denied the charge.

Carolyn Mitchell, who said she came to Britain from her home in Salt Lake City two years ago just to be near the Beatles, said she clashed with McCartney last Saturday as she was watching his house from a hill side in Cambeltown.

She said she had filed a complaint with the police and written to the public prosecutor about the incident. But she said she would drop the charge if Paul apologized to her personally.

Paul refused. "There's nothing to apologize about," he told newsmen. "I admit I was rude and the words I used were very rough, but there was no rough stuff."

For Jobs Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, who vetoed a similar bill last year, says now he will sign a $2.25 billion measure to create up to 200,000 public service jobs. The bill passed Congress Thursday after conferees worked out the differences between Senat and House versions.

The measure would authorize 90 per cent federal matching grants to state and local governments to create jobs in such fields as recreation, education, health and police and fire protection whenever the national unemployment average exceeds 4.5 per cent. The current rate is 6.2 per cent.

Although it is intended primarily to put the unemployed back to work, the bill also would have the effect of helping financially pressed states and cities straining their budgets to hire additional employes, or cutting back on other services to do so.

Broader Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission, accusing the tobacco industry of unfair and deceptive advertising, Thursday proposed the health warning on cigarette packages be extended to all forms of cigarette advertising —including billboards and magazines —effective Jan. 1.

Current cigarette advertising is "a symphony of seduction with a small flute warning," said Gerald J. Thain of the FTC's Consumer Protection Bureau.

Rain Halts Agnew Tour; A Briefing

SEOUL (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew canceled a planned helicopter visit to American and South Korean troops near the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Korea today and instead received an extended top-level briefing on the military situation in the area.

The detailed, hour-long briefing was conducted by Adm. John S. McCain, commander-on-chief of U.S. Pacific forces, and Gen. J. H. Michaelis, commander of the United Nations forces in Korea and the U.S. Eighth Army.

The brief originally was scheduled to last only 20 or 30 minutes but instead was extended to an hour because Agnew's visit to troops was canceled. After the briefing, the vice president toured the underground combat operations compound, nerve center of the U.S. command.

The original schedule had called for Agnew to review honor guards at the U.N. Command and take a flight aboard a helicopter to a South Korean artillery battalion, and then to Camp Casey, about 20 miles north of Seoul, to 2nd U.S. Infantry Division headquarters.

Agnew carried out the major portion of his mission in Korea Thursday, attending the inauguration to a third four-year term of Korean President Park Chung-hee. Thursday evening Agnew was on hand at a reception and dinner held as part of the inauguration day program while fireworks illuminated rainy skies over Seoul.

While the festive program was underway, a 15-minute power failure blacked out the entire city.

Life On Mars, But 'Scummy'

SEATTLE (UPI) —A space agency scientist thinks there is life on Mars—mold-like creatures "similar to those scummy things that grow in ice boxes."

Dr. Harold P. Klein, director of life sciences at National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center in Mountain View, Calif., said he was encouraged in his belief by the recent discovery of amino acids—the so-called "building blocks of life —in two meteorites.

Klein told the international Conference on Space Research (COSPAR) that the United States will land two spacecraft on Mars in 1976 to conduct wide-ranging experiments "based on different assumptions" about possible life there.

LOSES DREAM IN A FLASH OF FIRE

Tyrone Gullixson stood stoically yesterday beside his four-year-old dream — a restored 1928 Model 'A' Ford — after a flash fire destroyed it. The Richmond man had spent $6,000 in searching for and buying parts for the car, which he finished restoring yesterday. He attached a charger to the battery to get the car ready for its first drive when the fibreglass he used to refurbish the interior caught fire and destroyed the vintage vehicle. (UPI Telephoto)

Review Of Death Penalty—Historic

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court's new look at the death penalty next term will climax a series of cases that have both supported and chipped away at capital punishment.

Of the six cases to be heard when the justices reconvene in October, four present the crucial question of whether condemning a person to electrocution, the gas chamber or hanging is the kind of "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden by the Constitution' 8th Amendment.

A decision in the affirmative would rescue 669 persoms from Death Row and any others who may be condemned between now and the date of the ruling.

Because the high court has been considering various aspects of the death penalty, no execution has taken place since June 2, 1967.

Some members of the court already have either stated or implied opposing views on the subject.

Justice Hugo L. Black, a meticulous interpreter of the Constitution, said in an opinion earlier this year:

"In my view (the 8th Amendment) cannot be read to outlaw capital punishment because that penalty was in common use and authorized by law here and in the countries from which our ancestors came at the time the amendment was adopted. It is inconceivable to me that the framers intended to end capital punishment by the amendment."

On the other hand, Justice William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall generally have dissented when the court has handed down opinions tending to shore up he death penalty.

As long ago as 1963, Douglas and Brennan wanted the court to decide whether the 8th Amendment permits execution for rape when the victim's life was not endangered. But only Former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg agreed with them and four votes are needed to bring a case into the high court. Marshall was not on the court then.

Two rape cases are among those to be heard next term. They were appealed by Lucious Jackson Jr., Savannah, Ga., an escaped convict found guilty of raping a doctor's wife after demanding refuge at her home; and Elmer Branch, Vernon, Tex., convicted of raping an elderly widow.

The court has ruled several times in the past three years on various aspects of capital punishment.

In 1968 in the famous "Witherspoon" decision it was held that individuals with scruples against the death sentence cannot automatically be kept off juries but must be questioned to determine whether, in spite of their views, they can return an unbiased verdict.

The same year the court struck down part of the Lindberg anti-kidnap law which provied that only a jury could impose the death penalty. Justice Potter Stewart, who could well be a swing man between opposing viewpoints, wrote both decisions.

He said the Lindberg law penalized an accused person's right (1) to a jury trial and (2) not to incriminate himself by pleading guilty. The natural tendency would be to plead guilty or waive a jury trial in order to avoid a possible death sentence, Stewart said.

Judge Slaps Cutbacks In Medi-Cal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Reagan administration's 10 per cent cut in Medi-Cal payments and services was officially invalidated Thursday by Superior Court Judge William M. Gallagher.

Gallagher took the final action after the attorney general's office reported that Medi-Cal Director R. Earl Brian had restored the cuts as he promised on June 15

On June 1, the judge ordered Brian to restore the health care program for the needy to levels of six months previous. Brian made the cuts last Dec. 15 to avoid what he said was a threatened $140 million budget deficit. But Gallagher ruled no such fiscal emergency existed.

The administralion cuts were successfully challenged in suits brought by the California Medical Association on behalf of doctor providers, the California Rural Legal Assistance on behalf of recipients and several other organizations along with three counties — Sacramento, Alameda and San Mateo.

Gallagher ordered the state to reimburse the three counties for losses incurred due to the Medi-Cal reductions. The amount of the losses will be established at further court proceedings.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. Robert W. Prehoda of the Bedford Foundation told the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions here he foresees "one-child" families by the 21st Century, reducing the world population from the present 3.5 billion to 2 billion.

New Vietnam War Crime Charge Made

LONDON (UPI)—An American Army officer charged on nationwide television Thursday night that his superiors were guilty of war crimes in Vietnam. He said that when he complained prisoners were tortured they told him, "if your stomach is to squeamish for this, stay away."

Lt. Col. Anthony B. Herbert, 41, a much-decorated officer who served both in Korea and Vietnam, was interviewed at his Atlanta, Ga., home by London's Thames Television. The interview was shown on Independent Television Network Thursday night.

According to Herbert, his superiors condoned torturing and killing of prisoners. He also said officers lived a life of swimming pools and pizza parlors and gave troops leaves as a reward for boosting the "body count" of Communists killed.

Hebert said he was making the charges because he was trying to make the U.S. Army "an honorable place."

As a result of earlier charges by Herbert, the Army began investigations in September that included Maj. Gen. John Barnes, former commander of the 173rd Airborne Infantry Brigade in Vietnam; and his deputy, Col. J. Ross Franklin. Herbert said he also came under investigation and was charged with assaulting men under his command. He said the Army then offered to drop the charge if he would not press his accusations of war crimes.

One torture incident Herbert said he witnessed was on Feb. 14, 1969, when he turned over to South Vietnamese police 15 to 17 Viet Cong suspects captured by his unit.

One of his men, Herbert said, later "came and got me and told me they were executing the prisoners.

"I ran back and they had four dead males on the ground that I'd just turned over to them — I recognized one of them — and they had a woman, and the woman was being held by the hair with the left hand, the left hand of this Vietnamese was around her throat with a knife dug in under the esophagus.

"There was this child hanging on to her trouser leg, screaming, and they had another child, pushing his face down in the sand suffocating him. An American lieutenant was conducting this thing. I grabbed hold of the lieutenant and I hollered to stop it, and they cut the woman's throat while I was still approaching them and dropped the woman to the sand. She died there in the sand."

Herbert said he then took the other prisoners from the lieutenant and refused to give them back when ordered to do so by Franklin via radio. But he said they were killed by the lieutenant and his Vietnamese counterparts before they could be evacuated from the area. He did not identify the lieutenant.

Man Killed After Bus Ejection

BARSTOW, Calif. (UPI)—Leroy Carson, 41, ejected from a bus Thursday for yelling obscenities, was struck and killed by a car on the freeway offramp.

Don Ames, Greyhound bus driver, said he ordered Carson off his bus because he refused to stop his "loud, vulgar language."

A truck driver told the California Highway Patrol he saw Carson later on an offramp of Interstate highway 40, 36 miles east of Barstow, lying on the pavement and screaming. The driver, James Rose, said he tried to stop and help Carson, but before he could do anything, Carson was hit and killed by a car. The driver of the car was not held.

34 Strep Cases Reported In Marin

Thirty-four cases of streptoccocus infections were reported last week in Marin County, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

There were also 22 cases of gonorrhea, one of rubella, one of syphyllis, two of tuberculosis, three of salmonella and five of infectious hepatitis.

Speaker Sees Nixon Optimistic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House speaker Carl Albert said Thursday he believes President Nixon is optimistic about ending the Vietnam War "And I think that optimism is well founded."

"But I think he should more frequently express to the people his own confidence in the programs he is fostering and the successes he is having," the Oklahoma Democrat told a news conference.

Albert, who had breakfast alone with Nixon earlier this week, emphasized that his allegiance to the Democratic Party was unchanged.

NO PARKING AREA: INTRUDER

The irony was in a "No parking" sign today when an auto, driven by a Redwood City man, careened into a fence at Highway 101 and Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael. San Rafael police officer James M. Craddock (left) and Officer Dale Erskine of the California Highway Patrol view the wreck. The driver, Ferdinand Shelton, 21, was unhurt, although he wound up in Marin County Jail — booked on suspicion of drunken driving, the CHP said. Two other persons in the car also were unhurt in the 8:15 a.m. mishap. (Independent-Journal photo)

REPORT

While the unpublicized actions were being taken, the Pentagon papers said, the United States was taking other military political steps that were given "consieerable publicity."

They included accelerated military construction efforts in Thailand and South Vietnam, the pre-positioning of stockpiles of supplies in Thailand and the Philippines, the forward deployment of a carrier task force and land-based tactical aircraft within close striking distance of relevant enemy targets, and the assignment of an "unprecedentedly high level" first team to man the U. S. diplomatic mission in Saigon.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers appealed to the press Thursday to voluntarily withhold publication of information from the Pentagon study which would "harm the security of the United States." Rogers said the government remained ready to lend its assistance in identifying any documents "which if disclosed would result in such harm."

The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday the government had failed to prove its case that disclosure of the documents would damage the national security and that newspapers were free to publish all of the study.

Four newspapers that have used material from the report indicated they would continue to do their own editing. They were The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Boston Globe, and The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Rogers said one ambassador called on him recently and said his government no longer could trust the United States because of the publication of disclosures about U. S. decision-making in Vietnam. Rogers said the ambassador explained that his government had been assured that the diplomatic role it had agreed to play for the United States never would be revealed.

The Washington Post, using material from the report, said today President Kennedy was told late in 1961 that if Hanoi and Peking overtly intervened in South Vietnam after the first U. S. troops were sent there, the United States would require no more than six divisions, or about 205,000 men, in Southeast Asia.

The Post said Kennedy in essence accepted the recommendations of his advisers "for a fateful step into direct involvement in the war."

The New York Times said today Gen. William C. Westmoreland's troop requests for Vietnam jumped from 175,000 in June, 1965, to 542,000 one year later. The Times said this happened because "no one really foresaw what the troop needs in Vietnam would be."

American officials also "consistently underrated" the ability of the North Vietnam to build up its forces, the Times said.

Meanwhile former Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Thursday that despite the Pentagon study on the Vietnam War, President Lyndon B. johnson had "no plans to bomb North Vietnam during the 1964 presidential campaign."

"People ought to read all that he said during the campaign," said Rusk. "He had no plans to bomb North Vietnam during the campaign although there were people on the staff who were working out all sorts of contingencies.

"But these (contingencies) were not President Johnson's plans."

The comments in the Athens (GA.) Daily News were the first by Rusk on the controversial Pentagon sludy. Rusk, a professor of international law at the University of Georgia, said he had withheld comment until after the Supreme Court's ruling in the case.

Also the Pentagon is urging President Nixon to withdraw U.S. troops from South Vietnam at an even faster rate, both for military reasons and because of race and narcotics problems, according to the Los Angeles Times.

B Of A Announces Student Loans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A $12 million loan program to help medical students in California was announced Thursday by the Bank of America, the American Medical Society, the Guggenheim Foundation and the Sloan Foundation.

The bank committed the money, with the society guaranteeing repayment and the foundations offering to pay the interest while the students still are in school.

Bond Vote Eyed By Rec Panel

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission last night turned to thoughts of a bond election as it analyzed budget cuts proposed by the city council.

Recreation Director James Pekkain said the commission reviewed the cuts suggested by City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan that would reduce the $169,200 budget proposed by the commission to $103,390 for 1971-72.

The most drastic cut was $48,000 for park purchases and development which the commission has requested for the future purchase of a regional park and two neighborhood parks.

Pekkain said the commission agreed that capital improvements must be cut to keep the city budget within set limits and said it would give serious consideration to putting a park bond issue to the voters perhaps later in the year.

The commission has applied for state and federal park grants for the regional park and heard that many grants allow only three months for the city to come up with matching funds.

"messenger boy" who has not been given the power to come to an agreement with employees.

Police and firemen, who do not belong to the AFSCME unit, are not involved in the walkout.

Employees plan to picket the golf course, library and corporation yard during the holiday weekend. Cunningham said the golf course will continue to operate, but the library will be closed until Tuesday.

The city's sewage treatment plant continued to operate normally today, manned by supervisory personnel and department heads under the direction of Ross Benson, public works director.

Strikers said a group of women at the golf course this morning abandoned plans to play golf and joined the picket line there. Other residents on their way to city hall have helped with picketing, too, they said.

warned "many officers will be leaving."

Del Santo said the city's action is in violation of its own resolution governing negotiations. The resolution, he said, requires that both parties "meet and confer in good faith" and makes allowance for mediation if an impasse is reached.

"They have not negotiated in good faith," he said, adding that the city has made no counter proposals to the police officers' requests. Further, he said, no mediation has been attempted.

Officers asked for a 7.5 per cent cost-of-living increase this fiscal year, an increase of $50 per year in clothing allowance for each employee, a longevity plan representing a 2.5 per cent pay increase to employees at the five and 10-year employment level and purchase of a life insurance policy for each officer. (San Anselmo officers currently do not have city-financed life insurance.)

"A year ago we got a good pay raise which brought us in line with other departments," Lt. Howenstein said. "That was after the department lost five good men. The city is going to start the whole cycle over again."

Howenstein called on citizens to demand the city reconsider its position.

San Rafael Youth Booked In Dope

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth was arrested for possession of marijuana yesterday at the Marin County Jail where he was brought in for a probation violation.

Douglas Lloyd Austin of 362 Irwin Street was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Terra Linda CSD Panel Sets Budget

A $70,655 budget was approved last night by the Terra Linda Community Services District board after a 15-minute public hearing that was unattended.

Richard L. Less, vice chairman, said the board approved the 1971-72 budget as proposed with one change. Due to a $200 increase in general insurance, that item was changed to $3,203 from $3,003 and $200 taken from the depreciation fund, leaving $1,800.

Less said only a few firemen listened to the brief session which was held at the firehouse in San Rafael.

Because of increased assessed valuation, the tax rate is expected to go down to about 84.8 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The existing tax rate is 88.5 cents.

Although the tax rate will show a decrease, property owners will pay more because of the increase from 23 to 25 per cent in assessed valuation.

Man Booked In Pot Probe

A 26-year-old San Francisco man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of marijuana possession after he was arrested while sitting in a van in Sausalito's Municipal Parking Lot No. 3.

Officers said they noticed a flickering light, like a fire, through the van's open door about 10:20 a.m. and went to investigate. Police said they found Franklin Anthony Adams Spagnola sitting cross-legged in the vehicle, with his eyes closed and a corncob pipe covered with tinfoil on a table in font of him.

When questioned by police, Spagnola allegedly told officers he was "stoning, man" and was arrested after officers noticed the pipe contained a substance believed to be hashish.

Bail had not yet been set for Spagnola, who was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Tiburon District Gets Fire Post

Ken Howie, inspector for the Tiburon Fire Protection District, yesterday was appointed the district's first fire marshal.

Chief Franklin J. Buscher, who announced the appointment, said Howie will be responsible for enforcing the district's fire code, making building inspections and home inspections on request and fire-safety and prevention education.

Howie joined the department in 1967.

BRIDGE BOND RETIRES IN FLAMES

With a $2.8 million check, the Golden Gate Bridge District yesterday paid off the last of the $35 million in bonds that financed the span's construction from 1933 to 1937. Board president Lowell Edington of Napa County, flanked by officials of the district and Bank of America, burns one of the 35,000 $1,000 bonds to symbolize their retirement. The bank headed a syndicate that bought the bonds in the depth of the Depression. (Independent-Journal photo)

Meeting On Bus Future Postponed

A meeting to decide the future of Marin Transit Systems, scheduled for Tuesday by Marin Transit District directors, has been postponed to July 13.

The meeting will be at 8:30 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers in the Civic Center.

James B. Robertson, acting district general manager, said the meeting was postponed to accommodate two directors who cannot attend this coming Tuesday — San Anselmo Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson and Tiburon Mayor Denis T. Rice.

Marin Transit Systems, a Marin City — based private company, has been operating limited service since early last year under subsidies from the transit district and the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The bridge district, however, plans to start operating its own fleet of 152 buses by Dec. 1, and its staff opposes including the private company within its operation.

POW Wife Reacts To Red's Proposal

A San Rafael woman whose husband is a prisoner of war in North Vietnam said today she views the new communist peace proposal with suspicion.

Julie Butler, whose husband, Air Force Captain William Butler, was shot down near Hanoi in 1967, told the Independent-Journal she looks at the proposal, revealed at the Paris Peace talks yesterday, with "a little more caution than the headlines would make everyone feel."

Vietnamese Communist negotiators offered yesterday to couple the release of POWs with withdrawal of American troops by Dec. 31 this year. Mrs. Butler said the statement "didn't tell me anything. I'm always optimistic but we (POW wives) . . . have been disappointed so much."

The proposal was one of seven offered by the Communists yesterday to end the war, and Mrs. Butler expressed hope the prisoner issue could be negotiated by itself. However, she feared, "If we ever get down to discussing this new proposal, they would also want to discuss their other points."

Other points in the Communists's program called for cessation of all U.S. military and economic aid to South Vietnam; dismantling of U.S. military bases and institution of a coalition government in South Vietnam.

Mrs. Butler criticized U.S. senators whom she said "have made an about face" on the POW question. She mentioned Indiana Democrat Vance Hartke, and said that she has tapes of a speech Hartke gave in March to a Washington, D.C., high school and college group in which he said he was not adverse to leaving POWs behind if necessary.

She said she supports President Richard M. Nixon's efforts to secure release of prisoners before withdrawing all U.S. troops. "I hate to keep tying it to a poker game, but I'm really worried about what will happen to our men if we take away the cards he (Nixon) has to play with," she said.

Mrs. Butler is Northern California coordinator for the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southwest Asia.

Says Bernadette: 'I'm Pregnant'

DUBLIN (UPI)- Bernadette Devlin, civil rights leader in Northern Ireland, said today she is pregnant and unmarried.

Miss Devlin, a Roman Catholic and member of the British Parliament, told of her pregnancy in an interview with the Irish Times.

Mary Cummins, a close friend of Miss Devlin's who conducted the interview, asked her: "Who is the father?"

"I am not saying," Miss Devlin replied. She also refused to say why she would not identify the father.

Miss Devlin said she has ruled out an abortion on moral grounds.

"My moral position on abortion is that I would not be able to justify it to myself," she said.

Leary Is Arrested On Yanks' Request

Police said Leary was arrested in Villars-sur-Ollon near the French border at the request of the United States.

Donald Felt New College Board Chief

Donald K. Felt was elected president of the Marin Community College District board last night, and three new trustees were sworn into office.

Taking their seats for the first time were Frances Comptom, Charles R. Best and Martin J. Dean.

Felt's election was unanimous, as were the votes for Charles W. Gray as vice president and Theodore C. Wellman as clerk of the board.

The newcomers outnumbered the veteran trustees at the meeting. From the latter group, only Felt and Wellman were on hand. Gray and Robert E. Oliver were absent.

Felt reappointed Dist. Supt.-President John A. Grasham as secretary to the board and named Best to represent the board on the County Committee on School District Organization. Mrs. Compton was appointed representative to the California Junior College Association and the California School Boards Association.

Board members indicated they probably would change their regular meeting date to the first and third Wednesdays of the month, but postponed a decision until their next regular meeting July 15.

Youths Hurt In Car Crash

Two Marinwood teen-agers were hospitalized yesterday after a one-car accident on Lucas Valley Road west of Mount McKinley Drive.

Despina Callas, 16, of 2098 Huckleberry Drive, the driver of the westbound car, was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael with multiple cuts and bruises.

A passenger, Irving F. Tompkins, 17, of 2742 Heatherstone Drive, was in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco with a broken jaw.

The California Highway Patrol said their car ran off the road and hit a utility pole at 4:20 p.m.

'Colleges Of Indian Valley'—Too Much

"I've had great difficulty in swallowing the name, 'Colleges of Indian Valley'," declared Trustee Theodore C. Wellman.

That's the name the board approved June 22 on the basis of suggestions from a citizens' committee advising the district on the future north campus.

"'Indian Valley Colleges' is long enough," Wellman insisted last night. "I echo that," declared Trustee Frances Compton.

Trustee Martin J. Dean unsuccessfully proposed waiting until the board's July 15 meeting to allow further consideration by Novato residents. Whatever name is chosen, he warned, "we're going to have to live with it for years to come."

Dr. Ernest H. Berg, president of the north campus, reported the campus council favored "Indian Valley Colleges" and wanted to name the first three cluster colleges "Miwok," "Pacheco" and "Novato."

After considerable debate, the trustees voted 4-0, with Trustee Charles R. Best abstaining, to label it "Indian Valley Colleges." They postponed deciding on the individual college names to await further community recommendations.

Marin Community College District Also:

SPECIAL — Set a campus familiarization tour for the entire board and especially the three new trustees for 7 p.m. Tuesday with Dale A. Fleming, director of campus planning. The board will make a detailed inspection of the art building, proposed for remodeling.

ART BUILDING — Approved educational specifications and authorized Fleming to begin preliminary plans for remodeling of the art building, estimated to cost $31,000. The 1971-72 college budget contains $27,000 carryover funds for working drawings.

LIBRARY — Without knowing for certain that Gov. Ronald Reagan will leave intact state budget allocations for the $3 million library proposed for the Kentfield campus, voted 4-0 to authorize Fleming to prepare bid specifications. Chairman Donald K. Felt, long a critic of the building's austere design, declared, "I won't vote for it."

CAPITAL PROGRAM — Agreed to a workshop session at 8 p.m. Wednesday with the citizens advisory finance committee to discuss six or seven alternate plans for long-range financing of the two campuses' construction projects.

CREEK — Retroactively approved raising the level of the creekbed for the "old meander" portion of Corte Madera Creek to prevent stagnant water from ponding. Trees in the creek will be protected with the installation of irrigation pipes, Fleming assured Mrs. Compton.

WORKSHOPS — Tentatively agreed to meet from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. July 29 and Aug. 3 for workshops on plans for Indian Valley Colleges.

BUSES — Heard a warning from Gregory C. Fearon, student body vice president, that Marin Transit System bus service would be the subject of a crucial Marin Transit District board meeting Tuesday, and that the students might lose the service. Board members instructed staff to help prepare data on collegians' use of the buses.

Home With View Plan Withdrawn

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A couple's plan to build a home in Tiburon on pilings over San Francisco Bay in order to get a better view of the Golden Gate Bridge was withdrawn abruptly yesterday.

The Bay Conservation and Development Commission, scheduled to vote on a fill permit to allow Mr. and Mrs. John C. McGuire of San Francisco to build the structure, was told the applicants do not wish to pursue the plan.

Chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park said he understood the McGuires, who withdrew their application only yesterday morning, will submit an amended plan.

The application was for a two-story house and boat dock, 90 per cent of which would be build on pilings, and a swimming pool and two rental units on dry land at 2326 and 2330 Mar East Street.

At the June 17 BCDC meeting, an attorney for the McGuires said the house must be built over the bay to afford a view of the Golden Gate Bridge that otherwise would be blocked by a nearby duplex.

About 1.7 million persons, some 40 per cent of Hong Kong's population, live in government-aided, low-cost housing.

INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL

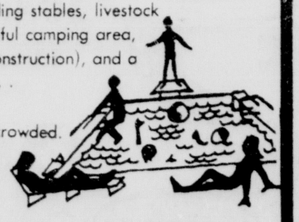
The truth is: you can.

At Rancho del Norte in the Sonoma Hills — a mere hour's drive from the Golden Gate Bridge — you can enjoy all the convenience of a private club without the overwhelming expense. For annual family membership of $200 and monthly dues of $5.00, you have 305 acres of outdoor recreation available to you 365 days a years.

When you compare that to the total cost of weekend excursions with your family over the year, the economics alone show you the advantage of belonging to Rancho del Norte. But there are many other advantages, too.

Rolling hills, a year-round creek, riding stables, livestock corrals, a large swimming pool, beautiful camping area, a five-acre lake (currently under construction), and a recreation lodge — all for you to enjoy as you will . . . when you will. Reservations are never necessary. And because our membership is limited, you'll never be crowded.

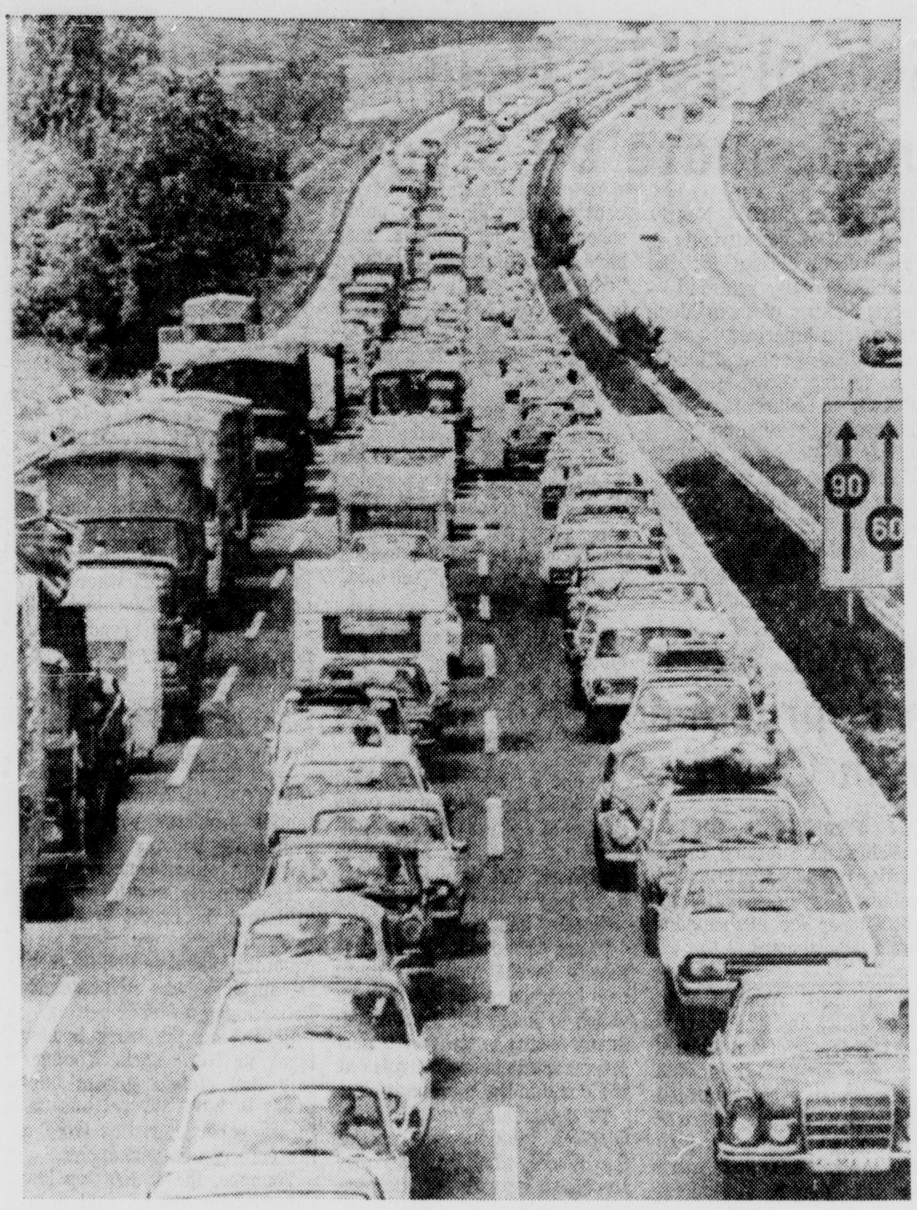


A Free Family Day at Rancho del Norte

Come take a look for yourself . . . this weekend or next. Bring the entire family and enjoy a full day at Rancho del Norte at no cost to you whatsoever. There's a free barbecue, a large open space where your children can wander, and ample time for you to explore the grounds and lodge on your own.

How to get to Rancho del Norte

Go north on Highway 101 to the River Road exit (approximately 4 miles above Santa Rosa). Proceed east. You'll know you're on the right road if you come to a stop sign in a couple of blocks with a Texaco station on the right. Continue on this road (which goes to Calistoga) for 8 miles. (This road changes names twice — from River Road to Mark West Springs to Porter Creek Road, so do not be confused.) At this point watch for our mailbox and small sign on the right. The address is 3485 Porter Creek Road. Turn immediately to the left over a small bridge and follow the signs to the lodge. The Resident Manager will be there to greet you. Our telephone number: (707) 545-4898.



NO, NOT IN AMERICA

Official Nod To Fund For CRLA

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A $2.65 million, 17-month grant for the California Rural Legal Assistance was officially approved Thursday as Gov. Ronald Reagan and the federal government agreed on special conditions for the agency.

Also announced yesterday by CRLA was the appointment to its 25-member board of directors of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. Bagley commended the Nixon Administration for contiuing "a much needed mechanism of government."

The assemblyman, who had differed openly with the Reagan Administration in its effort to kill CRLA, said he was "sorry that we had to go through six months of public pyrotechnics, with unfounded accusations being made against CRLA, in order to achieve orderly procedures These could have been achieved by simply making constructive suggestions to the Nixon Administration last December."

Cruz Reynoso, director of the agency which had been criticized by the governor, hailed the approval and said, "There is a real possibility that we are moving toward general agreement on some of the basic issues affecting needed legal representation for the poor."

Special conditions provide that the poverty agency shall maintain liaison with the State Office of Economic Opportunity and take part in planning an experiment aimed at delivering additional means of delivering legal services in the state.

Acting on a study by the State OEO, the governor had vetoed a grant by the federal OEO to the CRLA.

Frank Carlucci, federal OEO director, ordered a study by a judicial commission which in the main backed the CRLA and the $2.65 million grant resulted.

Another special condition says that CRLA attorneys shall not provide legal services to labor unions or to defendants in criminal cases.

The agency is authorized to engage in "class actions" and impact cases in which one court ruling may affect large numbers of the poor. In that regard, it is allowed to assign low priority to cases which offer "little potential help in alleviating poverty."

Innocent Plea To Drug Counts

Clayton Stephen Anderson, 22, of San Rafael has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of selling amphetamine, cocaine and mescaline; two counts of selling marijuana; cultivating marijuana, and maintaining a place for selling and using narcotics.

Preliminary hearing was set Tuesday for July 13.

Preliminary hearings previously were set for that date for three codefendants who were arrested with Anderson June 4 when Marin Drug Abuse agents went to their residence with a warrant.

Mrs. Hill Leaves $2½ Million Estate

Miss Hills, who was 82, was the daughter of Edward W. Hopkins, treasurer of the Central Pacific Railway.

Criminal Justice Panel Has Session

The new four-county Regional Criminal Justice Planning board, through which federal grant applications by police agencies will be funneled, got under way last night with an organizational meeting in Napa.

John F. Barrows, acting Marin County administrator, is serving as intermim chairman of the board.

San Rafael attorney Bella Aaron was named as Marin's public representative at last night's session. Other Marin representatives are Fairfax Councilman Lee Nelder, Corte Madera Police Chief David L. McIntosh, Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

The board set another meeting for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Napa.

When preliminary organization is completed, the board will begin reviewing and setting priorities for grant applications from Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties, Barrows said.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash

The California Highway Patrol said John E. Loeber was injured at 4:25 p.m. when his motorcycle, eastbound on Lucas Valley Road, collided with a westbound car driven by Betty Ann Horick, 48, of Nob Hill Road, Point Reyes Station.

Officers said Loeber had taken a curve too wide and was on the wrong side of the road.

Permit For Beer Garden Is Denied

The Cotati City Council last night denied a permit for an outdoor beer garden after hearing protests from neighboring residents.

The council overturned a planning commission decision to grant a permit to William W. Snelling to operate a beer garden terrace at the Barrel of Suds Bar, La Plaza.

Neighbors ot the bar complained in a petition that outdoor drinking and music would disturb them.

In other action, the council approved 3-1 a resolution increasing sewer and water connection fees from $50 to $125 per living unit, effective Jan. 1. Councilman Herbert Winter dissented, saying the lower rate would attract more development.

The council denied Police Chief Tony Locarini's request to permit reserve police officers to ride alone in patrol cars. Locarini argued that reserve officers were experienced and had nearly as much training as regular officers.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Partners Make Le Tonneau A Popular, Pleasant Restaurant

Now well into its stride and picking up momentum in the Paradise Shopping Center in Corte Madera is Le Tonneau, operated by two Italians and one Frenchman.

For a three-way partnership, this is about as compatible an alliance as you can find anywhere and no one member seems to step on the toes of the other two. Bernard Epstein's say-so in the dining room is never questioned and he in turn doesn't interfere with the cocktail lounge presided over by John Napoli and Angelo Camilleri. When it comes to arranging the decor, Angelo is the one who has his say and you can credit him with both the design and all the work that has been done here.

A musician himself, John's word is taken on who should be the entertainers here and he has come up with some good ones — witness Nancy Valencia who plays at the Baldwin and sings.

All this makes for a happy family and where there is restaurant harmony there is also pleasure for those who go there. Le Tonneau has developed its own following and it's not unusual to find a mayor or judge or a state senator among the dinner patrons.

Bernard's menu is an exceptionally extensive one, appealing to any number of tastes. And he has the happy faculty of being able to come up with something new on short notice if the occasion seems to call for it. His new veal Bette is a triumph. It's not on the menu but if it gets any kind of play from the customers it jolly well should be there.

If you can still find room at the end of the meal, top it off with Bernard's zabaione, or his custard which is something like flan except for the flavoring.

THE FOURTH OF JULY WEEKEND may make some difference in the schedule of some restaurants.

La Petite Auberge in San Rafael, for instance, is open tonight and tomorrow night but will close Sunday, the Fourth — and of course it is also closed regularly on Mondays.

RUBINI'S IN Fairfax is also open tonight and tomorrow night, but will be closed Sunday — and of course on its regular closing days, Monday and Tuesday.

It will then open again Wednesday night when the Giant Boosters plan on holding their bimonthly meeting —this one in preparation for leaving on Thursday for the important series with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

EARLIER THIS MONTH the McNear's Beach Snack Bar and Restaurant concession in San Rafael was acquired from the county by Paul Powell of Mill Valley and Don Brown of San Francisco.

All through the summer they are keeping it open seven days a week until school opens again in September. Hours are from noon until 6 p.m. during the week and from 10 a.m. on weekends. It has all the burgers, sandwiches, hot dogs and soft drinks that go with this type of operation and probably will be doing all kinds of business this Fourth of July weekend.

Other facilities at McNear's are two swimming pools, a wading pool, tennis courts — and of course San Pablo Bay on the water side.

CHANGES have been taking place at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda.

First of all, innkeeper Jim Stuart has left and has been replaced by Sam Standard, formerly general manager at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco and a hotel man from way back. He has been a San Rafael resident for the past three years.

And new director of food and beverages is none other than Black Hat chef Pierre Bitterer, whom you won't see wearing his black hat there, since he will also act as maitre d' in the dining room. You can expect this area to be continually ablaze with flambe dishes. It's Pierre's strong point and he has about 30 he prepares at the table.

For music, the entire Steve Carney Trio now plays Wednesday through Saturday nights.

"WHAT MARIN COUNTY NEEDS is another restaurant." This is a remark you've heard more than once —not always intended affirmatively.

But one I have often thought it does need is a good Japanese restaurant. And it now appears that we should get one before the summer is over. It should do well.

Otafuku is the name and the location is 2130 Fourth Street on the San Rafael Miracle Mile — now being remodeled since the former occupant here, House of Kwan Yin, moved to its own building on Red Hill Avenue, San Anselmo at the other end of this stretchway.

Owners of the Otafuku will be Tsutomo Inoo and Charles and Michiko Fauset of Forest Knolls. The former was in the restaurant business 25 years in Japan, so look for an authentic operation. Mrs. Fauset said they had been advised to open in San Francisco because there are more Japanese there. But who said Japanese people are the only ones who like to eat at a Japanese restaurant?

Anyway — San Francisco has a handful of them. We haven't any.

No opening is expected before Aug. 28 — to give time to set up a complete Japanese motif. There will be kimono'd waitresses, a choice of many Japanese dishes and a big party room. A wine and beer license will be sought. Certainly you must drink sake with your food. There is ample offstreet parking here.

Otafuku will probably be open for both lunches and dinners six days a week, closing on Sundays.

NEW MANAGER at Peacock Gap Country Club is Mrs. Carroll Young, who for five years was manager at Timber Cove Lodge up the coast. She also managed a restaurant in Sun Valley.

Lunch menu is being reorganized and you can expect some changes here. I'd like to see dinners served again.

ENTERTAINMENT scheduled for the Lion's Share in San Anselmo tonight and through Sunday is by Mike Finnigan and Friends.

WE ARE SORRY TO LEARN that complications seem to have set in and Ramona Stalings is now in the Brookside Hospital in Richmond.

Consequently it is likely to be a little while before she is able to return and reopen her little Mexican restaurant on C Street, San Rafael.

We wish her a speedy recovery.

ANOTHER TEMPORARY CLOSING is the Normandie on the San Rafael Mracle Mile.

Michel Braud and Andre Marquer are taking a week off, so the restaurant will be closed starting Sunday, the Fourth, through Tuesday, July 13. It will reopen for business as usual on the 14th.

Garden Shop Extension Set

The Corte Madera Board of Design has approved plans for extending the garden shop of Montgomery Ward and Co. at 49 Corte Madera Center.

The plans, designed by Wards Regional Engineering office, are for an increase of one-third the area of the outdoor garden shop, according to Morgan Griffiths, board vice chairman.

The board on Tuesday approved plans by Brown McCurdy-Nerrie, Architecture and Planning, for a small addition to the Marin Montessori Nursery School and approved house plans for Ron Stewart at 14 Summit Drive and Mrs. Stephanie Flagg at 138 Buena Vista.

Music Post Goes To Larry Snyder

Larry Snyder, former Marinite and Dean of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, has joined the music department faculty at Sonoma State College.

Snyder was with the conservatory for the past four years and had taught at College of Marin for six years previous to that. He was also musical director for the festival theatre in San Anselmo for six years.

At Sonoma State he will teach history of opera, piano and supervise the practice teaching of music education students. His wife, Zilpha Keatley Snyder, writes children's books.

New Flea Market Set For Opening

The People's Community Market, successor to the Potpourri Flea Market in Corte Madera, will open in a new location in Marin City this weekend.

About 150 vendors are expected to participate, according to Arlene Booker and Dennis Monahan, owners of the operation sponsored by the Marin City Community Services District.

Marin City churches will sell soul food at the market, which will be held Saturday and Sunday. Natural foods, handicrafts and fine arts will also be offered for sale.

Mrs. Booker, a Novato teacher, and Monahan, public relations man for stockbroker firms, moved their market from its Corte Madera site on the Redwood Highway because the land was sold to an auto agency.

The market will be located on Donahue Street, south of the Marin City Sheriff's substation near the Highway 101 entrance to Marin City and will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days., the owners said.

Parking will be provided north of the substation and 25 per cent of all gross proceeds from parking and space leasing will go to Marin City organizations, Mrs. Booker said.

Grand opening ceremonies for the People's Market will be held July 24 and 25, she said.

Persons wishing to participate in the market or seeking further information may contact the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

Penry Banquet Slated Monday

Petaluma's Congressional Medal of Honor winner Richard A. Penry will be honored at a civic banquet Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the Green Mill Inn, Cotati.

Penry, who works at the restaurant as an assistant chef, received the award from President Richard M. Nixon two weeks ago. The Petaluma City Council has set Monday aside as "Richard Penry Day."

School Tests Held Inadequate By Study

RIVERSIDE, (BW) — Nearly 75 per cent of the students in public school classes for the educable mentally retarded — a large number of them black and Mexican-American — may be misplaced because of inadequate testing procedures, a University of California at Riverside sociologist reports.

Dr. Jane Mercer is a UCR associate professor of sociology, working under an $850,000 grant from the National Institute on Mental Health.

Her studies show that 74 per cent of the children in public schools special classes may have been improperly labeled "educable mentally retarded" because of testing methods which do not take a child's social and cultural background into account.

"Only 26 per cent of them would have been labeled as such if the school psychologist had studied the child's performance out of school and his family's social and cultural background in addition to looking at his I.Q. score," she said.

"The I.Q. test is based on the white middle class society and culture and does not take into account the social background or culture of those stdents who are not white or middle class," she said.

Public schools have long evaluated the intellectual functioning of students via the standard I.Q. test, the sociologist explained, but rarely, if ever, have they measured the child's "adaptive behavior."

"This," she said, "is due primarily to the fact that there has been no scale or test by which to judge this type of behavior which is the way a person performs his social roles at home and in the community."

To determine what a child's adaptive behavior was out of the school situation, she and associates interviewed the parents of educable mentally retarded children in two Riverside school districts.

"When we measured the adaptive behavior of these children by talking to the parents, we found that quite a few were passing this test while failing the I.Q. test," she said. "These children had been evaluated as mentally retarded but their behavior out of school was very similar to that of 'average' children."

Another facet of the research dealt with the social and cultural background of the child's family, which she insists must be taken into account in evaluating mental retardation.

Lawyer Hit In Reprimand From Court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Supreme Court yesterday publicly reprimanded prominent Los Angeles attorney Grant Cooper for misbehavior before a federal court.

Cooper, once Sirhan B. Sirhan's defense attorney, had pleaded guilty and was convicted on two counts of contempt of court. One charged him with obtaining and using recorded grand jury testimony that was still secret. The other concerned making false statements about his source. A federal court fined Cooper $500 on each count.

The California Supreme Court referred the matter to the State Bar for investigation of whether the charges involved moral turpitude.

The disciplinary board of the State Bar determined that the false statements count was moral turpitude and recommended discipline.

"This court ... has concluded that Cooper's conduct did involve moral turpitude and that he should be publicly reprimanded. This opinion will serve as such reprimand," the Supreme Court said.

The court could have punished Cooper with disbarment or suspension, but did not do so.

Task Force On Gambling Says 'No'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Attorney General Evelle J. Younger yesterday urged the California Legislature not to legalize casino-type gambling and said the state should not "touch off-track betting with a 10-foot pole."

Younger released a law enforcement task force study on the subject of legalized gambling.

Its major conclusions were:

—Lottery and bingo have not caused great law enforcement problems in states where they are legal, but California should study their socio- economic aspects more closely before legalizing them.

— Casino-type gambling should not be made legal "under any circumstances."

The Republican attorney general sent the report to legislative leaders, including Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, who advocates legalization of off-track betting.

Betting off the track is now legal in New York. Younger said that state's system "appears to have several unsatisfactory characteristics from a law enforcement standpoint."

Younger, the state's top law enforcement officer, said problems in New York include a system where state OTB officials are "subject to political appointment and removal."

He said the idea that OTB will drive bookies out of business is "unsound."

There's a big storm coming," Younger said of the New York system. Asked if he expects a scandal, he said, "I'm afraid it's going to happen."

"We don't want to touch off-track betting with a 10-foot pole," the attorney general told a news conference. California should at least "wait and see what happens in New York in two or three years."

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

FAMILY

"Song of Norway" - An operetta based on the early life of Edvard Grieg. The scenic splendor of Norway and magnificent music make a family spectacular that is outstanding and entertaining.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" - Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Zeppelin" - World War I spy story about a British double agent. The details about zeppelins are of interest, but the story is a routine romantic melodrama.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Andromeda Strain"- A team of trained scientists race against time trying to identify a fatal disease transported to earth by a space probe staellite. Settings and technical scientific details are fascinating. Destruction of people and animals might be frightening for young children.

"Big Jake" - A more violent than usual western for John Wayne. He is called upon to rescue a kidnapped grandson he has never seen and pay a million dollars ransom. He takes the law into his own hands to exact his own concept of just retribution. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" - A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits. Imaginative camera work, wonderful score and witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Chisum" - Based on actual characters and incidents during the cattle war in New Mexico in 1878. The usual routine violence and murder. Good of it kind.

"Executioneer" - International espionage with British spy suspecting a double agent in their own home office. Finding proof is entangled with various mistresses in and out of favor. Incredible number of corpses pile up before the truth is out.

"Love Story" - Film is pure romantic excapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Plaza Suite" Screen adaptation of three comic short plays which all take place in suite 719 of the Plaza Hotel in New York. A treat for Walter Matthau fans.

"Von Richthofen and Brown" - Air battles between German flying aces and their British counterparts are realistic but there is little character development. The vintage planes are interesting.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bananas" - A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Getting Straight" - Rebellion and rioting among students on a college campus as experienced by a student-teacher is a cynical melodrama. Sex scenes and foul language abundant. For Elliot Gould fans.

"Going Down the Road" - Realistic tragedy about poor, uneducated and untrained men who leave squalid homes for the big city in hopes of finding success. Grim,earthy and dull in spots with some tasteless nudity.

"Little Big Man" - A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121 year old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody, with some sex scenes.

"Man Called Horse" - Absorbing but sickeningly violent drama of Sioux Indians and an Englishman they captured and treat like a horse until he proves his manhood according to their standards.

"Two Mules For Sister Sara" - Set in Old Mexico when the guerillas were attempting to chase the French out of their country. An American mercenary and a prostitute disguised as a Catholic nun become involved with the struggle. Bloody violence and much profanity, some nudity.

ADULTS ONLY

"Five Easy Pieces" - A self indulgent, but talented man seeks love on different levels, but is unable to return it. Explicit sex and crude dialogue.

"Klute" - A small town detective and a big city call girl find each other while hunting a murderer. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"M.A.S.H." - Nothing excapes the mockery of this ribald blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Very adult satire.

Police Probe Set By Grand Jury

The Sausalito Police Department will be investigated by the Marin Grand Jury, Milen C. Dempster, jury foreman, said today.

The investigation was requested June 21 by Sausalito Mayor Alexander R. Imlay, who asked the jury to look into charges of an alleged arrest "quota system" in the police department.

In a letter to Imlay today, Dempster said the jury had decided to undertake such an investigation.

"It is the desire of the grand jury to thoroughly review the records of the police department and to interview as many persons as necessary to reach as accurate a conclusion as possible," Dempster wrote.

The foreman requested the cooperation of Sausalito city personnel and asked that all Sausalito police records be made available for the investigation.

The investigation, which Dempster said would begin in three weeks, will include interviews with members of the police department and may require officers to testify at jury hearings, his letter said.

Mayor Imlay said today he was "very pleased" at the jury's decision to proceed with the investigation.

"I think it is in the public interest to eliminate rumors and doubts" about the police department, he said.

Imlay had requested the investigation after newspaper reports and testimony at the drunken driving trail of state board of equalization member William M. Bennett suggested that Sausalito policemen must make a certain number of arrests in order to be eligible for promotion and pay increases.

Imlay said the "quota system" charges may have raised doubts about the Sausalito department in the minds of citizens that a "mere statement from the mayor, the city council or the police chief would not dispel."

At the time of Imlay's request, Sausalito police chief James D. Wright said he would welcome a grand jury investigation because the police department had nothing to hide.

Budget Bid For Bridge Promotion

An $87,500 budget to promote bus and ferry services this fiscal year by the Golden Gate Bridge District was endorsed yesterday by the district's legislation-public relations committee.

The total included advertising in the news media, fees to public relations consultants and other expenses. Of the total, $80,000 was for the bus system and $7,500 for the Sausalito ferry.

The district's 152-bus fleet is scheduled to begin operations in December.

The committee also agreed to send six district officials to Barcelona, Spain, all expenses paid, to attend the annual convention in September of the International Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association.

The committee's recommendations will be reviewed by the finance committee.

Shakespeare Workshop Getting Ready For Full Summer Season

Classes and rehearsals are under way at the College of Marin drama department's summer Shakespeare workshop, which will culminate in the staging of the comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and the tragedy, "Macbeth."

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" will open at 8 p.m. next Friday in the college's Fine Arts Theater and also will be performed on July 10, 11, 15, 16, 17 and 18 with a matinee at 2 p.m. also scheduled for 2 p.m. on July 17.

"Macbeth" will open at 8 p.m. on July 22 and will continue on July 23, 24, 25, 28, 29, 30, 31 and Aug. 1.

Professional actors Dakin Matthews and Carolyn Reed-Dunn will play the leads in "Macbeth," according to director James Dunn. They also are conducting actors' training classes for the 75 students in the program, Dunn said.

Preceding each evening's production there will be an "Elizabethan Entertainment" performed in the lobby and patio area.

On display in the lobby will be an exhibit Shakespearian effects on loan from the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C., and various collectors.

The display will include rare letters, documents, books, engravings and artifacts, as well as a facsimile copy of the 1623 First Folio edition of Shakespeare's play.

The box office will be open weekdays from 1 to 5 p.m.

Canoe Course Open

There are still openings in the Red Cross basic canoeing classes which will start Tuesday at the Marin Civic Center lagoon. Registration for the classes, which are at 1, 3 and 7 p.m., may be made at the Red Cross chapter house in San Rafael.

Integration Suit Denied By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Three Chinese families were denied permission Wednesday to intervene in the San Francisco school integration suit in U.S. District Court.

District Judge Stanley A. Weigel, who earlier received integration plans from the school district and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said there was no merit in the families' claim that they were being "unfairly treated" or discriminated against.

"Under any pupil assignment plan which the district may adopt, some students per force will be compelled to attend schools contrary to their preferences or those of those of their parents," the judge said.

The program will feature excerpts from ScottJoplin's opera "Treemonisha" with Walter Hinton, Joanne Bell and Viola Gilliam.

On Aug. 21 a premiere solo recital will be presented at 2 p.m. in the amphitheater by Marin coloratura soprano Carolyn Wilson. The program will include virtuoso music from the baroque, classical and romantic literature. She will be assisted by Jean Chandler, flutist, and pianist McNally.

Library Board To Discuss Budget Cut

The Mill Valley Library Board will hold a special meeting at 8:30 p.m. today at the library to discuss a $5,000 budget cut this fiscal year.

Sober Driver Is Badly Outnumbered

Each year, new bills are introduced in Sacramento to curb the drunken driver.

A few of them manage to become law, but these legal pressures have failed to rid California of the distinction of having the nation's highest traffic fatality records.

In 1966, the state passed the "implied consent law", which gave officers the power to administer one of three tests to determine the alcohol content of a suspected drunken driver.

In 1969, California added another weapon for law enforcement by lowering the blood alcohol level at which a person is presumed to be too drunk to drive safely. The presumptive limit is now .10 of alcohol per millimeter of blood instead of .15 of alcohol.

THE FIRST LAW made it less likely that a suspect would refuse to submit to an alcohol test, and the second gave prosecutors a better chance of getting a drunken driving conviction on the basis of the blood alcohol test results.

However, even these new legal weapons added to the law enforcement arsenal have failed to slow the drunken driver or reduce the highway toll.

ON THE EVE of another Fourth of July weekend, we can only appeal to the common sense of the individual driver by quoting some figures issued by the National Automobile Club.

According to the auto club, if you are a non-drinker, you are outnumbered better than two to one.

The National Automobile Club estimates there are 100 million people who drive in the United States. Of these, 45 million are low-volume social drinkers, 16 million are high volume social drinkers, 4 million are heavy "escape" drinkers, and 3 million are alcoholics.

THAT LEAVES ONLY 32 million drivers who abstain from drinking. This means that when you venture out onto the highways during the coming weekend, or any day of the week, only one car in three that you meet will have an abstainer at the wheel. The other two will have potential drinkers manning the lethal weapon at 70 or 80 miles per hour.

More than one-half of the highway deaths involve alcohol, and problem drinkers cause at least two-thirds of such deaths.

Federal and state laws can never completely eliminate the drinking driver from our highways. Your best protection is to steer clear of the highways, especially during the holiday rush.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

'Times' Should Be Tried Under Espionage Act

By GEORGE TODT

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — For its clandestine efforts in obtaining and publishing secret classified material stolen from Department of Defense files, the New York Times, Washington Post and Boston Globe deserve neither praise nor persecution, but prosecution under terms of the Espionage Act of the United States.

"The law clearly provides that secret documents and top-secret documents should not become public until they are declassified," stated Secretary of State William Rogers in his June 15 press conference.

THE TIMES, Post and Globe, influential though they may be, are not above the law of the land. They have no right whatsoever to publish classified government documents according to whim, fancy or the personal opinion of curbstone experts. The latter were often referred to as "guardhouse lawyers" in service years — for their ability to get those in trouble who took their advice.

"A fundamental responsibility of the press in this democracy," gushed the Times in a recent editorial, "is to publish information that helps the people of the United States to understand the processes of their own government, especially when those processes have been clouded over in a veil of public dissimulation (translation: to feign, pretend, dissemble) and even deception."

IN THE FIRST place, the Times was wrong to call us a democracy when we are a republic. Officially and for good reason, this nation is called "The Republic of the United States."

In the second place, the self-serving platitudes contained in the Times editorial are correct enough with one well-known exception — of which the Times is doubtless aware — and that is when such published information referred to violates the Espionage Act of the Republic of the United States.

It is not the province of any newspaper or other portion of the mass communications media to make a unilateral decision of its own to publish secret or top-secret documents of the government with impunity. Such agencies are not above the law of the land. Far from it, despite their power to sway mass opinion.

IF THE NEW York Times is not to set a dangerous precedent for the rest of the media in this instance, it would seem that much more than a mere investigation is in order. Those who perpetrated this clandestine and potentially most harmful act — which may reflect dangerously on the American people in the end — ought to be prosecuted for breaking the Espionage Act andd, if found guilty in court, should be punished according to the law.

It is true that the publication of the stolen documents now makes for interesting reading, but that is not enough to excuse the error of the original theft. That is indeed the question.

FAILURE TO PROSECUTE the Times and its companion, the Washington Post and the Boston Globe in this matter by the government would almost amount to a unilateral repeal of the Espionage Act — not by act of Congress, but by the affected newspapers themselves.

Frankly, they have no right whatsoever to do this action, wishful thinking on their parts to the contrary, merely because it may be said they are not in sympathy with the law in all good conscience.

This is the line we hear from the hippies today. It is sad to find it adhered to by the biggest newspaper in the nation. Very sad!

Explanation Wanted On Jury Reversal

We have discussed Judge Smallman's actions with many people and wonder how many will take the time to write and find out just why a thing like this is allowed in our courts.

Can you give us an explanation of this action or tell us where we might go to have some of our questions answered.

We feel Judge Smallman owes the readers of your newspaper an explanation of his actions in the case of Mr. Bennett. If your newspaper is printing the truth, neither of these men are qualified for the jobs they are holding.

I hope we will hear from you.

Bennett Case Has 'Very Foul Odor'

First, I wish to congratulate the I-J for its editorial of June 21 on its criticism of the performance of Judge Robert A. Smallman in his over-ruling the guilty verdict of the jury in the drunken driving case of William Bennett. By his action, he has prevented any further charges being made by the district attorney's office.

Why did this case come up now? Bennett has a previous drunken arrest against him of March 4, which comes up for trial July 15.

I will take the version of Officer Hoffman as to how Bennett received the bruises on his face. No arresting officer would be that stupid as to mark his prisoner as Bennett claims. He had been told to sit back in the seat, but evidently was so busy abusing Hoffman that he did not take his warning.

Furthermore, by what authority does Bennett have for a state car for his personal use after office hours? Both drunken arrests were made when he was in a state car. The last was over a weekend.

After reading everything about this expose as published in the I-J from the time Bennett was booked at the county jail to the Smallman fiasco, I have reached the conclusion that this whole affair has a very foul odor.

It will be interesting to see when Bennett's trial comes up on July 15 what kind of a political white-wash he will receive. Will his driver's license be suspended as it should be, for refusing to take a chemical sobriety test as required by law?

Many Questions On Health Merger

During budget hearings at Marin County Board of Supervisors on June 21, the reorganization of medical services was accomplished without explanation of questions pertaining to the feasibility of the economic and physical mechanics of reorganization.

Some questions asked but not answered were:

1. Are we to obtain efficiency because of the new reorganization, or because $99,000 or $77,000 (the two figures quoted) more is being poured into reorganization? We were told no new progrms are involved, and we should not forget $250,000 has been approved for medical reserves during the new fiscal year.

2. In the new reorganization the coroner (an elective office) is placed directly under the administrative officer! I hope the people of Marin will investigate the implications of such an arrangement, and determine if other elected officials are subservient to appointive officers. I believe in coordination through cooperation, but isn't this going too far? We may also want to consider the elected official who will allow himself to be placed in such a position. Shouldn't we — the voters — be allowed a voice at the polls before rearranging elective offices?

3. Somewhere in the news I recall reading that this entire NEW reorganization is one which the County turned own a few years ago. Why is it now practical when it was not before?

4. What is the total salary of the Corner which now includes (five or six?) appointed COUNTY positions?

Thanks to our efficiency-minded county we will now have a reorganization which has a super-money-structure of $327,000 or $347,000 (budget plus reserve) more than last year's separate departments. The efficiency without economy principle must be somewhere in my economy books, but I can't seem to find it!!

Flag Day Sponsor Appreciates Help

San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, Wilkins Post 37 American Legion and Tamalpais Post 72, Veterans of Foreign Wars, wish to thank the I-J and its staff, especially Bryce Anderson, and station KTIM and staff, especially Margaret Bennett, for outstanding assistance rendered our Flag Day program.

Special thanks also to the mayor and all city officials of San Rafael, the Marin County Board of Supervisors and all state, county and civic officials and organizations who participated in honoring our Flag. . .

In order that we do not forget until another Flag Day comes, I enclosed a message, author unknown, entitled "Remember Me" which will, I hope, give us all cause to remember:

"Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your flag, the flag of the United States of America. Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you, because it is about you and me.

I remember some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and naturally I was leading every parade, proudly waving in the breeze. When your Daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that his hand was directly over his heart — remember?

And you, I remember you, standing there straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat, but you were giving the right salute. Remember little sister, not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you with her right hand over her heart — remember?

What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I have a few more stars since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since those parades of long ago.

But now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and I may get a small glance and then you look away. Then I see the children running around and shouting — they don't seem to know who I am — I saw one man take his hat off, then look around. He didn't see anybody else with theirs off so he quickly put his back on!

Is it a sin to be patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I've been? Anzio, Guadacanal, Korea and now Vietnam. Take a look at the memorial honor rolls sometime of those who never came back to keep this Republic free. One Nation under God. When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So, when you see me, stand straight, place your right hand over your heart — and I'll salute you by waving back — and I'll know that . . . you remember!"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Those Not Accountable Shouldn't 'Run The Store'

WASHINGTON — Recently I received a fascinating comment from such an unusual source that it deserves to be shared with readers.

Its authors are several former law clerks who were associated with the United States Supreme Court. They are young legal scholars who will later be emerging as leaders of the bar, judges and high government officials.

The memorandum is a reaction to the actions by some public officials which the writers feel show a pervasive and dangerous lack of discipline in government ranks.

The "brief" reads:

The paradoxes — irrational paradoxes — manifested on the pages of every newspaper and on the broadcast media are more than enough to unsettle the most stable citizen.

"AT ALL LEVELS of governmental responsibility, discipline must be maintained and accepted. This is so elementary as not to require expression and yet to read the utterances of some senators, congressmen, self-anointed civil libertarians, editorial pundits and a host of others, discipline and control over subordinates are undemocratic, un-American, Fascist concepts.

"Thus we find plaudits for a lowly judge advocate officer who challenges the constitutional Commander-in-Chief, laurels for file clerks of the FBI who challenge the lawful authority of an agency noted for its restraint and its control over its agents, and no condemnation of the government official who collaborated in providing 7,000 pages of secret documents to The New York Times.

"DO THESE MINDLESS critics want a responsible chain of authority? Do they want every field agent and file clerk of the FBI to make his own rules of what is or is not permissible conduct?

"If FBI agents and file clerks can politic against Vietnam, they surely can politic for it. Do we want FBI personnel embroiled in heated political conflicts? If FBI agents can launch attacks on their chief, why not then on the Congress, the Supreme Court, the President?

"THE FBI LIKE most government agencies has a 'suggestion box' process and all have profited from employee ideas. But if every minor functionary of government is free to exploit his employment in government as a platform to challenge policies of government, then we had better get clear on this question: Who is to 'run the store' in a free nation?

"Not everyone on his own terms surely. If a 20-year-old clerk of General Motors or a security guard of Chase Manhattan criticizes the FBI, the President or Congress, no one would hear of it; the press would not even smile. Only because they are FBI and Army does an FBI agent, a file clerk or a lowly judge. advocate of the Army get front page everywhere in America on his views. And only because, at the moment, the passions of our times make all 'establishments' fair game especially when they are attacked from within and more especially when partisans want to exploit dissension.

"THE QUESTION THEN arises: If without qualification, warning or caution, the news media glorify file clerks of the FBI who defy regulations and make a hero out of a junior Army officer who attacks the Commander-in-Chief, what control can civilian authority hope to exercise over police and military personnel?

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Industrial Polluters Resort To Blackmail

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — What is now conventional wisdom about the environmental crisis took a long time becoming conventional: The fact that it is late, very late, and at the rate pollution of our world is STILL proceeding, we all have a fair chance of choking on the air we ourselves are contaminating, or gagging on our own coliform bacteria in our drinking water by the end of the century.

Belated or not, that truth has become so widely realized that it brings on the shakes among industrialists who envision profit margins trimmed by public and government demands that they change their ways.

WHERE ALTERING a manufacturing process or adding a final clean-up step to what they discharge into the environment has turned out to be cheap enough, some have taken action. After doing so, many of them have invested in fancy ads or at least self-serving press releases telling the community how public-spirited they were in doing what decency and the law finally dictated.

Where the threatened fines are not stiff enough, or the public demand has not become embarrassing enough, the too typical industry goes right on pouring out its poison, in the knowledge that every day it can get by with it represents X more dollars on the profit side.

BUT THE GREATEST histrionics of all take place when the polluting offense is discovered, the public and government apply pressure, and the changes demanded are going to cost more than a pittance.

Oh, the smiting of foreheads, the weeping and wailing in the board rooms, the anguishing for adverbs in the public relations departments!

And on whose behalf? Not the stockholders. Oh, no. The poor employees who will be thrown out of work, that's who. Or rather, that's what they would like us to believe.

Already, in places like Saltville, Va.; Marietta, Ohio; Groton, Conn., and elsewhere, chemical and other companies have told the people on their payroll that modernizing their plants to comply with newly enforced antipollution regulations simply would cost too much. It would be cheaper, they maintain, to simply close down the old plant and build a new one elsewhere.

IN MANY CASES this has turned out to be simple blackmail, an effort to convince workers that they face an either/or situation—either continue breathing and drinking foul air and water or go without jobs. When the government has toughmindedly gone ahead with enforcement, the companies have somehow found it possible to make the needed changes without closing down, after all.

In other, fewer, cases such clean-up orders have hit plants that already were operating on a slim margin, and the company viewed the antipollution orders as an excuse to make a move it would have had to make, anyway. It doesn't save any money by pointing the finger of blame at the government, but it does thus create propaganda against the overall effort to save the environment.

SOME OF THAT propaganda is high-priced, for example that written by Dr. Max Tishler, new president of the American Chemical Society. He wants the government to show "patience and understanding," to approach pollution problems "without panic and with deep reflection and mature judgment of experts."

Of course he himself qualifies as an expert, being former president of Merck, Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories. And as an expert, he notes the danger of factory shutdowns. "Is it reasonable to insist on a cleaner environment if in attaining it communities are demoralized and their citizens become welfare recipients?" he asks.

Well, that sort of rhetorical question might bluff some people, and of course it is targeted directly at factory workers. But all factory workers and their spokesmen don't bluff easy. For example, Howard Strevel, director of District 36 of the United Steelworkers in Birmingham, Ala. The day after the air pollution count there exceeded three times the critical level, he spoke out:

"THE THREAT OF companies closing down and moving away is nothing more than blackmail. . . . Polluters have nowhere to go in this nation. No community wants them . . . . Steelworkers should not be fearful of their employers moving when laws are passed to forbid an assault on the health of the community. Such companies know it is cheaper to stop pollution than to build new facilities in other areas where such abuses would not be tolerated to begin with. It is, however, cheaper to frighten people with job loss and economic calamity than to make prompt, effective remedies to stop pollution."

He obviously set a good example for emulation elsewhere. Today, the Alabama Legislature is considering new, strong antipollution laws after it passed a measure last year known as the "dirty air act" because it so blatantly favored the polluters over the public.

Some Strange Goings On In Scenic West Marin

The continuing saga of mysterious West Marin acquired another strange chapter recently when two friends from the East Bay made their first trip to Bolinas.

As the couple drove along one of the quiet, scenic lanes, two long-haired young men jumped into the path of their car and frantically waved it to a stop.

The pair ran up to the auto and thrust a dollar bill into the driver's hands. "Here, you'll need this for the toll road," he said earnestly. My friend tried to give the money back, saying he had the funds to pay the toll, but the men insisted he take the dollar.

The couple drove for about an hour, waiting for the pay station on the "toll road," which of course never materialized.

After pinning the bill on the Bolinas community bulletin board in front of Jack Pepper's general store, the couple left Bolinas puzzled and delighted by the strange native customs.

SAUSALITO DRUNK drivers are becoming more sophisticated these days and apparently well-versed in current events. One irate inebriate confronted this week by police in the city by the bay haughtily informed officers he was a "Personal Friend" of Judge Robert A. Smallman.

Smallman, Sausalito police watchers will recall, is the judge who, earlier this month, overturned a Marin jury's conviction of state equalization member William M. Bennett on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

In the latest case, the "friend in high place" did the motorist no good. Sausalito police smiled through clenched teeth and made the arrest anyway.

SINCE ALL TYPES of plants seem to flourish in the subtropical climate of the I-J's southern Marin office, more and more flora are always arriving here. Tiny plants are brought to grow large, and sick plants come to get well in the balmy atmosphere.

Latest addition to the office plant life is an attractive three-foot specimen of cannabis sativa (popularly known as pot), a gift from the Mill Valley Police Department and perfectly legal, since it is made of plastic.

IT IS A HANDSOME, realistic-looking plant, with distinctive, serrated leaves and a thick stem, but visitors to the office and even workers seem oblivious to the new addition and, in the week it has been here, not one person has even noticed the strange addition. Policemen have been in the office without even questioning it.

So realistic is the plant that insects seem fooled by it. Two spiders have fashioned webs in the leaves and are busily hatching eggs, and other bugs who arrive in the office by accident or design seem to ignore the real plants and head for the marijuana.

200-An-Hour Signatures Keep Up Governor's Correspondence

By CARL INGRAM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The next time you receive a letter signed in ink from Gov. Ronald Reagan, chances are a machine did it.

Don't feel slighted. Thousands of others receive similar mechanized signatures each week.

The governor's "auto-pen" machine actually scratches out a perfect facsimile of Reagan's signature with a fountain pen at the rate of 200 an hour.

The device is used to sign high volume form letters and correspondence which would consume the busy govenor's day if he endorsed each by hand.

"It's not a rubber stamp," explains Bruce Nestande, an ex-Marine who supervises the governor's efficiency-conscious correspondence office. "It's a legal signature that will stand up in court."

The "auto-pen" is a tool of the 23-member correspondence division of Reagan's staff, which also maintains a private "first name" file "readers," "composers," and typists process 13,000 pieces of incoming mail for Reagan during an average week.

The file contains the names of thousands of persons with whom the governor, according to his staff, is on a first-name basis. When Reagan orders an official letter written, a staffer must search the file to determine if the salutation should address the recipient by his first name.

Nestande said Reagan often personally signs his letters "Ron" or "Dutch' — a nickname he acquired as a Midwest sports announced before coming to Hollywood to make his fortune in the movies.

Nestande, a twice-defeated Republican candidate for the Assembly from Orange County and a former executive of Knott's Berry Farm, was hired several months ago by the governor to reorganize the correspondence section.

He said some mail wasn't being read for up to six weeks after it was received, much less distributed to the proper official or state agency for a response.

Nestande, 33, who visited both New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's office and the White House to get ideas for making Reagan's correspondence division more efficient, said currently mail is read the same day it arrived by one of seven "readers" who channel it to the appropriate recipient.

Nestande's goal is to develop a "turn around time" of one week for mail addressed to Reagan, meaning an elapsed time of seven days from when a letter arrives to when a response is dispatched.

Some replies are drafted by three "composers" and written over the governor's name. Nestande said they usually handle general, nontechnical responses such as on the Vietnam war issue.

"They know the governor's thinking," he said. "The biggest problem we have is to get people to write letters that are very soft sell and very humble."

A carbon copy of every letter sent from the governor's office is kept in a file, even heavy volumes of identical "form" letters—those mass-produced in response to a specific issue, such as his welfare program.

"We have about 175 form letters," Nestande said. "They absolutely reflect the thinking of the governor. He personally reviews every example of a form letter."

Many letters appeal to Reagan for help with a personal problem, condemn or congratulate him for his stand on a certain issue, or merely chitchat about nothing in particular.

Included in the governor's mailbag the other day was an envelope stuffed with obscene advertising from an irate Pennsylvania woman. She said the filth was sent unrequested to her by a Los Angeles firm and she was forwarding it to Reagan for a second time.

She charged he failed to take action against the firm when she first wrote and complained to him. The woman demanded to know what he intended to do about the second batch.

Other mail included a certified letter from "God Almighty," one addressed to "Sharon Tate" and another to "Mao Tse Tung."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

By WILLIAM D. FUSSELMAN

(William D. Fusselman's "County Comment" will not appear this week because he is taking a long Fourth-of-July holiday. His column will resume next Friday. - Editor.)

Independence Day's State of The Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) —And, it says, "for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our fortunes and our sacred Honor."

This was the ringing final paragraph of that Declaration of Independence which Americans normally celebrate each year on the Fourth of July.

This year, because July 4 falls on Sunday, we'll observe Independence Day on Monday, July 5.

Perhaps the date doesn't make any difference. Some historians contend the real Independence Day should be July 2, 1776, when the Second Continental Congress adopted a resolution declaring the 13 British colonies in the new world to be independent states.

The July 4 draft, they say, was merely a fuller statement giving historical and philosophical justification for the action of July 2.

Quibbling, perhaps. But if historians can quibble, why can't we? The July 4 document uses the name "united (lower case 'u') States of America."

But if you set your historical time clock from adoption of our Constitution in 1787, there weren't any American states in 1776. In order of admission to the Union, according to a table prepared by the U.S. Geological Survey, the first U.S. state was Delaware, admitted Dec. 7, 1787.

The rest of the Thirteen Original States, after their ratification of the Constitution, became members of the Union at various dates between 1787 and 1790. The last to join was Rhode Island on May 29, 1790.

Since then it has taken more than 170 years, a number of wars, and scores of treaties, compacts, and acts of Congress, to round out the United States of America to its present 50 members.

Sixteen states were admitted to the Union in the 18th Century, 29 in the 19th, and five thus far in the 20th.

The 20th Century newcomers are Oklahoma, Nov. 16, 1907; New Mexico, Jan. 6, 1912; Arizona, Feb. 14, 1912; Alaska, Jan. 3, 1959, and Hawaii, Aug. 21, 1959.

It so happens that no state has ever joined the nation on July 4, that date on which 195 years ago our Founding Fathers proclaimed existence of the "United States of America."

If Idaho or Congress or whoever was responsible had just waited a day, Americans in 1890 could have celebrated Independence Day by welcoming a new state to the fold. As it happened, Idaho was admitted to the Union on July 3.

Reappointees, New Members On Committee

Eight members of the Marin County Family and Children's advisory committee have been routinely reappointed and two new persons added to the committee.

All the appointments, made by the board of supervisors Tuesday, will expire July 1, 1973.

Reappointed were: Lynne Bishop, Charlotte Jones of Sausalito, Marion Kelley of the Volunteer Bureau, Dr. Malcolm Finley of the Marin Property Owners, Georgette Vilas, Marge Buckley of the Social Workers Union, Winfifred S. Frederick of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin, and Anna Marie Gurish of the Marin Foundation.

Added to the advisory board were Richard Neilsen, representing the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, and Mrs. Hugh O. Pessner of Greenbrae, representing the 14th District Parent-Teachers Council.

Legal Aid Society Moves To C Street

The Legal Aid Society of Marin County has moved its offices from 612 D Street, San Rafael, to 710 C Street, on the second floor, according to James H. Kovacs, directing attorney.

The regular appointment schedule will be resumed next Wednesday, he said. The office phone number is the same.

Red's Viet Proposal Spurs Dovish Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The new Communist proposal for peace in Vietnam already has triggered fresh pressure on President Nixon from congressional doves to set a deadline for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina

Sens. George S. McGovern D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., said Thursday they may make a new attempt to push legislation setting Dec. 31 as the pullout date from Vietnam. McGovern and Hatfield tried the same tactic little more than two weeks ago but the Senate defeated it 55 to 42.

McGovern said the new Viet Cong offer made at Paris Thursday lead to "a single obvious conclusion: not one further American death can now be justified in the name of the release of U.S. prisoners of war because the other side has made it clear they will start releasing U.S. prisoners of war as soon as we set a definite withdrawal date."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., would propose a new measure to end the war within the next few weeks. Cooper and Church collaborated last year on a measure to end the Cambodian invasion.

The State Department and the White House, said there were positive aspects to the latest proposal, which called for release of the POWs simultaneously with U.S. troop withdrawals under a fixed deadline.

ously with U.S. troop withdrawals under a fixed deadline.

But State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray added there were other elements "clearly unacceptable" to the administration. He said Ambassador David K.E. Bruce, the top U.S. negotiator in Paris, would present the U.S. response in the near future. He cautioned, however, that the United States would "accept no arrangement which would have the effect of turning some 17 million South Vietnamese over to the Communists."

Parts of the seven-point Viet Cong plan called for a coalition government in Saigon, including Communists. The question of withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces in the South also would be left open to discussions between various Vietnamese leaders.

Some Administration sources feel that unless North Vietnamese troops are withdrawn as U.S. forces pull out, South Vietnam would be jeopardized. The danger would be increased, the sources feel, if a coalition government were operating in Saigon.

Scientific Freedom Watchdog Panel Set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS) today announced appointment of former Chief Justice Earl Warren and former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel to a committee which will study means of protecting scientific freedom and assuring scientific responsibility.

Creation of the committee, which has three other members, resulted from recommendations made to the AAAS last year by Sens. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine. The Senators acted after two scientist-critics of Atomic Energy Commission radiation standards complained they were victims of reprisals.

The scientists are Drs. John W. Gofman and Arthur R. Tamplin who work in the AEC's Livermore, Calif., radiation laboratory which is operated by the University of California. The AEC denied their charges.

Appointment of the committee was announced by Dr. Athelstan Spilhaus, chairman of the association's board of directors. Committee members in addition to Warren and Hickel are Dr. Allen V. Astin, former director of the National Bureau of Standards, chairman; Dr. Mary Catherine Bateson, Northeastern University anthropologist, and Dr. John H. Knowles, director of Massachusetts General Hospital.

Hickel resigned as Interior Secretary late last year after publicly disagreeing with President Nixon's attitude toward young people. Knowles once was slated for appointment as Assistant Secretary of Health and Scientific Affairs of the Health, Education, and Welfare Department. He was opposed by the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and the American Medical Association. The appointment was blocked.

The committee has been asked to recommend procedures which will enable the AAAS, the nation's largest scientific body, to review cases in which scientific freedom is said to have been abridged or in which scientific responsibility is alleged to have been violated.

Spilhaus said the association in recent years has received requests from several scientists "for help in situations in which they felt their scientific freedom was in jeopardy."

Stanford Details Final Testing Of Big Space Scope

STANFORD (UPI) — A five-dish radio telescope which feeds signals from outer space into a computer for analysis is undergoing final tests at Stanford University.

Prof. Ronald N. Barcewell, director of the Stanford Radio Astronomy Institute, said the new telescope covers the universe minute bits of electromagnetic radiation emitted by the stars.

The $2 million project is supported by the Air Force Office of Scientific Research and the National Science Foundation.

In the July issue of the radio astronomy journal, Sk and Telescope, Bracewell and research associates Roger S. Colvin, A. Richard Thompson and Kent M. Price said the system would be used to map galaxies, the sun and the moon.

CHARLOTTE DYSLIN of Mill Valley, one of eight students enrolled in the first graduate program in learning disabilities at Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, has just received a master of science degree in the field from the University of the Pacific. PIONEERING WOMEN

Pick New Teaching Field

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Two Mill Valley women, each the mother of four children, are planning careers in the fairly new field of dealing with children's specific learning disabilities.

Mrs. Glenwood Dyslin was one of three students who received the Master of Science degree in learning disabilities from the graduate school of the University of the Pacific in June. The work was actually done in the first class of eight students enrolled in the graduate program at Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, an affiliate of the University of the Pacific.

MRS. IRVING Fisk, the other Mill Valley woman enrolled in the class, will be graduated next spring.

In explaining the nature of the program Mrs. Dyslin said, "The children we are working with are children who do not have blindness, deafness or mental or emotional retardation. They have specific areas of educational ability. For example, they may be able to do math but have difficulty with reading, or they may read but have difficulty with spelling.

"They have problems in one process of speech or language, reading, writing or arithmetic or other school subjects but not in all of them. In the last three or four years we have begun to understand that children formerly regarded as mentally retarded may have these learning disabilities."

THE MOTHER of two boys and two girls ranging in age from 10 to 16, Charlotte Dyslin is the wife of a structural engineer, whose enthusiastic cooperation, she says, is making possible her new career.

She will begin in September by doing part-time work at St. Mary's Hospital's speech and learning center in San Francisco. By Oct. 1 she will also be working with four other persons who have been connected with the Learning Disability Program in setting up a diagnostic and remedial center for learning disability children in the east Bay.

Mrs. Dyslin has a B.A. degree in sociology and psychology from the University of Denver. She was a juvenile probation officer in South Dakota before coming to Marin. In this county she worked, for three years with swimming programs for handicapped children at private pools in San Rafael under the cerebral palsy organization and Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children.

On completion of this work she was a laboratory assistant in the Visual Sciences Institute at the Pacific Medical Center and dealt with tactile training of blind students to use the Tactile-Visual Substitution System.

IT WAS while doing this work that she became interested in learning disabilities and enrolled in the graduate program.

Antoinette Fisk is also mother of two girls and two boys ranging in age from 8 to 16 years of age. She holds a B.A. degree from Radcliffe College with major in American history and literature.

She has never been employed before and plans to work partime in the field of learning disabilities after graduation next spring.

"I had thought of teaching, "she said, "but I didn't want to work in large classrooms. I see lots of possibilities in working with learning disabilities. It has to do with individualized instruction and can contribute to the public schools program."

A GO-GETTER

Parceling Out Cultural Funds

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —One of the brainiest women in government is in charge of parceling out about $30 million in federal funds to support budding artists and performers.

She is go-getter Nancy Hanks, a descendant of Abraham Lincoln's mother, who is endowment chairman for the arts.

Miss Hanks was appointed by President Nixon to give the arts a share of the federal action, and she is making her mark on the Washington scene.

WHEN SHE took over the post about a year ago she found out that "nobody knew what arts endowment was."

When she leaves, she said in an interview, "I hope to make government involvement in the arts an established concept. By that I mean not only patronage, but every agency participating."

Nixon went out of his way to give her a special pat on the back when he delivered a major speech to the Associated Councils of the Arts recently.

"THE IMPORTANT thing now is that government has accepted support of the arts as one of its responsibilities — not only on the federal level, but on the state and local levels as well."

"Increasingly," he added, "there is growing recognition that few investments in the quality of life in America pay off so handsomely as the money spent to stimulate the arts."

Her office takes up nearly two floors of a downtown building, and the layout is vibrant with color and examples of modern art. Her own a-shaped office with its long board table, also boasts art objects, including a magnificent blue pottery created by 15-year-old Jimmy Gonzalez of the Dallas Technical School, which she spotted in an exhibit.

HER STAFFERS reflect enthusiasm although she is a "perfectionist" in demanding the best output.

The endowment and the council of the arts dispenses funds for pilot programs in the arts to theater groups, community centers and ghetto projects.

"The arts is in the communications business and one of the worst communicators," she said.

Changing all that is Florence Lowe, her press chief, who is a dynamic promoter of Miss Hanks and the arts.

Miss Hanks receives touching letters regarding some of the projects. One cherished letter came from Stephen Reid after the endowment handed him $250 grant to buy music and drumsticks to teach the drum to Harlem children. "I'me taken them off the television drug," he wrote.

SHE IS a seven-day-a-week executive who has had a long-time association with the Rockefeller Foundation Associationn working on special projects in the arts.

She stresses she is an administrator, not the "arty type." She acknowledges she can't carry a tune, but has a "good ear" for music.

Her femininity comes out in her hobby. She makes needlepoint typewriter covers.

She hates to shop and leaves much of her personal shopping to her mother, Mrs. Bryan Hanks of Fort Worth, Tex. "I get a lot of free and wonderful advice from my mother," she said.

SHE HAS a house in fashionable Georgetown, likes to cook and entertain. As for her love life, "it's nonexistent but I'm having a good time," she added.

A Phi Beta Kappa, she is no devotee of women's lib, explaining she learned long ago, "if you have a job to do, you do it."

"I've never had the feeling men were trying to hold me back."

FRESNO AMAZED

Widowed Sisters Building House

By LLOYD G. CARTER JR.

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—At an age when most women are knitting socks for their grandchildren and otherwise taking it easy, widowed sisters Callie Ward and Tennie Malone embarked on a project that normally takes a crew of burly hardhats.

Nearly two years ago the women decided they needed better living quarters. So the sisters, both in their late 50s, made plans to build a house.

Mrs. Ward drew up some blueprints and in November of 1969 the two energetic women laid the foundation for a four-bedroom, two-bath house.

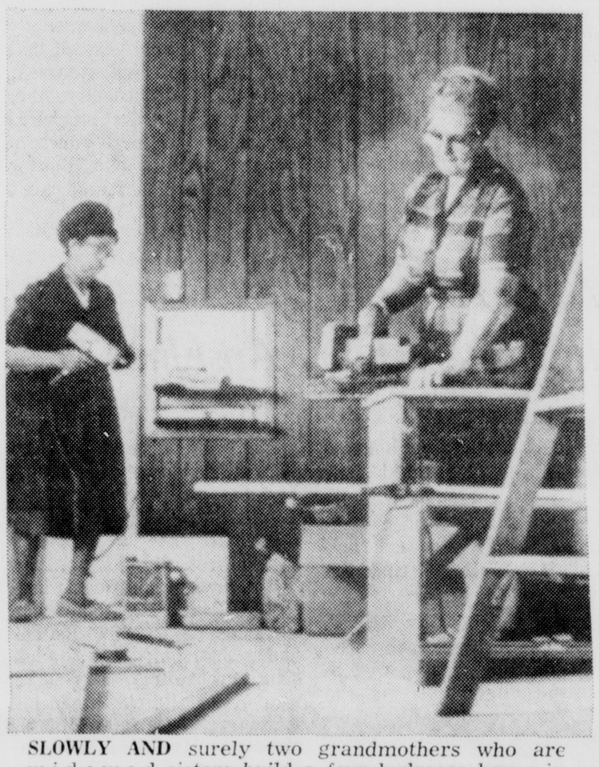
SOMETIME SOON the two, who say they are "retired," will move into the nearly completed house which has professional homebuilders and the Fresno County Planning Commission watching in admiration.

The dwelling was built on a lot behind a small church where Mrs. Ward acts as pastor. A son-in-law helped raise the roof trusses and another son-in-law applied the stucco to the exterior of the home.

A professional bricklayer built the fireplace but otherwise the two widows did all the work — raised the walls, laid the foundation and floors, installed the wiring and plumbing—everything.

THE PROJECT was made more difficult by vandals who plagued the construction site and forced Mrs. Ward to camp at the house. The county Planning Commission has provided plenty of red tape, scrutinizing every move.

But the women, neither with any formal construction training, persisted, spending a few hours on their home each day, watching it slowly take shape.



SLOWLY AND surely two grandmothers who are widowed sisters build a four bedroom house in Fresno. Mrs. Callie Ward (left) and Mrs. Tennie Malone have raised the walls, after laying the foundation, and have installed the wiring and plumbing. The planning commission has scrutinized every move. Mrs. Ward designed the house with a dividing wall down the center as a means of partial privacy for each. (UPI Telephoto)

Mrs. Malone credits her sister with engineering the operation, adding, "I hold the nail and Callie hammers it. She has all the know-how."

MRS. WARD said she picked up her handyman skills by "always living in old houses that needed fixing up," but admitted the only other thing she has ever built is a garage.

The house is partially bisected by a dividing wall. "This way we can live together, yet privately," Mrs. Ward explained. "There are no doors between us but we both have our own side of the house."

Both women have several grandchildren and the extra bedrooms allow for extended visits. They plan to give the house to the church after they're gone.

The two amateur carpenters will add the finishing touches after moving in and will probably have to hold an open house for all the building supplies people, county planners, friends and admirers who want to see the women's handiwork at its completion.

Mrs. Ward says she thinks the house is her last major project and has promised her daughter she will "slow down when I get to be 60."

They still have to landscape the yard but Mrs. Ward notes that will be considerably easier than installing plumbing.

One small job, however, they have left to the men—moving in the furniture.

"Some of it is too heavy for us to move," Mrs. Ward said with a chuckle.

Sociologist Lauds Second Marriages

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) —A second marriage by an older couple can make retirement more successful, according to a study by a Texas A&M sociologist of 100 marriages among the elderly.

Miss Minnie Bell, university extension specialist for aging, said the intelligent older woman becomes more interesting with years, especially with wisdom, wit and understanding of men, so she can expect to be sought as a marriage partner.

No Shopping List, But 'Top' Colors

Plum, eggplant and cinnamon may sound like a shopping list, but they are among the colors that will be popular in fall fashions, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Also popular will be bright red, black and white combinations and mixtures of deep brown shades with navy and red with green, says the ready-to-wear trade newspaper.

A Tramcar Trip Brings A 'Miracle'

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Seventeen-year-old Katherine Elizabeth Jurich was several yards ahead of her parents as the family descended a walkway after taking the 8,500-foot ride to the top of the aerial tramway here.

Her mother called out her name and the girl turned around instantly.

"It was one of the most thrilling moments of my life," said Mrs. Roy Jurich.

Kathy, deaf since birth, had never before responded to her mother's voice from a distance of more than a few feet, she said.

The Jurichs took their daughter to the San Diego Speech and Hearing Center, where doctors confirmed that the girl had better than one-third normal hearing after making the tramcar trip.

They were so impressed they suggested she take another ride to the summit of Mt. Jacinto to see if the abrupt change in air pressure improved her hearing further.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

My wife has a terrible habit of belching after every meal. I wouldn't mind if she just said, "Excuse me," and let it go, but she feels compelled to make an excuse, like "artichokes make me belch," or "lemon pie makes me burp"... as if she has no control over what happens.

Is there some way I could get her to take responsibility for the noise or better yet, stop? — RINGING EARS

DEAR R.E.:

(Your wife sounds like a real gasser.)

If a package of antacid mints doesn't help, then your doctor might suggest that swallowed air produces more after-dinner music than artichokes, pie, etc.

(Or maybe she just enjoys belching.) — H.

DEAL HELEN:

When my daughter stopped wearing a bra, I was upset, but adjusted because she doesn't have a very big bust. But recently I found out she hasn't been wearing underpants either! I questioned her, and she said, "I like to feel free."

Don't you think this is going a little far? — MOTHER OF A COLLEGE GIRL

DEAR MOTHER:

Probably. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Although I can't give real names, this letter is obviously pointed towards someone. And I hope he realizes who he is! To someone:

You told my husband that you wished your wife was more like me. Whatever kind of wife I am, it's all because of the kind of husband he is.

Rick spends 85 per cent of his spare time with me and the kids. When he does go "out with the boys" he never loses sight of his responsibilities to his job or family. He has never given me reason for distrust or shame. He never gambled away the grocery money or made me feel used. Rick married me because he loved me and wanted to spend the rest of his life with me. And a day never goes by without proof of that.

I am what I am because of him. Believe me, proving yourself a man takes more than golf or poker or making it with women. It takes a successful marriage! — HIS SUCCESS

P.S. Helen, I wonder how many "someones" there are in this world?

DEAR SUCCESS:

A lot! Thanks for telling 'em! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a serious problem I'm ashamed to discuss with anyone who knows me. I am a grandmother, age 70 — even have a year-old granddaughter.

But I am also a shoplifter, have been for quite a few years. It was not serious at first but it's getting worse. Being from a well-respected family, our community people would die of shock if they knew.

I keep telling myself I must stop — I don't need the things and don't use them, but the minute I walk into a store all my determinations vanish. I feel unclean and miserable. Please help! — UNHAPPY THIEF

DEAR UNHAPPY:

I can't help long distance, but a doctor or therapist could explain kleptomania and guide you toward conquering it. He'll keep your secret.

Make an appointment today! — H.

ON BEING BLACK

Much To See — But 'Ain't' Easy

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The service station attendant sits calmly chewing on a wooden matchstick and fails to see you parked at the gas pumps.

After a reasonable interlude, you turn over the ignition, ready to pursue another station that's in business to do business. The attendant then languidly approaches the car, giving you that infamous hate stare — that expression which black people recognize all too well.

With a full tank of gas, you're on the road again — seeing America. At least trying to. You've scrapped the idea of going to Africa this summer — too many children and too little money — and have elected to spend the summer seeing what's right here at home.

BUT DOGGONE-IT, it isn't easy. In fact, it's frightening to see how things and attitudes change after you leave about a 10-mile radius of your home.

Too many things you encounter reinforce the reality that you are, indeed, in America and too little has changed.

Ever try to contain three jiggling children when they have to go to the bathroom and the service station attendant is reluctant (to put it mildly) to allow you to use the bathroom? Or would you believe the number of restrooms that are suddenly out of order or locked due to a disappearing key? Strange how this can occur at the height of tourist season when thousands of people have been told, via the advertising media, that they are welcome to use those facilities.

NEXT, YOU check into a motel, only to discover that the price has suddenly skyrocketed (the later the hour, the higher the price). You pay an outrageous price (the manager throws you the key) and find that your unit has a broken air-conditioner and a backed-up toilet. U.S.A. 1971! Believe it!

There must be something about travel that increases appetites because the kids are starved during the entire trip. So what else? You stop at a restaurant. As you enter, the other patrons look at you with obvious puzzlement. The waitresses appear to have a round-table discussion to draw straws to see who will wait on you. In the meantime, the kids are noisily deciphering the menu and rearranging the silverware.

The waitress's rudeness turns you off and you wonder just what it is you will be served. You silently long for your favorite home-town restaurant where the waitress calls you and your children by name.

But you remind yourself that you must not limit yourself, and this is a big country. And, doggone-it, the travel brochures are right — there is much to see right here at home. But for black Americans it still ain't easy.

BACK TO ADAM AND EVE

New "Adam and Eve" sculptured jewelry is designed by 1971 Coty award winner Elsa Peretti for Vendome. As shown in New York, the burnished gold metal two-piece necklace and bracelet interlock in a loop that dates back to Adam's rib, says the designer. The earrings, too, have prehistoric design, according to Miss Peretti.

Sorority's Keynote: The Cultural Field

The purpose of Beta Sigma Phi sorority is to develop a cultural interest in the finer things of life, says Mrs. Harold R. Hay of Petaluma, president of Xi Gamma Upsilon chapter of the sorority.

Bonnie Hay has been a member for five years and has also served as treasurer and social chairman of the organization.

Members sold tickets at the Sonoma-Marin Fair and are planning a family barbecue this month. Meetings, suspended during the summer, will resume in September. Membership is by invitation only, according to the president.

A native of Fargo, N.D., Mrs. Hay and her husband, manager of a paint store, are the parents of Sandra, 21, and Greg, 17 years old. They have lived in Sonoma County for 10 years.

Mrs. Hay attends evening classes at Santa Rosa Junior College. She is also active in the California Podiatry Assistance and Little Hills Theater groups. She was a dancer in the chorus of Little Hills Theater's last production, "Guys and Dolls." Skiing and golf are her hobbies.

San Pedro School P-TA Elects Slate

Mrs. Robert E. Knox of San Rafael is serving as president of the San Pedro School Parent-Teacher Association.

The purpose of the P-TA, she says, is to "involve parents in the school by the implementation of volunteers in enrichment and aide programs, to support the needs and requests of the faculty and staff and, most importantly, to be aware that the well being of the children is the real reason for the organization."

A four-year member, Jean Knox has also served as San Pedro School P-TA treasurer and chairman of the ways and means and hospitality committees. She is also secretary of the Marin Shakespeare Festival board of directors and a member of the San Pedro Guild of Sunny Hills, Peacock Branch of Marin General Hospital Volunteers and Marin Civic Ballet.

"I AM formerly the world's oldest and most inept Brownie leader," says Mrs. Knox.

A native of Oak Park, Ill., she attended Beloit College in Wisconsin. She has lived in Marin for 15 years. Her husband is the regional personnel director for Touche, Ross and Company, a certified public accounting firm, in San Francisco, and they have two daughters, Patra, 13, and Marianne, 10 years old.

Knitting and needlework are Jean Knox's hobbies, and she enjoys entertaining and teaching the Christian Confraternity Doctrine Program to the fourth graders at St. Sylvster's Church.

Bargain Lunches Bill Becomes Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon signed legislation Thursday to make $17 million available immediately for free or low-priced lunches for poor children attending recreation programs this summer.

In addition, the legislation will authorize another $35 million in lunch funds if demands for the money from the nation's big cities exceeds the $17 million grant.

New Plea For Mine Safety

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton yesterday called for "a new era of action" to improve health and safety in the nation's coal mines.

Morton led off a two-day seminar on ways of improving Bureau of Mines enforcement of the 1969 federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, expected to hear wide ranging protests from mine operators.

The interior Secretary pointed out so far this year there has been only 98 fatalities in the nation's coal mines, the lowest number for the comparable period in 26 years of recorded mine history.

The previous low was 103 in 1970.

First Primary In New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—The State House passed a bill Wednesday which would assure New Hampshire of having the nation's first presidential primary in 1972.

New Hampshire since 1952 has held the first presidential primary but a law signed in early June by Florida Gov. Reubin Askew set up a primary in that state which would coincide with New Hampshire's traditional March 14 date.

Republican House Speaker Marshall Cobleigh suspended the rules Wednesday and rushed through the bill to advance the traditional date by one week. He said the bill would show Florida "we mean business."

Special features you'll enjoy:

Frank Galli is a man well suited to his current office of president of the Marin County Historical Society. For he is a man who long has been devoted to the preservation of Marin historical records and landmarks. And especially to the keeping alive of the name Ignacio, where he is the proprietor of a popular restaurant. This energetic and dedicated history buff is the subject of tomorrow's "Profile of a Marinite" in the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

The band concert in the park was once a vital part of every Fourth of July celebration. Indeed, no summer Sunday would have been complete without an outdoor concert of Sousa's stirring marches. It is an American tradition that has largely died — but not entirely. In Marin, for instance, the College of Marin Community Summer Band keeps alive the outdoor summer concert. Don Keown tells you about it in the I-J supplement tomorrow.

Restaurant Parking Lot Plan Eyed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Plans for a restaurant parking lot and car wash adjacent to Da Silva Pond on Richardson Bay were presented to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission yesterday with little opposition.

Pieter S. Myers of Belvedere, representing the San Francisco Bay chapter of the Sierra Club, called the location a "sensitive area" but had no specific argument with the plan.

Two applications, one for the car wash and the other for additional parking for McDonald's Restaurant at 600 Redwood Highway, were before the BCDC. They were considered simultaneously because the properties are adjacent.

Thomas F. Hippenmeyer, representing the car wash, outlined his proposal, which includes recycling all rinse water to avoid polluting Richardson Bay with grease and detergent and providing a public access strip between 20 and 40 feet wide along the shore of the pond.

Hippenmeyer said he will deed the access strip and some marshland to the Strawberry Recreation District to remain in permanent open space.

A McDonald's spokesman, Richard Slater, said the restaurant needs the new parking lot with 27 additional spaces because of increasing business.

He said McDonald's will give the recreation district a recreational easement over the strip, which varies from 40 to 50 feet wide.

Approval of the plans, the BCDC was told, will allow continued public access to 600 feet of shoreline along the pond. The land between the existing restaurant and the pond already is covered by an easement.

Under commission procedure, voting on the permits was postponed to its next meeting, July 15.

Court Opts For Prior Notice To Repossess Goods

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A state law allowing a sheriff to repossess without prior notice property bought on installment plans was ruled unconstitutional Thursday by the California Supreme Court.

The court unanimously struck down the 99-year-old law and held that before personal property can be repossessed, probable cause must be established for entering a person's home and a hearing on the claim provided.

"If the sheriff cannot invade the privacy of a home without a warrant when the state interest is to prevent crime, he should not be able to do so to retrieve a stove or refrigerator about which the right of possession is disputed," said the court's opinion.

The court rejected an argument that the state law was reasonable since buyers signed contracts giving the seller permission to enter the premises and repossess the goods. The opinion said such consent is not effective because the purchaser "is frequently not in a position to shop around for better terms."

Senator's Son Gets Jail For Pot Possession

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (UPI)—James Hart, 20, the son of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., was fined $200 Thursday and sentenced to 20 days in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of using marijuana.

The sentence will be served on 10 consecutive weekends, as is the practice with all first offenders who holds jobs, District Judge Robert Wood said.

Sentenced to an identical term and fine was Peggy Van Halmer, 18, of Fremont, Mich., who was arrested with young Hart Tuesday night in Marquette Park in the downtown area of Mackinac Island.

A state police trooper arrested the two when he saw them passing around a bottle of wine with other young persons. In making the arrest, he found a cigarette butt.

COLLEGE'S OLD SCIENCE CENTER RAZED

Suit Filed To Dismiss A Teacher

The San Anselmo School District yesterday filed suit in Marin Superior Court to fire its middle-aged, circuit-riding music teacher.

Charged with incompetency and "evident unfitness for service" was Dale I. Parker, 52, who has been with the district for 11 years.

Specific charges against him said he failed to engage in recruitment of students for the music program, was unable to organize the instructional program and couldn't control students.

During a public hearing on the firing last month, Parker's supporters charged the school district with a "breach of faith, ethics and administrative judgment" in moving to dismiss him.

According to Parker's attorney, A. Leonard Bjorklund, the school district's music program has been methodically cut back over the years to a point where Parker is now the only instructor of instrumental music at six schools.

As a result, he travels from school to school.

11 Plead Innocent To Drug Charges

Eleven persons pleaded innocent yesterday in marin municipal court to drug charges stemming from Marin Drug Abuse Bureau arrests earlier in the week.

William C. Laudner, 32, and Georgia Lee Baum, 23, both of 59 Crescente Avenue, Bolinas, denied possessing and cultivating marijuana.

A preliminary hearing was set for them for Aug. 3.

The pair was arrested Tuesday when agents went to their residence with a warrant. Upon their arrival, agents said, they found Miss Baum — hoe in hand — out in the garden with about 100 suspected marijuana plants.

Another Bolinas man arrested Tuesday has posted $2,500 bail and is to appear in municipal court next Tuesday.

Frank Daniel Meyer, 24, of Birch Road, was arrested when agents —returning from the arrest of Miss Baum and Laudner — followed Meyer's "house for sale" signs to take a look at the residence.

When they got there, however, agents were more interested in Meyer's garden, which one agent described as six rows of the "best marijuana plants I've seen in years."

Meyer was booked on suspicion of cultivating pot.

Nine persons were arrested early Wednesday after agents made arrangements to buy cocaine and hashish.

Three of the nine were arrested at a San Rafael motel where the sale was to have taken place, agents said.

The three — Richard Clement Johnson, 18; Hal Arthur Laflesh, 21, and Jan Christian Veltman, 27, all of Chico — pleaded innocent yesterday in municipal court to charges of selling cocaine. A preliminary hearing was set for them for July 13.

The six other persons were arrested at their Kentfield residence to which agents had followed Laflesh while waiting for him to bring drugs to the motel.

Charged with possessing marijuana and misdemeanor counts of possessing narcotics paraphernalia and being in a place where drugs were used were Charlene Lorraine Johnson, 20; Mark Harrison Leroy, 20; Alan Douglas Kernan, 21; Lauritz Reginald Woods, 24; Scott Lea Holcomb, 22, and John Michael Whyte, 26, all of 7 Locust Avenue.

Music Chest To Feature Pianist

Eugene List, world-touring concert pianist, will give a recital in Forest Meadows at Dominican College in San Rafael at 3 p.m. July 18 as the second attraction in the Marin Music Chest summer series.

List performed at the White House during the administrations of three presidents, Roosevelt, Truman and Kennedy, and is a prolific recording artist. His latest records include two piano concerti of Edward MacDowell, "List Plays Liszt" and the Chavez Piano Concerto.

On Aug. 22 Simon Estes, operatic bass-baritone, will make his Marin debut in the summer series.

Youth Booked In Felony Driving Case

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth has been booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving in connection with a single-car crash Wednesday on Hacienda Way in Santa Venetia.

Eric Earl Wight of 22 Linda Avenue was released on $1,200 bail following his arrest on Wednesday and is to appear Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred at 5:25 p.m. as Wight's car, westbound on Hacienda Way, south of Rincon Way, failed to negotiate a curve and struck a utility pole.

Wight was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts of the face and arm and a passenger, Richard B. Deem, 23, of 814 Hacienda Way, was treated at the hospital for a broken nose.

Condolences Sent By Mayor Alioto

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Mayor Joseph Alioto sent condolences to the Soviet Union consulate in San Francisco on Thursday because of the deaths of the Soyuz cosmonauts.
nauts.

The people of San Francisco "share your sorrow just as we have shared the pride of accomplishment as our two great nations have pioneered in the bold exploration of space," he said.

Coast Air Plane Crash Victim Told

One of the 16 persons killed in the crash of a twin-engine plane in the surf off Humboldt County Sunday has been identified as a San Rafael resident.

The body of Carl Peel, 48, of 34 Deer Park Avenue, has not yet been recovered from the ocean, the Humboldt County coroner' office said today.

He was a passenger aboard the private plane which was carrying real estate salesmen from the Shelter Cove planned community in Humboldt County.

Peel, who had lived in Marin about six months, was a salesman for the Burlingame office of R. J. Beaumont Co. of Los Angeles.

Academics Define Sandwich Rules

PARIS (UPI)—The French Academy ruled Thursday that in a grilled ham and cheese sandwich, the grated cheese is placed on the ham, not the other way round.

The point came up, the academy announced, and caused heated debate among academicians, when they met to define for the official French dictionary what a grilled ham and cheese sandwich is.

Old Adobe Trustees Take Budget Action

A tentative fiscal 1971-72 budget of $1,236,000 was approved last night by the Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the proposed budget represented an estimated increase of $200,000 over the 1970-71 year. He said the budget would not require an increase in the present tax rate of $2.39 per $100 assessed valuation because of an expected boost in property values.

Magowan said additional personnel sought for the new Miwok Valley School, under construction, accounted for most of the projected budget increase.

In the budget discussion, the board approved a 10 per cent salary increase for Magowan to bring his annual pay to $21,325. The board also approved an additional secretary for his office and suggested he plan to hire a business manager to lighten his work load.

A public hearing on the budget will be held Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the district office.

The Old Adobe School District Board Also:

ELECTIONS — Elected John Thompson as board president, William Youngs as vice chairman and Dora Eldredge as clerk.

PARK — Approved preliminary plans for a city park adjacent to La Tercera School and commended the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association for preparing the plan and offering manpower to construct it.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved hiring of Howard Calmer as a sixth grade teacher, Phyliss Neumann as a counselor and Winifred Hogue as a school nurse. Salaries were not set.

Marin City Sets Tenants' Panel

A committee to help reorganization of the Marin City Tenants Union, which has been inactive for the past few months, was appointed last night by the Marin City Council.

Melvin Atkins was named Vice Chairman of the temporary committee and Jackie Harris was chosen secretary. Also named to the group were Gabe Jackson and Collie Gaines.

Members are to meet with individual tenants and plan a reorganization meeting at a date and time to be announced.

Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority, said the authority will welcome an active tenants union.

Two Low Bids For Sewer Work

The Novato Sanitary District board has received two low bids totaling $2,595,790 for sewer projects designed to meet discharge standards imposed by the Regional Water Quality Board.

The bids — $1,590,780 by Healy Tibbits of San Francisco for construction of a sewage outfall line to San Pablo Bay and $1,995,000 by Kirkwood-Bly of Santa Rosa to provide improvements to the district's Novato and Ignacio treatment plants — were offered to the board Wednesday night, according to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph.

Contracts are expected to be awarded Aug. 2, pending review of the bids by the federal Environmental Protection Agency, which is involved because federal grants will cover a portion of the cost, Joseph said.

Joseph said the district is scheduled July 27 to receive bids on $1,475,000 in bonds that will cover the remaining cost of the work, first installment of a $5.5 million improvement program approved by voters in December. Included in the first phase of the work program, and expected to be covered by the bond sale, are four other sewer projects on which bids have yet to be taken — Olive Avenue pumping station, $266,000; Railroad Avenue force main, $90,000; Wilson Avenue sewer interceptor, phase one, $25,000, and extension of main interceptor two, $270,000.

Joseph said the district had expected to need $1.6 million in bonds to cover the cost of all the first-phase projects, but the bids received Wednesday night totaled $160,000 less than estimates. This means fewer bonds will be needed, he said.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

CONDEMNATION — Authorized condemnation proceedings to acquire an easement for the San Pablo Bay outfall line across property in the Deer Island area from Watchie and Associates, appraised at $2,589.

RENOVATIONS — Authorized renovations at the district office at a cost of $2,181.

WILSON AVENUE — Asked for bids at 2 p.m. July 26 for the Wilson Avenue interceptor line from Novato Boulevard to Monte Vista, estimated to cost $25,000.

MEETING — Said it would meet July 12, 22 and 27, and next month, Aug. 2, 16, and 20, all at 6 p.m. at the North Marin County Water District office.

Novato Firemen Eye Radio Alarm

The Novato Fire District board is studying the possibility of installing a radio alarm system instead of undergrounding.

Fire Chief Jack Kidder said with the growing trend toward undergrounding, which is costly, directors decided Wednesday the radio system as an alternative.
said, is a radio system could operate in areas which don't have alarm boxes now because of the cost of poles and wires.

POSTAL CELEBRATION

Yesterday was Postal Service Day, marking a reorganization of U.S. post offices aimed at providing better service. There were tours and open houses at many post offices but San Geronimo staged a celebration more fitting for its clientele — with a rock band setting the theme of the day. Post offices are now organized under the U.S. Postal Service, a public corporation.

Safeway Buys Land For Complex

Safeway Stores Inc. has purchased six acres in Rohnert Park for a planned $2 million shopping complex.

The land was purchased for $225,000 from Cofega Enterprises, headed by Paul Golis, who is known as the founder of Rohnert Park. The Safeway development will be coordinated by General Exploration Development Corp. and includes a drugstore, shoe store, two banks, a Junrio Department Store and other convenience shops.

Golis noted that Rohnert Part with a population of more than 7,000 has only one supermarket. A survey last year showed that 75 per cent of the residents go to Petaluma or Santa Rosa to make their major family grocery purchase.

Golis said the 22,500 square foot market and auxiliary stores will be the initial component of a planned $25 million 45-acre regional shopping center of Highway 101 at the Rohnert Park Expressway and Commerce Boulevard.

Caruso's Grave Hit By Vandals

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Someone has removed the tombstone from the grave of tenor Enrico Caruso, police said today.

They said vandals broke into the locked family vault in Naples' Poggioreale cemetery and removed the marble slab but did not touch the urn with Caruso's remains.

WIMBLEDON

A Stunning Win By Teen

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Evonne Goolagong today became the new queen of tennis when she beat defending champion Margaret Court in straight sets to win the women's singles title at the 85th All-England championships.

Miss Goolagong, a 19-year-old part aboriginal, needed only 63 minutes to beat Mrs. Court, 6-4, 6-1, and win the top prize of $4,320.

It was her second major title in two months. She won the French Open in May.

Mrs. Court, 28, and a three-time Wimbledon champion, entered the match a prohibitive favorite to win the title, but at no time was she in command.

Miss Goolagong, the first teenager to win the title since Brazil's Maria Bueno in 1959, outplayed the champion in every department of the game, even though she entered the match with a 1-7 record against Mrs. Court in eight meetings during the last 18 months.

Critics opined Miss Goolagong would not succeed this year because of a suspect forehand and a weal second service. This deficiency was not in evidence today and Mrs. Court was kept away from the net.

The capacity 15,000 center court crowd, which included Princess Magaret, Princess Alexandra, Premier Edward Heath and former Premier Harold McMillan, was behind the young Sydney girl and she did not disappoint her followers, many of whom had stood in line through the night to get the few available standing tickets.

Mrs. Court, a traditionally slow starter, lost the first four games of the match. She was unable to hold her service with any comfort, even though she got a fair proportion of her big first deliveries into play.

Miss Goolagong, completely unspoiled and with no center court nerves, got away to a dream start when she broke in the first game and after that she never let go.

Mrs. Court rallied to win the next three games, breaking in the sixth, but then games went with service. Mrs. Court saved two set points in the 10th game, but a deep volley to the baseline and a smash sewed it up for her teenage rival in 32 minutes.

Mrs. Court held to 15 in the first game of the second set, but after that it became a rout as Miss Goolagong hit winners from all angles.

Mrs. Court pulled back from love-40 to 30-40 in the third game and then netted a backhand; she let a cross court volley pass when she had it covered in the next game with Evonne on advantage; Evonne saved five game points in the fifth before putting it away, and she held in the sixth after blowing three game points.

Mrs. Court opened the seventh game with a doublefault and Evonne played a delicate drop shot and then hit a deep volley to command three match points. Two intended passes into the alley and a service winner made it deuce for Mrs. Court. Evonne got her fourth match point with a forehand to the baseline corner and then Mrs. Court's title slipped away when she ended the match on a doublefault.

Mrs. Court served six doublefaults to Evonne's two.

The crowd went wild when Princess Alexandra came down to present the silver plate to the winner.

The final of the men's doubles followed the women's singles windup, with Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson meeting Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.

Knudson's Potato Masher

It's a plastic putter with a head that's shaped like half a pie. A mark on the head helps him line up the ball, taking into account an eye correction. And with it, Knudson, in the opening round of the $150,000 Canadian Open golf championship Thursday, negotiated the greens with only 29 putts and stood only one shot behind four U.S. tour regulars who shared the lead.

Chunky Phil Rodgers, Rod Funseth, Lou Graham and Rolf Deming all shaved five strokes from par, equaling the course record 67 set by the host pro Jack Bissegger on the 6,895-yard Rouville course at Richelieu Valley.

A fickle wind bothered the starting field of 149 that included 12 former winners and 26 Canadians like Knudson who plays out of Toronto. Thirty-five shooters bettered par in the opening round.

Knudson was bracketed at 68 with Rod Curl. Seven others were grouped at 69, Don Bies, Ralph Johnston, Hal Underwood, Lionel Hebert, DeWitt Weaver, Herb Hooper and Ben Kern, another player from Toronto.

Arnold Palmer was in a 10-player bracket at 70 and noted, "the fairways are a little long. When you drive the ball down the middle, you shouldn't have to hit a flyer to the green."

The field will be pared to the low 70s and ties after today's second round.

Funseth, a 38-year-old who has played on the tour for nine years, was six-under at one point Thursday and later remarked, "I get a little nervous at my age when that happens. But I still think we might see some 63s or 64s before it's all over."

Rodgers, winless since the 1966 Buick Open, was having trouble with his driver and blamed the breeze. "All the tees are in the trees and you couldn't feel the wind to read it properly," he said.

Graham concentrated on a slow backswing to make "solid contact with the ball because the wind exaggerates anything you hit offline."

Bonds Continues His Hot Hitting

NAILED AT THIRD — St. Louis third baseman Joe Torre put the tag to Tito Fuentes of the San Francisco Giants yesterday during the sixth inning at Candlestick Park. Fuentes was out on the play, which began when Ken Henderson singled. Hal Lanier scored on the hit, and the Giants went on to win, 8-7.

Bobby Likes Batting In Middle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —If it's all the same to manager Charlie Fox, Bobby Bonds would like to stay right where he is in the middle of the San Francisco Giants' batting order.

Since being moved down from leadoff a couple of weeks ago, Bonds has improved his average by 20 points. In Thursday's 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals he was the hitting hero with two singles, a double and three RBIs.

"I like being in the middle of the batting order better than leading off," Bonds said. "I feel real comfortable and I like coming to bat with a chance to drive in some runs. It's the kind of challenge I like."

The three hits Thursday, including the game-winning blow, boosted Bonds' average to .312 and the three RBIs gave him 46 for the season, tops on the Giants.

"I guess when we get healthy again I'll be moved back to leadoff," Bonds said. "Naturally I won't complain but as I said, I like it better in the middle of the batting order."

Bonds is hitting third or cleanup these days while Willie McCovey is on the disabled list. He bats third when Willie Mays plays and fourth when Mays sits down for a rest as he did Thursday.

The Giants beat the Cards with a six-run outburst in the second and a two-run rally in the sixth. Bonds drove in two runs during the earlier rally and scored Ken Henderson from first with his double in the sixth. Henderson had reached base on a run-scoring single that snapped a 6-6 tie.

The Giants played with a patchwork lineup and Fox, as might be expected, was happy to win with it.

"Some fellows needed a rest, so we went with the kids," Fox said. "They sure came through, didn't they?"

The kids who helped were newcomers Ed Goodson and Floyd Wicker, who had two hits each.

Tito Fuentes chipped in with a double and single and drove in two runs as the Giants worked over four St. Louis pitchers for 15 hits. The victory went to Don McMahon, the third of five San Francisco pitchers. He now is 6-3.

The victory enabled the Giants to maintain their 6 1-2 game lead in the National League West over the Los Angeles Dodgers,

The Giants and Cards meet again tonight with Steve Stone pitching for San Francisco and Bob Gibson for St. Louis. In Saturday's concluding game of the series, it will be John Cumberland against Steve Carlton.

'Our Kids Are Confident' But Russia Has The Edge

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— The United States puts its best foot forward in more ways than one today in the start of its two day track and field struggle with Russia and a team of world all-stars.

It's the meet fans from both sides of the Iron Curtain have been waiting for ever since the Russians whipped the Americans, 122-114, at Kiev last year.

Both coaches, Dave Maggard of the University of California for the Americans, and Vladimir Popov for the Russians, have exchanged pleasantries in the ast week befitting senior diplomats.

"The Russians are strong, maybe even stronger than last year, and we have to come up with some super performances to beat them," said Maggard, "but our kids are extremely confident, and it could make a difference."

"We did not come here thinking it would be easy to beat the Americans," said Popov, "but this is the strongest Russian team we've ever had. We might surprise the Americans in the sprints but they might surprise us in the jumps and throwing events."

There are 11 men's finals and the first five events of the decathlon on today's schedule plus seven women's events. On Saturday, there are 10 men's events plus the windup of the decathlon and six women's events.

American men lead the series with their Russian counterparts, 7-2, while the Soviet girls hole an 8-1 edge over the Yank females. While the men's competition is rated even, the Russian girls are big favorites. On that basis, the Russians, lumping all the scores together, are almost certain to claim victory.

On the field of combat, though, this is how things will line up on today's show with the United States expected to pick up winning points in the 100 meter dash, the 110 meter high hurdles, the shotput, 400 meter relay and possibly in the 10,000 meter run.

Dr. Delano Mer wether, the 27-year-old cancer research expert from Baltimore who ran a wind-aided nine seconds flat in the AAU 100 yard dash last week, and Jim Green carry U.S. hopes in the 100 meters where the Russians have a strong candidate in Valeriy Borov, the USSR and European co-record holder with a best of 10 flat.

Rod Milburn of little Southern University set a world record of 13 seconds flat, and some still insist it was 12.9, last week in winning the 120 yard high hurdles at the AAU championships. Ron Draper, who did 13.2 in a trial heat and 13.3 in the final, is Milburn's running mate and the Russians have no one to challenge either man seriously.

World record holder Randy Matson and Karl Salb, the Kansas strongman who beat Matson for the first time at the AAU championships, are in tough but should finish 1-2. The Russians counter with Eduard Gushchin, who has a career best of 66-6 1-2.

In the 400 meter relay the U.S. team will be made up from among Meriwether, Green, Ivory Crockett, Bobby Turner, Warren Edmonson, Tommie Turner, Edesel Garrison, Darwin Bond and Fred Newhouse. No matter which four run the Yanks should have the edge.

Frank Shorter, who startled the Russians last year when he beat their best, is back to see if he can make it two in a row in the 10,000 run, and he will have plenty of backp help from Gerry Lindgren, who has worked slowly this year and just now is reaching his peak.

The Russians appear to have the edge in the pole vault, 20 kilo walk, triple jump and hammer with the 440 and 1,500 runs tossups in other men's events on today's show.

LEE GETS WIN

Red Sox Extend Victory Streak

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Boston Red Sox apparently never got the word that they were supposed to be out of the American League East race.

Just last Friday night, the Red Sox were reeling eight games behind the Baltimore Orioles in third place and seemed on the verge of dropping out of sight.

But the Red Sox, who rallied for two runs in the eighth inning and a three-run homer in the ninth inning by Rico Petrocelli, made it seven straight victories Thursday night with an 8-7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers to move within 2 1-2 games of the Orioles. Baltimore suffered a 3- loss to Cleveland.

Rico Petrocelli capped the Boston comeback with a three-run, ninth inning home run, and Bill Lee of Terra Linda picked up the win with 1⅓ inings of magnificent relief pitching. Lee struck out two batters and allowed only one hit while earning his fifth win against two losses.

The Red Sox were leading the league by four games back on May 28 but then went into a slump that lasted almost a month. They won only eight of 24 games until last Saturday when they started their seven-game winning streak by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from Baltimore. Until they started their current streak, the Red Sox seemed to be falling out of contention.

The Tigers like to consider themselves a pennant threat, too, but they remained 5½ games behind Baltimore after the loss to the Red Sox. Reliever Fred Scherman had a 5-3 lead in the eighth but Boston tied it on Bob Montgomery's infield out with runners on second and third and Phil Gagliano' single. Detroit came back to take a 7-5 lead in the last of the eighth on run-scoring sin-

Most N.L. All-Star Positions Locked Up

NEW YORK (UPI) —The National League All-Star team has practically been decided, although there are still four days remaining before the official starting team will be announced.

The NL team will be announced next Wednesday but virtually every position has been locked up. The only two positions which could conceiveably change are shortstop and first base.

Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants leads the first baseman with 399,002, but McCovey has been on the disabled list the past two weeks and Orlando Cepeda of the Atlanta Braves has closed the gap. Cepeda has received 336,718 votes and could possibly overhaul McCovey before the final results.

Chances are Cepeda will start in the All-Star game anywhow as McCovey will still be sidelined with a knee injury. If McCovey should win the voting and not play it would be up to the NL manager — Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds — to choose the starting first baseman. Anderson will likely choose from Cepeda or his own Lee May, who is third in the voting.

At shortstop Bud Harrelson of the New York Mets holds a slight lead over Don Kessinger of the Chicago Cubs. Harrelson has received 393,708 votes to 338,820 for Kissinger.

The remainder of the positions have virtually been decided. Glenn Beckert of Chicago leads the second baseman with 352,761 votes. Joe Torre of St. Louis has 485,473 votes to lead the third basemen and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati tops the catchers with 781,098.

Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves has moved ahead of of San Francisco's Willie Mays as the top vote-getter among the outfielders. Aaron has 795,589 votes to 783,938 for Mays.

Two Californians On Wightman Team

LONDON (UPI) —Two California girls are among the six girls named to the Wightman Cup tennis squad that will meet the British team at Cleveland Aug. 21, 22, and 23.

Bob Colwell, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, Thursday announced the selection of Kristy Pigeon of Danville and Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego. Miss Pigeon will be making her Wightman debut.

Rested Athletics To Open Series Against Angels

ANAHEIM (UPI) —With talk floating around that Oakland may be getting complacent with its 10-game lead in the American League West, the A's try to snap a two-game losing streak tonight against the California Angels.

After dropping two straight to the Minnesota Twins, the question of whether the A's were letting up was put to manager Dick Williams.

But Williams said the A's were just tired, and he predicted that now that they've have a day off they will get back on the winning track.

"We've had 14 games in 13 days. One was a rainout, but we were in uniform and played a couple of innings so it can't be counted as a day off," Williams said.

Odom, who has been plagued by elbow problems, now seems ready to regain his old style. Last Sunday he beat Kansas City in his first complete game of the year and his third straight win. He has a 4-3 overall mark.

Righthander Rick Clark (1-0) will pitch for California.

Rabbit Hunting Is Recommended

By AL GIDDINGS

Tomorrow the statewide rabbit season opens. This year the daily bag and possession limit has been increased from five to eight. The season remains open through Jan. 30, 1972 for the cottontails, brush, pigmy and snowshoes. Jackrabbits season is open all year with no limit.

Reports have it that the prospects in Northeast California are not as good as last year because of a winter die off. About 120,000 hunters took 728,000 rabbits last year. Cottontails are excellent for the table. It's worth going.

LET'S BE careful. "Last year, with more than three times as many hunters in the fild, there were fewer hunting accidents than there were 40 years ago!" This was a statement noted in the April 1931 issue of a Fish and Game report! An estimated 100 persons were injured in 1931! The number was 132 by 1955. Last year 89 persons were injured. It really looks like our Hunter-Safety program is doing a great service for the people!

Special hunts for deer, elk and antelope are being considered by the Fish and Game Commission at the San Diego meeting today. Twenty-six special anterless and either-sex deer hunts with 11,575 permits has been recommended to the Commission by the Department of Fish & Game.

A ROCKY MOUNTAIN elk hunt in Shasta and Siskiyou counties for Nov. 13 to Dec. 5, with 200 permits is also on the recommended list.

An antelope hunt in Modoc, Lassen, eastern Shasta and Siskiyou counties from Aug. 28 to Sept. 6 with 400 permits is also being recommended.

In the special hunt for antelope, 300 hunters took 241 bucks. The 3,800 antelope counted in this year's census was the highest number counted since the present census method was started. The commissioners will also consider adopting regulations to prohibit the importation of falcons, hawks, eagles, vultures and owls.

THE MAIN BRANCH of the Russian River in southern Mendocino County was to be stocked with catchable size trout before the Fourth of july weekend. The area stockd will be etween Ash Cree and squaw Rock north of Cloverdale. No plants for the Marin lkes tis wek, but Lake Merced gts soe catchables.

LICENSE AGENTS throughout California have received the first shipment of 1971-72 hunting licenses, deer and bear tags and the new hunter safety validation stamps, and they are now on sale.

James Christopher, Department of Fish and Game license chief, said that the statewide mailing covered approximately 2,600 license agents. More than three-quarters of a million hunting licenses were sold in California last year.

First of the 1971-72 hunts is rabbit season, which opens Saturday. The early archery deer season opener follows on July 10, and the early deer season on Aug. 7, which is also opening day for the tree squirrel season in Lake, Marin, Napa, Solano and Sonoma counties.

THE $1 HUNTER safety validation stamp must be purchased by applicants who qualify for licenses by presenting the hunter safety certificate of competence.

As a special service to hunters this year, Christopher added, a larger, more legible map of deer hunting areas will be provided in addition to the map regularly carried in the hunting regulations booklet. These will be available from license agents at about the end of July.

Pheasant and duck stamps will go on sale about Sept. 1, Christopher said.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Pirates' Ellis Wins His 13th Of Year

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Dock Ellis' burning ambition this season has been to make the National League All-Star team. The way he's pitching now, he may be the first choice when Manager Sparky Anderson fills in his pitching staff next week.

Ellis gained his 13th victory of the season—tops in the NL—against only three losses Thursday afternoon when the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 3-0 in a battle of Eastern Division frontrunners. Ellis, who pitched the first five innings of the lengthy, rain-delayed game, struck out five and allowed only two hits. Jim Nelson, Nelson Briles and Dave Giusti finished up for the Pirates.

Gene Clines scored Pittsburgh's first run in the fifth on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly and Clines singled in another run in the sixth. Robert Clemente's double and a single by Willie Stargell accounted for Pittsburgh's final run in the ninth.

The game was interrupted three times because of thunderstorms and Ellis was removed after the second delay. The victory left Pittsburgh three games ahead of second-place New York in the NL East.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco edged St. Louis 8-7, Los Angeles shaded San Diego 2-1, Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 5-1 and Atlanta beat Montreal 7-3.

Wes Parker doubled in the tie-breaking run when Leron Lee misjudged his line drive as the Dodgers rallied for a pair of runs in the fifth inning to beat San Diego. The Padres led 1-0 when Maury Wills singled, stole second and scored on Richie Allen's single. Allen scored when Lee broke in on Parker's liner and it sailed to the wall.

Johnny Bench stroked three hits and Jim McGlothlin pitched a four-hitter as the Reds stopped Philadelphia. Singles by George Foster, Bench, Tony Perez and Bernie Carbo produced a pair of runs in the fourth and Carbo walked leading off the sixth and scored on Dave Concepcion's double. Concepcion scored on a double by Pete Rose.

Ralph Garr tripled in two runs to highlight a four-run ninth inning rally that boosted Atlanta over the Expos and spoiled Montreal's Canada Day celebration.

South Cagers Overpower North

OAKLAND (UPI) — The South All-Stars, led by Biff Burrell and Dave Meyers, had a 13-0 scoring binge in a three-minute span of the final half to win its second straight All State Basketball Classic 90-79 Thursday night.

About 4,000 saw the South take a 49-43 halftime lead and then the North move ahead 66-62 before Burrell, a 6-2 Compton performer headed for USC, and Meyers, 6-7 Sonora of La Habra student headed for UCLA, turned the tide.

gles by Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline.

But Scherman hit Luis Aparicio and Reggie Smith singled to open the ninth. Carl Yastrzemski struck out but Petrocelli followed with his 12th homer to decide the game.

In the other games, Washington edged New York 3-1, Chicago topped Milwaukee 6-4 and Kansas City routed California 9-4.

Jim Palmer and Baltimore seemed to be rolling to a 2-0 victory over Cleveland when the Indians loaded the bases in the eighth on two walks and Ray Fosse's single and Frank Baker hit a ground-rule double to tie the game. Vada Pinson then homered with two out in the ninth off reliever Eddie Watt to give the Indians the victory.

Ironically, Pinson never got the ball out of the infield in four trips against Palmer and struck out twice.

Washington has all kinds of problems —except when it plays New York. The Senators have won only four of their 11 games and all four victories have been over New York. Jim Shellenback pitched a four-hitter to beat Mike Kekich and gain the victory. Shellenback is 3-4 and all three victories have come over New York.

Dick Drago pitched a six-hitter and California backed him with an 11-hit attack to beat Kansas City. Amos Otis, who hit his 13th homer, had two hits and drove in three runs and Paul Schaal had a two-run double to pace the Angels.

Santa Clara Draws Record Holders

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) — Two swimmers who hold three world records have been added to the lineup for the fifth annual Santa Clara International Invitational swimming and diving meet July 9-11.

Sullivan Award winner John Kinsella and world swimmer of the Year Gary Hall, both of Indiana University, have neteered the meet. Kinsella holds the world record in the 1500-meter freestyle and Hall has the world's best in the 200-meter butterfly and the 400-meter individual medley.

Crutches And Cast For Carr

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Austin Carr, the Cleveland Cavaliers' No. 1 draft choice, will have a cast on his right foot for the next six weeks, the team announced Thursday.

Carr suffered a hairline fracture in the foot Wednesday night while playing a pinkup game of basketball in New York City, a team spokesman said.

The former Notre Dame star will wear a cast and use crutches for two weeks, then be fitted with a walking cast for another four.

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) —Dave Cowens of the Boston Celtics was released on $25 bond after being arrested Thursday on a disorderly conduct charge in a local night club.

Police said Cowens, a former Florida State University basketball star, and two companions were involved in a fight with a fourth man, who pulled a knife. All four were arrested.

Cowens was cut on the right arm during the struggle, but police said the injury was not serious. He was treated and released from a local hospital.

Football

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dallas Cowboys' rookie star Duane Thomas said today he does not intend to report to the pro football team's summer camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., unless the club gives him a new contract.

Thomas, the club's rookie of the year, feels his performance in 1970 justifies the renegotiation of his contract and he said he intends to retire from football unless a new agreement is reached.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mayor Richard J. Daley says Chicago will have a new sports stadium. It will, he says, be located on the lakefront, cost $55 million and be used for football.

"This is a football stadium," the mayor said Thursday when asked whether the Chicago Cubs or White Sox might avail themselves of the field.

Actually, Philip K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, has said he likes his present North Side playground, Wrigley Field, and sees no reason to move to a superstadium. John Allyn's White Sox have indicated a similar lack of interest.

Crew

HENLEY, England (UPI)—Trinity College of Hartford, Conn., and giant New York sculler Jim Dietz Friday advanced to the final of their events at the Henley Royal Regatta.

Harvard University's four earlier boosted U.S. hopes for honors by reaching the semifinal of the Wyfold Cup competition. Trinity beat Fitzwilliam College, Cambridge, by 1-3-4 lengths in seven minutes 10 seconds to make the final of the ladies plate and Dietz, a 6 foot-6 student of North Eastern University, Boston, Mass., qualified for the diamond sculls final.

Auto Racing

Among those missing from the meeting will be Mark Donohue, who took the pole position with a speed of 172.393 miles-per-hour. Donohue, driving a Turbo-charged Offenhauser-powered McLaren, got special permission so he could instruct some amateur drivers at Lime Rock, Conn.

Important Games With The Dodgers

During the next two weekends the giants and Dodgers will meet five times, twice in Candlestick Park July 4-5, three times in Dodger Stadium July 9-11 just before the All-Star break.

Any baseball fan who has been following the day-to-day team standings in the National League West knows that the Dodgers have chipped away considerable chunks of the 10-1/2 game division lead the Giants enjoyed at the end of May.

"THERE'S NO doubt about it, we've been playing our best ball for the last month," said Walter Alston, manager of the Dodgers.

"We have to make them (the Giants) look over their shoulders," said Jim Gilliam, Dodger coach.

There already has been more than one shoulder peep backward by the Giants, especially during the first half of June when they won only four of 15 games and the Dodgers whittled their fat 10-1/2 game lead to 5-1/2.

THEN THE Giants put together a seven-game winning streak and their lead over the Dodgers climbed to a comfortable eight games. But the win streak came to an end in the Astrodome where the Giants always have had monumental problems regardless of what month it happens to be. Over the past three seasons the Giants have won only five of 25 indoor ball games.

From the Astrodome, which they left without a pleasant memory, the Giants flew to San Diego for an end-of-the-month series with the Padres who showed no respect whatsoever for Juan Marichal, ace of the Giants, in the series opener. And once again the lead of the Giants was trimmed to 5½ games. Marichal's loss to the Padres coincided with a Dodger win over the Cubs in 101 degrees at Wrigley Field.

"DODGERS AS hot as Chicago's temperature," was the sports page line in one Los Angeles newspaper, following the Dodger decision that interrupted a modest three-game win streak of the Cubs and gave the Dodgers their 13th win in 18 games.

Maybe Candlestick's breezes this weekend will cool off Dodger bats that have been compiling hit totals in double figures in game after game. The Dodgers weren't hitting in such fashion in May when the Giants beat them four out of six.

There will be no looking back by the Giants during the next two weekends. They will be eyeing their old rivals in head-to-head combat, the kind schedule makers dream about.

TWO STRONG LEFTIES

'Sudden Sam' Vs. 'The Blue Blazer'

That might look like a plug for the main wrestling event at any local arena, but it really has to do with baseball and in particular with Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians and Vida Blue of the Oakland Athletics.

One of the major topics of discussion in the stands these days is over who has the best fastball in the American League, McDowell or Blue? It is a question asked often but with no clear-cut answer. Opinions vary on the ability of these two strikeout artists to throw the ball by AL hitters.

"They are different type pitchers," says Roy White of the New York Yankees. "Blue's ball seems to pick up speed as it comes up to the plate whereas Sam's ball is faster out of the hand. You're more ready at the plate for a guy like McDowell.

"Blue has a very easy motion and is what you would call 'sneaky fast.' He's much tougher to hit because you're not ready for that fast ball when it comes. I know Blue throws hard, but I don't think he's the type of pitcher that would knock the bat out of your hand. I am very impressed with his control, though. He's got much better control than McDowell."

"Blue and McDowell are about the same," says the Yankees' Bobby Murcer. "But Blue seems to be able to throw hard for an entire game. The way the press built him up the first time we played him we weren't supposed to be able to see the ball. He's not that fast. But he is one of the hardest throwers I've seen."

One of the raps against McDowell is that he doesn't throw high hard ones often enough during a game. He has been criticized as being "too cute" with off-speed pitches.

"If McDowell threw nothing but fastballs for an entire game he would win 1,000 games," says one player. "Nobody throws a ball as hard as Sam. The problem is he doesn't throw hard as he can most of the time."

Tommy Davis, a teammate of Blue's on the Athletics, has batted against McDowell on several occasions and also played with another famed fastballer, Sandy Koufax. How does Davis rate 'm?

"McDowell, when he really rears back and fires, is the fastest of the three," says Davis. "But Vida, like Sandy, can throw hard for nine innings. There's very little to choose from between Koufax and Vida, except that Sandy had a better curve. But Vida really works hard at improving. He wants to be great, real big. If he keeps his arm strong he's gonna win a few games in his lifetime."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

New Twist: Make Unavoidable Play When Choosing A Finesse

When you have a choice of finesses, you should usually start with one that is unavoidable. If it goes well, you may be able to play the rest of the hand more comfortably; if it goes badly, you've lost only what was unavoidable. The point is illustrated in today's hand, played some years ago in a match between England and Norway.

Opening lead — ♠ 4

AT BOTH TABLES

The bidding and the opening lead were the same at both tables of the match. Both declarers won the first trick with ace of spades, but then they parted company.

The English declarer led the three of diamonds at the second trick and agonized over which diamond to play from the dummy. When he finally played low, the situation was pretty clear to both defenders.

East won with the jack of diamonds and returned a diamond. When East got in with his high spade, he returned another diamond to give West a ruff. The ace of hearts took the setting trick.

DIFFERENT START

The Norwegian declarer made a different start after winning the first trick with the ace of spades. He led his singleton heart on the theory that he was sure to lose a heart trick sooner or later.

West stepped up with the ace of hearts, setting up dummy's king. Declarer eventually discarded a diamond on dummy's king of hearts, after which he needed only a simple finesse with the queen of diamonds. South had to play the hand with care, but he had a fairly easy time making 11 tricks.

LUCK IN DIAMONDS

The trouble with leading the diamonds at once is that the hand depends on luck in diamonds. The advantage of leading hearts first is that good luck in that suit may simplify the diamond position; and bad luck in hearts is not likely to make declarer's job more difficult.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A 10 8 2
♦ - 10 4 3
♣ - A K 10 9 6.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

You have 11 points in high cards and two points for the singleton, enough for an optional opening bid. You decide to bid rather than to pass because of the excellent intermediate cards and the fine high-card structure.

Many Relying On Income Policies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many couples are relying on their life insurance policies to provide additional income for them when retirement comes.

While life insurance is purchased primarily to furnish financial protection for dependents if the policyholder dies prematurely, almost half of the persons questioned in a national survey said they also feel that life insurance is one of the best ways to accumulate money for retirement.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuities Provide Income Guarantee

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am elderly and would like an investment providing maximum security and high income. I realize, considering these requirements, full capital return in later years is probably impossible. — J.D.

A. For your purpose an annuity contract would probably be a good choice. Annuities are sold with a wide variety of options which allow the buyer to shape his contract to his individual needs. The monthly payments would of course be affected by the various options chosen by the annuitant. Although I can give you no specific figure on what you could expect by way of return, a single premium, nonparticipating life annuity for a man aged-70 could provide up to $110 annually per $1,000 invested.

As a rule, a large portion of each monthly payment is considered a return of principal, and, as such, that portion is not subject to income tax. It is because the annuitant receives part of his original investment back each month that the income from annuities generally exceeds that available from similar high quality investments. Thus the annuitant is assured of a generous monthly income for his life time. In addition, under a refund contract, the beneficiary will receive payment or payments equal to the stipulated amount, in the event of the early demise of the annuitant.

I would emhasize that prior to making such a purchase you should be familiar with all the possible options so that your annunity contract will fit your needs. Furthermore, in order to avoid second thoughts at some later date on the wisdom of relinquishing a portion of your capital, you should understand fully the principles basic to annuities.

The growing acceptance of annuities, both by individuals and groups, is testimony to the important role these contracts serve in supplementing retirement income. In 1940 there were less than one million contracts in force. By 1969, this figure had grown to over nine million, with 1.6 million of these anuities written for individuals in circumstances similar to yours.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Bank Forecasts Economy Upturn

Inflation and relatively high unemployment will continue to be troubesome for the rest of 1971, according to a progress report by Bank of America. However, vigorous growth in the economy should set in next winter and last through 1972.

Bank economists forecast that the unemployment rate will probably near 6 per cent, while prices grow about 5 per cent for the rest of this year. They expect the Gross National Product to increase by 7.5 per cent over 1970.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York finds that an unusual amount of anxiety exists among businessmen over high long-term interest rates besides inflation and unemployment.

On the bright side, it sees a "reasonable chance"that some progress may be made on the price front and a probability that productive gains will average a good deal higher in 1971-72 than they have over the past two years.

BLUE CHIP STAMPS has reported earnings of $1,729,000 or 34 cents per share for the first quarter ended May 29, compared to 43 cents for the first quarter a year ago. Total revenues declined from $34.6 million in the 1970 quarter to $28.4 currently. Decreased earnings and revenues were attributed to adoption of the so-called discount method of promotion by a number of supermarket chains. A cash dividend of six cents per share will be paid Aug. 5.

WEYERHAUSER CO. has announced the acquisition of a majority interest in International Timber Corp., which holds valuable timber cutting rights in Borneo. The acquisition will triple Weyerhauser's Far East holdings.

CROCKER-CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK has shortened its name to Crocker Bank, although the legal name is now Crocker National Bank.

THE WICKES CORP. sales for the 13 weeks ended May 1 totaled $126.2 million - up from $112.4 million a year ago. Net income of $2.2 million compared with $1.4 million last year - an increase from 21 cents per share to 32 cents per share.

JAMES ALLAN AND SONS MEAT CO. will build a $10 million plant on a 73-acre site near Gilroy and transfer its meat processing and distribution facilities there from San Francisco. The new plant is not expected to be ready for two years.

H. J. HEINZ CO. has reported a gain of 15.6 per cent in consolidated net earnings for its fiscal year ended April 28, establishing a new record. Earnings totaled $37.6 million compared to $32.5 million reported a year ago. Net earnings were equivalent to $2.53 per common share after provision for preferred dividends. Last year the company reported earnings of $2.41 per common share.

BEATRICE FOODS CO. sales, net earnings and per share earnings for the first quarter ended May 1 reached all-time highs for the company for its 20th consecutive year. Net earnings of $17.2 million were up 14 per cent and earnings per share were up 11 per cent from last year.

McKEON CONSTRUCTION CO. has reported net earnings of $1.3 million or 40 cents per share for the quarter ended May 31. For the corresponding period a year ago the company earned $821,362 or 28 cents per share.

National Can Recycle Plan Set

PITTSBURG, Calif. (BW) — Pittsburg Works (California) of United States Steel will be the Northern California site for a nationwide steel industry program for collection and recycling of can containers.

The program has been announced in Pittsburgh, Pa., by seven of the nation's major steel companies producing the tinplated or tin free steel made into more than 60 billion cans a year.

In addition to Pittsburg Works, the tinplate producing companies have established 79 can collection stations in 38 cities in 13 states. This figure complements the 164 can collection centers already established by the can manufacturing industry, and more collection points are planned.

The dark clouds — so expressive of summers in the Midwest — didn't, however, bring relief yesterday to Chicago's humid heat. Yesterday's high in the windy City was 79, five degrees higher than the overnight low. No relief in the humid conditions was forecast for the Fourth of July weekend. (UPI Telephoto)

Laird Cancels Rand Access To Secrets

Ties Leak Of Pentagon Papers To 'Think Tank'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird Friday ordered all classified information withdrawn from the custody of the Rand Corp. on grounds the research firm allowed the leak of the Pentagon papers in the Vietnam war.

Laird's action, announced while he was flying toward Tokyo, signaled a crackdown specifically on security practices at Rand's offices in Washington and Santa Monica, Calif. But Pentagon officials said it probably would result in tighter safeguarding of classified information and tougher security checks at all non-government locations where classified material is held.

"Lax security practices among defense contractors can no more be tolerated than will such practices within this department," Laird said in a memorandum to Air Force Secretary Robert Seamans ordering the actions against Rand.

The Air Force has given Rand the majority of its contracts.

The corporation —often referred to as a "think tank" — helped in preparation of the secret Vietnam war study which was disclosed to the New York Times and other newspapers.

Daniel Ellsberg, indicted by a federal grand jury for his role in "leaking" the documents, formerly was an analyst with Rand.

Laird's directive said: "In connection with recent compromises of classified documents included in the study, U.S.-Vietnam Relations, 1945-1967, and compromises of related documents, security personnel of contract administrations services of the Defense Supply Agency found a number of deficiences in the system and practices of Rand Corp."

He ordered the Air Force to:

—Withdraw all classified documents from the security custody of Rand Corp., and place them in control of Air Force personnel in special areas to be set up at each of the Rand offices.

—Conduct "a complete inventory of all classified documents and materials in the possession of Rand and determine, under the regulations, Rand's need-to know based on contracts of Rand and of such documents and materials."

The defense secretary also ordered cancellation of all "special access" Rand now holds to cryptographic material, intelligence information and other "special" intelligence material.

At a planeside news conference this morning before leaving on a trip to the Far East, Laird said nothing he had yet read in published stories on the study had adversely affected U.S. military forces in Vietnam.

He also said that he expected to have on his desk by July 19 a report, now underway, on review of the papers that could lead to at least a partial declassification of the documents.

Laird did not spell out what the laxities in Rand's securities practices or say how they were related to the leak of the study.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Johnson administration participated in or backed a series of military actions against North Vietnam during the 1964 presidential election year that were kept secret at the time, the Pentagon study of the origins of the war showed today.

Portions of the study furnished UPI said the "unpublicized" actions were taken "primarily as low-key indications to the enemy of the U. S. willingness and capability to employ increased force if necessary."

But the writers of the report said part of the reason for keeping the steps secret at the time was the fact President Lyndon Johnson was engaged in a re-election campaign against Republican Barry Goldwater.

"The fact that these actions were not publicized —although most of them eventually became public knowledge — stemmed in part from a desire to communicate an implicit threat of 'more to come' for Hanoi's benefit, without arousing undue anxieties domestically in the United States in a presidential election year in which escalation of the war became a significant campaign issue," the report said.

The report listed these unpublicized actions taken by the United States during 1964:

--DeSoto patrols, in which American destroyers probed deep into the Gulf of Tonkin along the coast of North Vietnam both as a show of strength and an intelligence gathering device.

—Air strikes in Laos and limited border-crossing operations in which South Vietnamese forces struck at Viet Cong infiltration routes in Laos.

—South Vietnamese raids by sea and other harassing actions against North Vietnam.

—A "Yankee Team" program which used low-level air reconnaissance missions over Laos. The flights were made by U. S. jets which were accompanied by fighters whose pilots had orders to retaliate against enemy ground fire.

At the very end of 1964, the report said, the United States started operation "Barrel Roll" which consisted of armed reconnaissance missions by U.S.

June's Jobless Count Declines

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Unemployment dropped in June to 5.6 per cent of the nation's work force even though 1.1 million more persons were out of work than in May, the government reported today.

The Labor Department cautioned that the dip might have been caused by a statistical quirk.

A total of 5.5 million Americans were listed as looking for work in June compared to 4.4 million in May. But because unemployment usually rises even more sharply from May to June, the level of unemployment after seasonal adjustment was recorded as down by 530,000.

Thus, the overall unemployment rate—perhaps the most politically sensitive of all government economic statistics — declined from 6.2 per cent in May to 5.6 per cent in June. That figure is always adjusted for seasonal factors such as school vacations, Christmas shopping season and expected lags in various areas of the economy.

The 0.6 decline in joblessness was the sharpest for one month since November, 1961.

Total employment rose 770,000 in June to 79.5 million but that increase, like the rise in joblessness, was less than usual for this time of year. Therefore, on a seasonally adjusted basis, employment declined by 520,000.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics explained that its employment and unemployment figures are based on a survey conducted during the week of each month in which the 12th day falls. In June, that was the week of the 6th through the 12th—earliest it could ever come in a month.

As a result, the bureau explained, many students who probably began looking for work later in the month were still in school and thus not registered either as employed or unemployed.

The seasonal adjustment factors, based on actual figures for the previous eight years, assumed that the influx of students has already entered the labor market.

The unemployment rate for teen-agers fell from 17.3 to 5.8 per cent, seasonally adjusted, during June. That probably was a result of a smaller number of hard-to-employ students seeking work.

In addition, the smaller-than-usual number of teen-agers, who always have a much higher unemployment rate than older workers, warped the overall unemployment rate.

Despite the statistical inconclusiveness, the drop in the overall rate cheered Nixon administration economic strategists. They had been chafing under the longest siege of high unemployment in almost 10 years.

The jobless rate from December through May had hovered around 6 per cent. The rate in December and May, 6.2 per cent each month, equaled the highest level since 1961.

San Anselmo Boots Any Pay Hikes

The City of San Anselmo has announced it will not grant cost-of-living increases to any of its employees.

In a letter to employee groups, City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel listed "drastic cuts" in requests of all departments and the "impossibility to maintain the same effective tax rate (as last year)" as reasons for the city's stance.

Spokesmen for the city's police department reacted today by charging the city with failing to negotiate in good faith and warning many veteran officers may leave as a result.

Lt. G. Albert Howenstein and Officer Bernard Del Santo, police negotiators, said they did not expect a strike as a result of the city's decision, but

Illegal Fireworks Blamed For Fires

Four of nine grass fires which broke out yesterday in the unincorporated portions of Marin County were definitely started by fireworks, according to county Fire Chief Richard D. Pedroli.

The chief reminded Marinites that fireworks are illegal in the county under a county ordinance and asked cooperation of residents in not using them.

He said that there were two small grass fires in Marin City and also fires in Bayside Acres and Santa Venetia caused by fireworks and that some of the other fires may also have been due to them.

Painters, Paper Hangers Join Growing Strike Force In Marin

The strike season was in full force today in Marin County with the painters and paper hangers having joined carpenters and Mill Valley city employees in walking off their jobs.

Most of the county's 250 painters and paperhangers were on strike today, according to a major painting contractor.

They were among 6,000 union painters and paper hangers in Northern California who walked off their jobs yesterday in a "no contract, no work" dispute with contractors. The painters want a 60-cent-an-hour pay hike over their current $5.57 hourly wage.

The situation in the carpenters' strike, which has halted work on the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project and a $480,000 sewage pumping station in San Rafael, remained the same today.

No ove to resume negotiations between the unions and contractors was reported in the dispute, which is also a no contract, no work strike.

Mill Valley's striking employees, excluding police and firemen, also remained off their jobs for the second day today with no progress reported in negotiations.

Neither City Mgr. William H. Cunningham nor spokesmen for the employees could offer hope for an early settlement of the strike, which has idled 39 employees, about half the city's force.

Bernard B. Burnside, secretary of the Mill Valley Employees Association, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, had no comment when asked if progress was made in a two-and-one-half hour negotiating session yesterday.

Cunningham said the two sides "reviewed their positions" in an effort to define issues and set another meeting for 2 p.m. Tuesday.

The striking employees — who work at city hall, the building and planning, public works and parks and recreation departments, the golf course and the library — walked out yesterday.

They are protesting what they say is a lack of serious bargaining on the part of the city. They have charged that a professional negotiator hired by the city is nothing more than a

A Long Holiday Due To Strikes

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Strikes across the nation have idled thousands of miners, construction workers, transportation workers and city employes. Even the halls of justice were left dusty due to strikes.

A strike by Detroit's 1,400 sanitation workers entered its second day today and garbage was piling up at the rate of 9 million pounds a day. Mayor Roman S. Gribb urged each resident to "keep his own area clean."

Some 36,000 copper workers were off the job in eight states and Pacific Coast ports virtually were closed by striking longshoremen. Even the new U.S. postal service, on its first day of operation, faced labor problems.

Striking garbage men and mounting garbage were not the only labor problems faced by Detroit officials. The threat of other work stoppages existed as contract negotiations continue between the city and 43 unions representing 24,000 workers. Janitors failed to report to work Thursday at the city-county building and the Frank Murphy Hall of Justic.

Picket lines representing a combination of 26 copper workers' unions were set up Thursday outside mines of major copper producers in Utah, Arizona, Montana, Nevada and New Mexico and workers in Texas, Washington and New Jersey joined the strike.

Eight companies were idled by the strike, including the big four of Jennecott, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and American Smelting and Refining. Federal mediators were called into the dispute.

In Cleveland, United Transportation Union president Charles Luna said the 265,000-member union would strike July 16 against the Union Pacific Railroad, Southern Railway System and the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. He said strike plans were drawn up after a year of "fruitless negotiations with the railroads."

However, Luna said, the strike against the three railroads "would not hurt the economy of the nation."

Strikes by some 15,000 workers in western states virtually closed Pacific Coast ports, although the longshoremen did unload military cargo, mail and passenger ships. The strike affected dozens of inbound vessels from Asia and Latin America, leaving them unsure as to their course.

Cabs were having a heyday Thursday in San Francisco when 52 drivers of buses between downtown San Francisco and its airport refused to work, sending an average of 5,000 persons a day in search of $8 cab rides or other means of transportation to the airport.

U.S. Admits To Neutral Zone Hits

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command acknowledged today that U.S. planes attacked Communist antiaircraft sites in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) but said it was a protective reaction strike provoked when North Vietnamese gunners opened fire on an American plane.

U.S. military sources with direct knowledge of the incident gave a different account. They said American planes attacked a North Vietnamese troop concentration believed assembling rockets in the supposedly neutral zone and that the planes were not fired on first.

The military sources said the raids were carried out by 14 U.S. F4 Phantom fighter-bombers and five 01 and 02 spotter planes armed with small rockets, that the raid was unauthorized.

The official version said forward air controllers (FACs) on Wednesday morning spotted Communist troop concentrations on the southern side of the Ben Hai river which divides the two Vietnams and air strikes were called against them.

The command said two Air Force F4 Phantoms and six U.S. Navy A7 Intruder jet fighters responded but while they were en route the North Vietnamese opened up on four light planes from positions just north of the river. The bigger planes then hit the antiaircraft sites, wiping out a 37 millimeter site, killing seven Communist troops and touching off 10 secondary explosions, indicating ammunition was hit.

The command said the strikes fitted the category of "protective reaction...an inherent right of self defense." They said no U.S. planes were lost in the strike, the first of its kind since March 30.

Military sources said the White House was so upset by reports of an unauthorized raid it sent a colonel to investigate. The command said only: "The 7th Air Force is routinely checking to see that normal operating procedures were followed."

The military sources said a recently arrived observation pilot spotted troop movements and called for artillery but was given a "negative clearance," meaning the target was in the northern half of the DMZ. He then called for air strikes which were sent in apparently in error.

Brezhnev Leads Cosmonaut Rites

MOSCOW (UPI)—An anguished Leonid I. Brezhnev and other Kremlin leaders today carried to niches in the Kremlin wall the ashes of the three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts who died mysteriously on their return to earth from a mission that was to have taught man how to live in space.

American astronaut Thomas Stafford, commander of the Apollo 10 moon mission, arrived today as the personal representative of President Nixon and joined the 19 surviving Soviet spacemen in the final accolade to the three cosmonauts.

Tens of thousands of Russians crowded into Red Square as the urns carrying the ashes were borne on gun carriages pulled by armored cars across the cobblestones to the tomb of V. I. Lenin the Soviet leaders then carried them to the Kremlin Wall, the Pantheon of Soviet heroes.

Guns of mourning crashed under the azure sky in the 81-degree temperature as the urns were placed in the Kremlin wall. The ceremony was televised to the mourning nation which had made favorite sons of Georgi Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev.

Brezhnev, the Communist Party general secretary; Premie Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny helped bear the urns on their shoulders in slow, precise procession from Lenin's tomb to the great brick wall.

Brezhnev, anguish etched on his face, fought back tears during the eulogies. A few trickled down his cheek as they did Thursday when he visited the men who were lying in state on a triple catafalque in the red-bannered Central House of the Soviet army. He did not speak.

Stafford, who flew in from a visit to Belgrade, was met at the airport by two Soviet cosmonauts and immediately went to Central House to convey sympathy to the families of the dead heroes. He joined the cosmonauts today in standing honor guard before the urns.

Stafford commanded the Apollo 10 moon mission which tested the Lunar module begore the moon landing of Apollo 11.

The cosmonauts died Wednesday from mysterious causes during what seemed a flawless return from man's longest spaceflight, 24 days. They established the first manned orbital space station—the cornerstone of eventual colonies in space.

Results of the autopsies on the three men have not been published.

Cairo Eyes New Path In Mideast

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Mohammed Hossanein Heikal, one of President Anwar Sadat's closest advisers, warned today that Egypt may renounce its commitment to seek a peaceful settlement with Israel and submit a new strategy to its Arab allies.

He said Egypt has made concessions to Israel in its attempt to reach an accommodation, but "did not get anything" in return, and it was time to take another stance.

"Egypt faces in the second half of this decisive year of 1971 a great responsibility that pushes it to expose...a new and complete strategy for its military and political struggle, Heikal, the editor of the Al Ahram newspaper.

Heikal said "circumstances are favorable" for a new Arab summit coference, which Arab presidents and kings have been trying in Algiers for several months to arrange, and that Egypt might present its new policy at the meeting.

Before Egypt goes to the summit conference, Heikal said, it should renounce its commitment to seek a peaceful Middle East solution implicit in its acceptance of the United Nations Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, and the 1970 peace proposals of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Drive For Titian

LONDON (UPI)—Trustees of the National Gallery opened a drive today to acquire Titian's "The Death of Actaeon," bought by a U.S. dealerr last week at auction for $4,032,000.

The gallery's board of directors, which announced the action Thursday, decided they must make the move to prevent other masterpieces in Britain from being bought by foreign buyers, said trustee chairman Sir John Witt.

Last Friday the painting was sold at Christie's June 25 for $4,032,000 to Julius Weitzner, an American art dealer. On Monday it was bought by the J. Paul Getty museum at Malibu, Calif.

The price paid by Getty was the auction price plus what the dealer described as a "nominal sum." Art sources said they believed this to be about $120,000.

Strike Spreads

ROME (UPI) — Groups of sailors and railroadmen joined hotel workers today in a strike wave which a cabinet minister said has plunged the economy into recession.

Workers of Rome's main railroad station, demanding higher pay, larger staffs and a 36-hour week, called a 48-hour strike starting at 9 p.m. today.

Crews of five passenger liners in the port of Trieste called a 24-hour strike today to protest a government plan to reduce transatlantic passenger runs of state-controlled shipping lines and concentrate instead on freighters and cruise ships.

Beatle Punch?

CAMBELTOWN, Scotland (UPI)—A 24-year-old American girl said today Paul McCartney punched her on the nose. The former Beatle denied the charge.

Carolyn Mitchell, who said she came to Britain from her home in Salt Lake City two years ago just to be near the Beatles, said she clashed with McCartney last Saturday as she was watching his house from a hill side in Cambeltown.

She said she had filed a complaint with the police and written to the public prosecutor about the incident. But she said she would drop the charge if Paul apologized to her personally.

Paul refused. "There's nothing to apologize about," he told newsmen. "I admit I was rude and the words I used were very rough, but there was no rough stuff."

For Jobs Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, who vetoed a similar bill last year, says now he will sign a $2.25 billion measure to create up to 200,000 public service jobs. The bill passed Congress Thursday after conferees worked out the differences between Senat and House versions.

The measure would authorize 90 per cent federal matching grants to state and local governments to create jobs in such fields as recreation, education, health and police and fire protection whenever the national unemployment average exceeds 4.5 per cent. The current rate is 6.2 per cent.

Although it is intended primarily to put the unemployed back to work, the bill also would have the effect of helping financially pressed states and cities straining their budgets to hire additional employes, or cutting back on other services to do so.

Broader Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission, accusing the tobacco industry of unfair and deceptive advertising, Thursday proposed the health warning on cigarette packages be extended to all forms of cigarette advertising —including billboards and magazines —effective Jan. 1.

Current cigarette advertising is "a symphony of seduction with a small flute warning," said Gerald J. Thain of the FTC's Consumer Protection Bureau.

Rain Halts Agnew Tour; A Briefing

SEOUL (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew canceled a planned helicopter visit to American and South Korean troops near the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Korea today and instead received an extended top-level briefing on the military situation in the area.

The detailed, hour-long briefing was conducted by Adm. John S. McCain, commander-on-chief of U.S. Pacific forces, and Gen. J. H. Michaelis, commander of the United Nations forces in Korea and the U.S. Eighth Army.

The brief originally was scheduled to last only 20 or 30 minutes but instead was extended to an hour because Agnew's visit to troops was canceled. After the briefing, the vice president toured the underground combat operations compound, nerve center of the U.S. command.

The original schedule had called for Agnew to review honor guards at the U.N. Command and take a flight aboard a helicopter to a South Korean artillery battalion, and then to Camp Casey, about 20 miles north of Seoul, to 2nd U.S. Infantry Division headquarters.

Agnew carried out the major portion of his mission in Korea Thursday, attending the inauguration to a third four-year term of Korean President Park Chung-hee. Thursday evening Agnew was on hand at a reception and dinner held as part of the inauguration day program while fireworks illuminated rainy skies over Seoul.

While the festive program was underway, a 15-minute power failure blacked out the entire city.

Life On Mars, But 'Scummy'

SEATTLE (UPI) —A space agency scientist thinks there is life on Mars—mold-like creatures "similar to those scummy things that grow in ice boxes."

Dr. Harold P. Klein, director of life sciences at National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center in Mountain View, Calif., said he was encouraged in his belief by the recent discovery of amino acids—the so-called "building blocks of life —in two meteorites.

Klein told the international Conference on Space Research (COSPAR) that the United States will land two spacecraft on Mars in 1976 to conduct wide-ranging experiments "based on different assumptions" about possible life there.

LOSES DREAM IN A FLASH OF FIRE

Tyrone Gullixson stood stoically yesterday beside his four-year-old dream — a restored 1928 Model 'A' Ford — after a flash fire destroyed it. The Richmond man had spent $6,000 in searching for and buying parts for the car, which he finished restoring yesterday. He attached a charger to the battery to get the car ready for its first drive when the fibreglass he used to refurbish the interior caught fire and destroyed the vintage vehicle. (UPI Telephoto)

Review Of Death Penalty—Historic

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court's new look at the death penalty next term will climax a series of cases that have both supported and chipped away at capital punishment.

Of the six cases to be heard when the justices reconvene in October, four present the crucial question of whether condemning a person to electrocution, the gas chamber or hanging is the kind of "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden by the Constitution' 8th Amendment.

A decision in the affirmative would rescue 669 persoms from Death Row and any others who may be condemned between now and the date of the ruling.

Because the high court has been considering various aspects of the death penalty, no execution has taken place since June 2, 1967.

Some members of the court already have either stated or implied opposing views on the subject.

Justice Hugo L. Black, a meticulous interpreter of the Constitution, said in an opinion earlier this year:

"In my view (the 8th Amendment) cannot be read to outlaw capital punishment because that penalty was in common use and authorized by law here and in the countries from which our ancestors came at the time the amendment was adopted. It is inconceivable to me that the framers intended to end capital punishment by the amendment."

On the other hand, Justice William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall generally have dissented when the court has handed down opinions tending to shore up he death penalty.

As long ago as 1963, Douglas and Brennan wanted the court to decide whether the 8th Amendment permits execution for rape when the victim's life was not endangered. But only Former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg agreed with them and four votes are needed to bring a case into the high court. Marshall was not on the court then.

Two rape cases are among those to be heard next term. They were appealed by Lucious Jackson Jr., Savannah, Ga., an escaped convict found guilty of raping a doctor's wife after demanding refuge at her home; and Elmer Branch, Vernon, Tex., convicted of raping an elderly widow.

The court has ruled several times in the past three years on various aspects of capital punishment.

In 1968 in the famous "Witherspoon" decision it was held that individuals with scruples against the death sentence cannot automatically be kept off juries but must be questioned to determine whether, in spite of their views, they can return an unbiased verdict.

The same year the court struck down part of the Lindberg anti-kidnap law which provied that only a jury could impose the death penalty. Justice Potter Stewart, who could well be a swing man between opposing viewpoints, wrote both decisions.

He said the Lindberg law penalized an accused person's right (1) to a jury trial and (2) not to incriminate himself by pleading guilty. The natural tendency would be to plead guilty or waive a jury trial in order to avoid a possible death sentence, Stewart said.

Judge Slaps Cutbacks In Medi-Cal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Reagan administration's 10 per cent cut in Medi-Cal payments and services was officially invalidated Thursday by Superior Court Judge William M. Gallagher.

Gallagher took the final action after the attorney general's office reported that Medi-Cal Director R. Earl Brian had restored the cuts as he promised on June 15

On June 1, the judge ordered Brian to restore the health care program for the needy to levels of six months previous. Brian made the cuts last Dec. 15 to avoid what he said was a threatened $140 million budget deficit. But Gallagher ruled no such fiscal emergency existed.

The administralion cuts were successfully challenged in suits brought by the California Medical Association on behalf of doctor providers, the California Rural Legal Assistance on behalf of recipients and several other organizations along with three counties — Sacramento, Alameda and San Mateo.

Gallagher ordered the state to reimburse the three counties for losses incurred due to the Medi-Cal reductions. The amount of the losses will be established at further court proceedings.

Family Limit Seen

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. Robert W. Prehoda of the Bedford Foundation told the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions here he foresees "one-child" families by the 21st Century, reducing the world population from the present 3.5 billion to 2 billion.

New Vietnam War Crime Charge Made

LONDON (UPI)—An American Army officer charged on nationwide television Thursday night that his superiors were guilty of war crimes in Vietnam. He said that when he complained prisoners were tortured they told him, "if your stomach is to squeamish for this, stay away."

Lt. Col. Anthony B. Herbert, 41, a much-decorated officer who served both in Korea and Vietnam, was interviewed at his Atlanta, Ga., home by London's Thames Television. The interview was shown on Independent Television Network Thursday night.

According to Herbert, his superiors condoned torturing and killing of prisoners. He also said officers lived a life of swimming pools and pizza parlors and gave troops leaves as a reward for boosting the "body count" of Communists killed.

Hebert said he was making the charges because he was trying to make the U.S. Army "an honorable place."

As a result of earlier charges by Herbert, the Army began investigations in September that included Maj. Gen. John Barnes, former commander of the 173rd Airborne Infantry Brigade in Vietnam; and his deputy, Col. J. Ross Franklin. Herbert said he also came under investigation and was charged with assaulting men under his command. He said the Army then offered to drop the charge if he would not press his accusations of war crimes.

One torture incident Herbert said he witnessed was on Feb. 14, 1969, when he turned over to South Vietnamese police 15 to 17 Viet Cong suspects captured by his unit.

One of his men, Herbert said, later "came and got me and told me they were executing the prisoners.

"I ran back and they had four dead males on the ground that I'd just turned over to them — I recognized one of them — and they had a woman, and the woman was being held by the hair with the left hand, the left hand of this Vietnamese was around her throat with a knife dug in under the esophagus.

"There was this child hanging on to her trouser leg, screaming, and they had another child, pushing his face down in the sand suffocating him. An American lieutenant was conducting this thing. I grabbed hold of the lieutenant and I hollered to stop it, and they cut the woman's throat while I was still approaching them and dropped the woman to the sand. She died there in the sand."

Herbert said he then took the other prisoners from the lieutenant and refused to give them back when ordered to do so by Franklin via radio. But he said they were killed by the lieutenant and his Vietnamese counterparts before they could be evacuated from the area. He did not identify the lieutenant.

Man Killed After Bus Ejection

BARSTOW, Calif. (UPI)—Leroy Carson, 41, ejected from a bus Thursday for yelling obscenities, was struck and killed by a car on the freeway offramp.

Don Ames, Greyhound bus driver, said he ordered Carson off his bus because he refused to stop his "loud, vulgar language."

A truck driver told the California Highway Patrol he saw Carson later on an offramp of Interstate highway 40, 36 miles east of Barstow, lying on the pavement and screaming. The driver, James Rose, said he tried to stop and help Carson, but before he could do anything, Carson was hit and killed by a car. The driver of the car was not held.

34 Strep Cases Reported In Marin

Thirty-four cases of streptococcus infections were reported last week in Marin County, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

There were also 22 cases of gonorrhea, one of rubella, one of syphyllis, two of tuberculosis, three of salmonella and five of infectious hepatitis.

Speaker Sees Nixon Optimistic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House speaker Carl Albert said Thursday he believes President Nixon is optimistic about ending the Vietnam War "And I think that optimism is well founded."

"But I think he should more frequently express to the people his own confidence in the programs he is fostering and the successes he is having," the Oklahoma Democrat told a news conference.

Albert, who had breakfast alone with Nixon earlier this week, emphasized that his allegiance to the Democratic Party was unchanged.

NO PARKING AREA: INTRUDER

The irony was in a "No parking" sign today when an auto, driven by a Redwood City man, careened into a fence at Highway 101 and Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael. San Rafael police officer James M. Craddock (left) and Officer Dale Erskine of the California Highway Patrol view the wreck. The driver, Ferdinand Shelton, 21, was unhurt, although he wound up in Marin County Jail — booked on suspicion of drunken driving, the CHP said. Two other persons in the car also were unhurt in the 8:15 a.m. mishap. (Independent-Journal photo)

REPORT

While the unpublicized actions were being taken, the Pentagon papers said, the United States was taking other military political steps that were given "consieerable publicity."

They included accelerated military construction efforts in Thailand and South Vietnam, the pre-positioning of stockpiles of supplies in Thailand and the Philippines, the forward deployment of a carrier task force and land-based tactical aircraft within close striking distance of relevant enemy targets, and the assignment of an "unprecedentedly high level" first team to man the U. S. diplomatic mission in Saigon.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers appealed to the press Thursday to voluntarily withhold publication of information from the Pentagon study which would "harm the security of the United States." Rogers said the government remained ready to lend its assistance in identifying any documents "which if disclosed would result in such harm."

The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday the government had failed to prove its case that disclosure of the documents would damage the national security and that newspapers were free to publish all of the study.

Four newspapers that have used material from the report indicated they would continue to do their own editing. They were The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Boston Globe, and The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Rogers said one ambassador called on him recently and said his government no longer could trust the United States because of the publication of disclosures about U. S. decision-making in Vietnam. Rogers said the ambassador explained that his government had been assured that the diplomatic role it had agreed to play for the United States never would be revealed.

The Washington Post, using material from the report, said today President Kennedy was told late in 1961 that if Hanoi and Peking overtly intervened in South Vietnam after the first U. S. troops were sent there, the United States would require no more than six divisions, or about 205,000 men, in Southeast Asia.

The Post said Kennedy in essence accepted the recommendations of his advisers "for a fateful step into direct involvement in the war."

The New York Times said today Gen. William C. Westmoreland's troop requests for Vietnam jumped from 175,000 in June, 1965, to 542,000 one year later. The Times said this happened because "no one really foresaw what the troop needs in Vietnam would be."

American officials also "consistently underrated" the ability of the North Vietnam to build up its forces, the Times said.

Meanwhile former Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Thursday that despite the Pentagon study on the Vietnam War, President Lyndon B. johnson had "no plans to bomb North Vietnam during the 1964 presidential campaign."

"People ought to read all that he said during the campaign," said Rusk. "He had no plans to bomb North Vietnam during the campaign although there were people on the staff who were working out all sorts of contingencies.

"But these (contingencies) were not President Johnson's plans."

The comments in the Athens (GA.) Daily News were the first by Rusk on the controversial Pentagon sludy. Rusk, a professor of international law at the University of Georgia, said he had withheld comment until after the Supreme Court's ruling in the case.

Also the Pentagon is urging President Nixon to withdraw U.S. troops from South Vietnam at an even faster rate, both for military reasons and because of race and narcotics problems, according to the Los Angeles Times.

B Of A Announces Student Loans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A $12 million loan program to help medical students in California was announced Thursday by the Bank of America, the American Medical Society, the Guggenheim Foundation and the Sloan Foundation.

The bank committed the money, with the society guaranteeing repayment and the foundations offering to pay the interest while the students still are in school.

Bond Vote Eyed By Rec Panel

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission last night turned to thoughts of a bond election as it analyzed budget cuts proposed by the city council.

Recreation Director James Pekkain said the commission reviewed the cuts suggested by City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan that would reduce the $169,200 budget proposed by the commission to $103,390 for 1971-72.

The most drastic cut was $48,000 for park purchases and development which the commission has requested for the future purchase of a regional park and two neighborhood parks.

Pekkain said the commission agreed that capital improvements must be cut to keep the city budget within set limits and said it would give serious consideration to putting a park bond issue to the voters perhaps later in the year.

The commission has applied for state and federal park grants for the regional park and heard that many grants allow only three months for the city to come up with matching funds.

"messenger boy" who has not been given the power to come to an agreement with employees.

Police and firemen, who do not belong to the AFSCME unit, are not involved in the walkout.

Employees plan to picket the golf course, library and corporation yard during the holiday weekend. Cunningham said the golf course will continue to operate, but the library will be closed until Tuesday.

The city's sewage treatment plant continued to operate normally today, manned by supervisory personnel and department heads under the direction of Ross Benson, public works director.

Strikers said a group of women at the golf course this morning abandoned plans to play golf and joined the picket line there. Other residents on their way to city hall have helped with picketing, too, they said.

warned "many officers will be leaving."

Del Santo said the city's action is in violation of its own resolution governing negotiations. The resolution, he said, requires that both parties "meet and confer in good faith" and makes allowance for mediation if an impasse is reached.

"They have not negotiated in good faith," he said, adding that the city has made no counter proposals to the police officers' requests. Further, he said, no mediation has been attempted.

Officers asked for a 7.5 per cent cost-of-living increase this fiscal year, an increase of $50 per year in clothing allowance for each employee, a longevity plan representing a 2.5 per cent pay increase to employees at the five and 10-year employment level and purchase of a life insurance policy for each officer. (San Anselmo officers currently do not have city-financed life insurance.)

"A year ago we got a good pay raise which brought us in line with other departments," Lt. Howenstein said. "That was after the department lost five good men. The city is going to start the whole cycle over again."

Howenstein called on citizens to demand the city reconsider its position.

San Rafael Youth Booked In Dope

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth was arrested for possession of marijuana yesterday at the Marin County Jail where he was brought in for a probation violation.

Douglas Lloyd Austin of 362 Irwin Street was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said Austin had a cellophane bag of brown-green vegetable matter in his pocket when booked into jail.

Terra Linda CSD Panel Sets Budget

A $70,655 budget was approved last night by the Terra Linda Community Services District board after a 15-minute public hearing that was unattended.

Richard L. Less, vice chairman, said the board approved the 1971-72 budget as proposed with one change. Due to a $200 increase in general insurance, that item was changed to $3,203 from $3,003 and $200 taken from the depreciation fund, leaving $1,800.

Less said only a few firemen listened to the brief session which was held at the firehouse in San Rafael.

Because of increased assessed valuation, the tax rate is expected to go down to about 84.8 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The existing tax rate is 88.5 cents.

Although the tax rate will show a decrease, property owners will pay more because of the increase from 23 to 25 per cent in assessed valuation.

Man Booked In Pot Probe

A 26-year-old San Francisco man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of marijuana possession after he was arrested while sitting in a van in Sausalito's Municipal Parking Lot No. 3.

Officers said they noticed a flickering light, like a fire, through the van's open door about 10:20 a.m. and went to investigate. Police said they found Franklin Anthony Adams Spagnola sitting cross-legged in the vehicle, with his eyes closed and a corncob pipe covered with tinfoil on a table in font of him.

When questioned by police, Spagnola allegedly told officers he was "stoning, man" and was arrested after officers noticed the pipe contained a substance believed to be hashish.

Bail had not yet been set for Spagnola, who was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

BRIDGE BOND RETIRES IN FLAMES

With a $2.8 million check, the Golden Gate Bridge District yesterday paid off the last of the $35 million in bonds that financed the span's construction from 1933 to 1937. Board president Lowell Edington of Napa County, flanked by officials of the district and Bank of America, burns one of the 35,000 $1,000 bonds to symbolize their retirement. The bank headed a syndicate that bought the bonds in the depth of the Depression. (Independent-Journal photo)

Meeting On Bus Future Postponed

A meeting to decide the future of Marin Transit Systems, scheduled for Tuesday by Marin Transit District directors, has been postponed to July 13.

The meeting will be at 8:30 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers in the Civic Center.

James B. Robertson, acting district general manager, said the meeting was postponed to accommodate two directors who cannot attend this coming Tuesday — San Anselmo Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson and Tiburon Mayor Denis T. Rice.

Marin Transit Systems, a Marin City — based private company, has been operating limited service since early last year under subsidies from the transit district and the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The bridge district, however, plans to start operating its own fleet of 152 buses by Dec. 1, and its staff opposes including the private company within its operation.

POW Wife Reacts To Red's Proposal

A San Rafael woman whose husband is a prisoner of war in North Vietnam said today she views the new communist peace proposal with suspicion.

Julie Butler, whose husband, Air Force Captain William Butler, was shot down near Hanoi in 1967, told the Independent-Journal she looks at the proposal, revealed at the Paris Peace talks yesterday, with "a little more caution than the headlines would make everyone feel."

Vietnamese Communist negotiators offered yesterday to couple the release of POWs with withdrawal of American troops by Dec. 31 this year. Mrs. Butler said the statement "didn't tell me anything. I'm always optimistic but we (POW wives) . . . have been disappointed so much."

The proposal was one of seven offered by the Communists yesterday to end the war, and Mrs. Butler expressed hope the prisoner issue could be negotiated by itself. However, she feared, "If we ever get down to discussing this new proposal, they would also want to discuss their other points."

Other points in the Communists's program called for cessation of all U.S. military and economic aid to South Vietnam; dismantling of U.S. military bases and institution of a coalition government in South Vietnam.

Mrs. Butler criticized U.S. senators whom she said "have made an about face" on the POW question. She mentioned Indiana Democrat Vance Hartke, and said that she has tapes of a speech Hartke gave in March to a Washington, D.C., high school and college group in which he said he was not adverse to leaving POWs behind if necessary.

She said she supports President Richard M. Nixon's efforts to secure release of prisoners before withdrawing all U.S. troops. "I hate to keep tying it to a poker game, but I'm really worried about what will happen to our men if we take away the cards he (Nixon) has to play with," she said.

Mrs. Butler is Northern California coordinator for the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southwest Asia.

Says Bernadette: 'I'm Pregnant'

DUBLIN (UPI)- Bernadette Devlin, civil rights leader in Northern Ireland, said today she is pregnant and unmarried.

Miss Devlin, a Roman Catholic and member of the British Parliament, told of her pregnancy in an interview with the Irish Times.

Mary Cummins, a close friend of Miss Devlin's who conducted the interview, asked her: "Who is the father?"

"I am not saying," Miss Devlin replied. She also refused to say why she would not identify the father.

Miss Devlin said she has ruled out an abortion on moral grounds.

"My moral position on abortion is that I would not be able to justify it to myself," she said.

'Colleges Of Indian Valley'—Too Much

"I've had great difficulty in swallowing the name, 'Colleges of Indian Valley'," declared Trustee Theodore C. Wellman.

That's the name the board approved June 22 on the basis of suggestions from a citizens' committee advising the district on the future north campus.

"'Indian Valley Colleges' is long enough," Wellman insisted last night. "I echo that," declared Trustee Frances Compton.

Trustee Martin J. Dean unsuccessfully proposed waiting until the board's July 15 meeting to allow further consideration by Novato residents. Whatever name is chosen, he warned, "we're going to have to live with it for years to come."

Dr. Ernest H. Berg, president of the north campus, reported the campus council favored "Indian Valley Colleges" and wanted to name the first three cluster colleges "Miwok," "Pacheco" and "Novato."

After considerable debate, the trustees voted 4-0, with Trustee Charles R. Best abstaining, to label it "Indian Valley Colleges." They postponed deciding on the individual college names to await further community recommendations.

Marin Community College District Also:

SPECIAL — Set a campus familiarization tour for the entire board and especially the three new trustees for 7 p.m. Tuesday with Dale A. Fleming, director of campus planning. The board will make a detailed inspection of the art building, proposed for remodeling.

ART BUILDING — Approved educational specifications and authorized Fleming to begin preliminary plans for remodeling of the art building, estimated to cost $431,000. The 1971-72 college budget contains $27,000 carryover funds for working drawings.

LIBRARY — Without knowing for certain that Gov. Ronald Reagan will leave intact state budget allocations for the $3 million library proposed for the Kentfield campus, voted 4-0 to authorize Fleming to prepare bid specifications. Chairman Donald K. Felt, long a critic of the building's austere design, declared, "I won't vote for it."

CAPITAL PROGRAM — Agreed to a workshop session at 8 p.m. Wednesday with the citizens advisory finance committee to discuss six or seven alternate plans for long-range financing of the two campuses' construction projects.

CREEK — Retroactively approved raising the level of the creekbed for the "old meander" portion of Corte Madera Creek to prevent stagnant water from ponding. Trees in the creek will be protected with the installation of irrigation pipes, Fleming assured Mrs. Compton.

WORKSHOPS — Tentatively agreed to meet from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. July 29 and Aug. 3 for workshops on plans for Indian Valley Colleges.

BUSES — Heard a warning from Gregory C. Fearon, student body vice president, that Marin Transit System bus service would be the subject of a crucial Marin Transit District board meeting Tuesday, and that the students might lose the service. Board members instructed staff to help prepare data on collegians' use of the buses.

Home With View Plan Withdrawn

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A couple's plan to build a home in Tiburon on pilings over San Francisco Bay in order to get a better view of the Golden Gate Bridge was withdrawn abruptly yesterday.

The Bay Conservation and Development Commission, scheduled to vote on a fill permit to allow Mr. and Mrs. John C. McGuire of San Francisco to build the structure, was told the applicants do not wish to pursue the plan.

Chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park said he understood the McGuires, who withdrew their application only yesterday morning, will submit an amended plan.

The application was for a two-story house and boat dock, 90 per cent of which would be build on pilings, and a swimming pool and two rental units on dry land at 2326 and 2330 Mar East Street.

At the June 17 BCDC meeting, an attorney for the McGuires said the house must be built over the bay to afford a view of the Golden Gate Bridge that otherwise would be blocked by a nearby duplex.

Women Doctors

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)— More than one-fifth of the 77 students entering Stanford University School of Medicine this fall will be women, the university announced Thursday.

About 1.7 million persons, some 40 per cent of Hong Kong's population, live in government-aided, low-cost housing.

Donald Felt New College Board Chief

Donald K. Felt was elected president of the Marin Community College District board last night, and three new trustees were sworn into office.

Taking their seats for the first time were Frances Compton, Charles R. Best and Martin J. Dean.

Felt's election was unanimous, as were the votes for Charles W. Gray as vice president and Theodore C. Wellman as clerk of the board.

The newcomers outnumbered the veteran trustees at the meeting. From the latter group, only Felt and Wellman were on hand. Gray and Robert E. Oliver were absent.

Felt reappointed Dist. Supt.-President John A. Grasham as secretary to the board and named Best to represent the board on the County Committee on School District Organization. Mrs. Compton was appointed representative to the California Junior College Association and the California School Boards Association.

Board members indicated they probably would change their regular meeting date to the first and third Wednesdays of the month, but postponed a decision until their next regular meeting July 15.

Youths Hurt In Car Crash

Two Marinwood teen-agers were hospitalized yesterday after a one-car accident on Lucas Valley Road west of Mount McKinley Drive.

A passenger, Irving F. Tompkins, 17, of 2742 Heatherstone Drive, was in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco with a broken jaw.

The California Highway Patrol said their car ran off the road and hit a utility pole at 4:20 p.m.

Sunnyvale Driver Hurt In Collision

A Sunnyvale woman was injured yesterday when her car struck a Town of Ross pickup which had turned unexpectedly in front of her on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross police said.

The woman, Elsie Annes, 54, was treated for forearm scrapes at Marin General Hospital. The mishap occurred at 1:50 p.m.

The truth is: you can.

At Rancho del Norte in the Sonoma Hills — a mere hour's drive from the Golden Gate Bridge — you can enjoy all the convenience of a private club without the overwhelming expense. For annual family membership of $200 and monthly dues of $5.00, you have 305 acres of outdoor recreation available to you 365 days a years.

When you compare that to the total cost of weekend excursions with your family over the year, the economics alone show you the advantage of belonging to Rancho del Norte. But there are many other advantages, too.

Rolling hills, a year-round creek, riding stables, livestock corrals, a large swimming pool, beautiful camping area, a five-acre lake (currently under construction), and a recreation lodge — all for you to enjoy as you will . . . when you will. Reservations are never necessary. And because our membership is limited, you'll never be crowded.

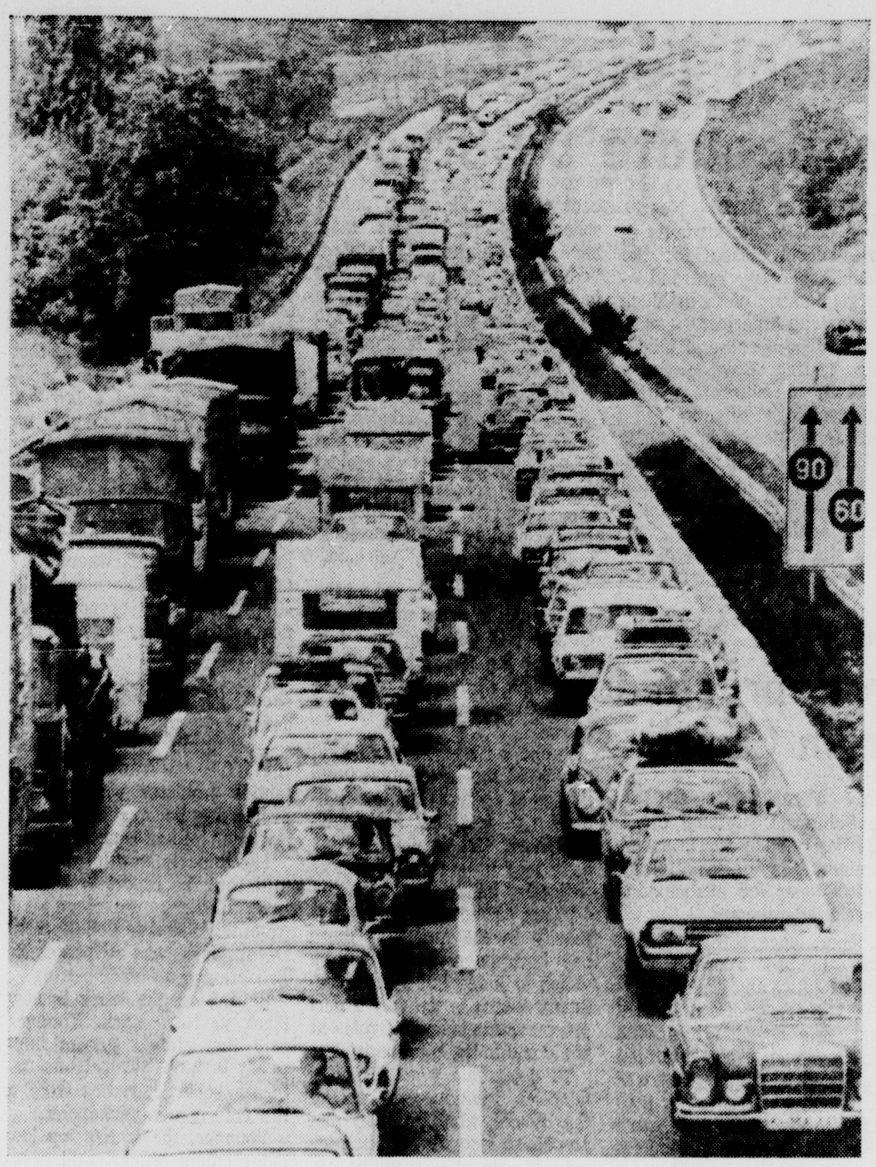
Come take a look for yourself . . . this weekend or next. Bring the entire family and enjoy a full day at Rancho del Norte at no cost to you whatsoever. There's a free barbecue, a large open space where your children can wander, and ample time for you to explore the grounds and lodge on your own.

How to get to Rancho del Norte

Go north on Highway 101 to the River Road exit (approximately 4 miles above Santa Rosa). Proceed east. You'll know you're on the right road if you come to a stop sign in a couple of blocks with a Texaco station on the right. Continue on this road (which goes to Calistoga) for 8 miles. (This road changes names twice — from River Road to Mark West Springs to Porter Creek Road, so do not be confused.) At this point watch for our mailbox and small sign on the right. The address is 3485 Porter Creek Road. Turn immediately to the left over a small bridge and follow the signs to the lodge. The Resident Manager will be there to greet you. Our telephone number: (707) 545-4898.



NO, NOT IN AMERICA

Official Nod To Fund For CRLA

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A $2.65 million, 17-month grant for the California Rural Legal Assistance was officially approved Thursday as Gov. Ronald Reagan and the federal government agreed on special conditions for the agency.

Also announced yesterday by CRLA was the appointment to its 25-member board of directors of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. Bagley commended the Nixon Administration for contiuing "a much needed mechanism of government."

The assemblyman, who had differed openly with the Reagan Administration in its effort to kill CRLA, said he was "sorry that we had to go through six months of public pyrotechnics, with unfounded accusations being made against CRLA, in order to achieve orderly procedures These could have been achieved by simply making constructive suggestions to the Nixon Administration last December."

Cruz Reynoso, director of the agency which had been criticized by the governor, hailed the approval and said, "There is a real possibility that we are moving toward general agreement on some of the basic issues affecting needed legal representation for the poor."

Special conditions provide that the poverty agency shall maintain liaison with the State Office of Economic Opportunity and take part in planning an experiment aimed at delivering additional means of delivering legal services in the state.

Acting on a study by the State OEO, the governor had vetoed a grant by the federal OEO to the CRLA.

Frank Carlucci, federal OEO director, ordered a study by a judicial commission which in the main backed the CRLA and the $2.65 million grant resulted.

Another special condition says that CRLA attorneys shall not provide legal services to labor unions or to defendants in criminal cases.

The agency is authorized to engage in "class actions" and impact cases in which one court ruling may affect large numbers of the poor. In that regard, it is allowed to assign low priority to cases which offer "little potential help in alleviating poverty."

Innocent Plea To Drug Counts

Clayton Stephen Anderson, 22, of San Rafael has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of selling amphetamine, cocaine and mescaline; two counts of selling marijuana; cultivating marijuana, and maintaining a place for selling and using narcotics.

Preliminary hearing was set Tuesday for July 13.

Preliminary hearings previously were set for that date for three codefendants who were arrested with Anderson June 4 when Marin Drug Abuse agents went to their residence with a warrant.

Mrs. Hill Leaves $2½ Million Estate

Miss Hills, who was 82, was the daughter of Edward W. Hopkins, treasurer of the Central Pacific Railway.

Criminal Justice Panel Has Session

The new four-county Regional Criminal Justice Planning board, through which federal grant applications by police agencies will be funneled, got under way last night with an organizational meeting in Napa.

John F. Barrows, acting Marin County administrator, is serving as intermim chairman of the board.

San Rafael attorney Bella Aaron was named as Marin's public representative at last night's session. Other Marin representatives are Fairfax Councilman Lee Nelder, Corte Madera Police Chief David L. McIntosh, Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

The board set another meeting for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Napa.

When preliminary organization is completed, the board will begin reviewing and setting priorities for grant applications from Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties, Barrows said.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash

The California Highway Patrol said John E. Loeber was injured at 4:25 p.m. when his motorcycle, eastbound on Lucas Valley Road, collided with a westbound car driven by Betty Ann Horick, 48, of Nob Hill Road, Point Reyes Station.

Officers said Loeber had taken a curve too wide and was on the wrong side of the road.

Permit For Beer Garden Is Denied

The Cotati City Council last night denied a permit for an outdoor beer garden after hearing protests from neighboring residents.

The council overturned a planning commission decision to grant a permit to William W. Snelling to operate a beer garden terrace at the Barrel of Suds Bar, La Plaza.

Neighbors of the bar complained in a petition that outdoor drinking and music would disturb them.

In other action, the council approved 3-1 a resolution increasing sewer and water connection fees from $50 to $125 per living unit, effective Jan. 1. Councilman Herbert Winter dissented, saying the lower rate would attract more development.

The council denied Police Chief Tony Locarini's request to permit reserve police officers to ride alone in patrol cars. Locarini argued that reserve officers were experienced and had nearly as much training as regular officers.

Partners Make Le Tonneau A Popular, Pleasant Restaurant

Now well into its stride and picking up momentum in the Paradise Shopping Center in Corte Madera is Le Tonneau, operated by two Italians and one Frenchman.

For a three-way partnership, this is about as compatible an alliance as you can find anywhere and no one member seems to step on the toes of the other two. Bernard Epstein's say-so in the dining room is never questioned and he in turn doesn't interfere with the cocktail lounge presided over by John Napoli and Angelo Camilleri. When it comes to arranging the decor, Angelo is the one who has his say and you can credit him with both the design and all the work that has been done here.

A musician himself, John's word is taken on who should be the entertainers here and he has come up with some good ones — witness Nancy Valencia who plays at the Baldwin and sings.

All this makes for a happy family and where there is restaurant harmony there is also pleasure for those who go there. Le Tonneau has developed its own following and it's not unusual to find a mayor or judge or a state senator among the dinner patrons.

Bernard's menu is an exceptionally extensive one, appealing to any number of tastes. And he has the happy faculty of being able to come up with something new on short notice if the occasion seems to call for it. His new veal Bette is a triumph. It's not on the menu but if it gets any kind of play from the customers it jolly well should be there.

If you can still find room at the end of the meal, top it off with Bernard's zabaione, or his custard which is something like flan except for the flavoring.

THE FOURTH OF JULY WEEKEND may make some difference in the schedule of some restaurants.

La Petite Auberge in San Rafael, for instance, is open tonight and tomorrow night but will close Sunday, the Fourth — and of course it is also closed regularly on Mondays.

RUBINI'S IN Fairfax is also open tonight and tomorrow night, but will be closed Sunday — and of course on its regular closing days, Monday and Tuesday.

It will then open again Wednesday night when the Giant Boosters plan on holding their bimonthly meeting —this one in preparation for leaving on Thursday for the important series with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

EARLIER THIS MONTH the McNear's Beach Snack Bar and Restaurant concession in San Rafael was acquired from the county by Paul Powell of Mill Valley and Don Brown of San Francisco.

All through the summer they are keeping it open seven days a week until school opens again in September. Hours are from noon until 6 p.m. during the week and from 10 a.m. on weekends. It has all the burgers, sandwiches, hot dogs and soft drinks that go with this type of operation and probably will be doing all kinds of business this Fourth of July weekend.

Other facilities at McNear's are two swimming pools, a wading pool, tennis courts — and of course San Pablo Bay on the water side.

CHANGES have been taking place at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda.

First of all, innkeeper Jim Stuart has left and has been replaced by Sam Standard, formerly general manager at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco and a hotel man from way back. He has been a San Rafael resident for the past three years.

And new director of food and beverages is none other than Black Hat chef Pierre Bitterer, whom you won't see wearing his black hat there, since he will also act as maitre d' in the dining room. You can expect this area to be continually ablaze with flambe dishes. It's Pierre's strong point and he has about 30 he prepares at the table.

For music, the entire Steve Carney Trio now plays Wednesday through Saturday nights.

"WHAT MARIN COUNTY NEEDS is another restaurant." This is a remark you've heard more than once —not always intended affirmatively.

But one I have often thought it does need is a good Japanese restaurant. And it now appears that we should get one before the summer is over. It should do well.

Otafuku is the name and the location is 2130 Fourth Street on the San Rafael Miracle Mile — now being remodeled since the former occupant here, House of Kwan Yin, moved to its own building on Red Hill Avenue, San Anselmo at the other end of this stretchway.

Owners of the Otafuku will be Tsutomo Inoo and Charles and Michiko Fauset of Forest Knolls. The former was in the restaurant business 25 years in Japan, so look for an authentic operation. Mrs. Fauset said they had been advised to open in San Francisco because there are more Japanese there. But who said Japanese people are the only ones who like to eat at a Japanese restaurant?

Anyway — San Francisco has a handful of them. We haven't any.

No opening is expected before Aug. 28 — to give time to set up a complete Japanese motif. There will be kimono'd waitresses, a choice of many Japanese dishes and a big party room. A wine and beer license will be sought. Certainly you must drink sake with your food. There is ample offstreet parking here.

Otafuku will probably be open for both lunches and dinners six days a week, closing on Sundays.

NEW MANAGER at Peacock Gap Country Club is Mrs. Carroll Young, who for five years was manager at Timber Cove Lodge up the coast. She also managed a restaurant in Sun Valley.

Lunch menu is being reorganized and you can expect some changes here. I'd like to see dinners served again.

ENTERTAINMENT scheduled for the Lion's Share in San Anselmo tonight and through Sunday is by Mike Finnigan and Friends.

WE ARE SORRY TO LEARN that complications seem to have set in and Ramona Stalings is now in the Brookside Hospital in Richmond.

Consequently it is likely to be a little while before she is able to return and reopen her little Mexican restaurant on C Street, San Rafael.

We wish her a speedy recovery.

ANOTHER TEMPORARY CLOSING is the Normandie on the San Rafael Mracle Mile.

Michel Braud and Andre Marquer are taking a week off, so the restaurant will be closed starting Sunday, the Fourth, through Tuesday, July 13. It will reopen for business as usual on the 14th.

Garden Shop Extension Set

The Corte Madera Board of Design has approved plans for extending the garden shop of Montgomery Ward and Co. at 49 Corte Madera Center.

The plans, designed by Wards Regional Engineering office, are for an increase of one-third the area of the outdoor garden shop, according to Morgan Griffiths, board vice chairman.

The board on Tuesday approved plans by Brown McCurdy-Nerrie, Architecture and Planning, for a small addition to the Marin Montessori Nursery School and approved house plans for Ron Stewart at 14 Summit Drive and Mrs. Stephanie Flagg at 138 Buena Vista.

Music Post Goes To Larry Snyder

Larry Snyder, former Marinite and Dean of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, has joined the music department faculty at Sonoma State College.

Snyder was with the conservatory for the past four years and had taught at College of Marin for six years previous to that. He was also musical director for the festival theatre in San Anselmo for six years.

At Sonoma State he will teach history of opera, piano and supervise the practice teaching of music education students. His wife, Zilpha Keatley Snyder, writes children's books.

New Flea Market Set For Opening

The People's Community Market, successor to the Potpourri Flea Market in Corte Madera, will open in a new location in Marin City this weekend.

About 150 vendors are expected to participate, according to Arlene Booker and Dennis Monahan, owners of the operation sponsored by the Marin City Community Services District.

Marin City churches will sell soul food at the market, which will be held Saturday and Sunday. Natural foods, handicrafts and fine arts will also be offered for sale.

Mrs. Booker, a Novato teacher, and Monahan, public relations man for stockbroker firms, moved their market from its Corte Madera site on the Redwood Highway because the land was sold to an auto agency.

The market will be located on Donahue Street, south of the Marin City Sheriff's substation near the Highway 101 entrance to Marin City and will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days., the owners said.

Parking will be provided north of the substation and 25 per cent of all gross proceeds from parking and space leasing will go to Marin City organizations, Mrs. Booker said.

Grand opening ceremonies for the People's Market will be held July 24 and 25, she said.

Persons wishing to participate in the market or seeking further information may contact the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

Penry Banquet Slated Monday

Petaluma's Congressional Medal of Honor winner Richard A. Penry will be honored at a civic banquet Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the Green Mill Inn, Cotati.

Penry, who works at the restaurant as an assistant chef, received the award from President Richard M. Nixon two weeks ago. The Petaluma City Council has set Monday aside as "Richard Penry Day."

School Tests Held Inadequate By Study

RIVERSIDE, (BW) — Nearly 75 per cent of the students in public school classes for the educable mentally retarded — a large number of them black and Mexican-American — may be misplaced because of inadequate testing procedures, a University of California at Riverside sociologist reports.

Dr. Jane Mercer is a UCR associate professor of sociology, working under an $850,000 grant from the National Institute on Mental Health.

Her studies show that 74 per cent of the children in public schools special classes may have been improperly labeled "educable mentally retarded" because of testing methods which do not take a child's social and cultural background into account.

"Only 26 per cent of them would have been labeled as such if the school psychologist had studied the child's performance out of school and his family's social and cultural background in addition to looking at his I.Q. score," she said.

"The I.Q. test is based on the white middle class society and culture and does not take into account the social background or culture of those stdents who are not white or middle class," she said.

Public schools have long evaluated the intellectual functioning of students via the standard I.Q. test, the sociologist explained, but rarely, if ever, have they measured the child's "adaptive behavior."

"This," she said, "is due primarily to the fact that there has been no scale or test by which to judge this type of behavior which is the way a person performs his social roles at home and in the community."

To determine what a child's adaptive behavior was out of the school situation, she and associates interviewed the parents of educable mentally retarded children in two Riverside school districts.

"When we measured the adaptive behavior of these children by talking to the parents, we found that quite a few were passing this test while failing the I.Q. test," she said. "These children had been evaluated as mentally retarded but their behavior out of school was very similar to that of 'average' children."

Another facet of the research dealt with the social and cultural background of the child's family, which she insists must be taken into account in evaluating mental retardation.

Lawyer Hit In Reprimand From Court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Supreme Court yesterday publicly reprimanded prominent Los Angeles attorney Grant Cooper for misbehavior before a federal court.

Cooper, once Sirhan B. Sirhan's defense attorney, had pleaded guilty and was convicted on two counts of contempt of court. One charged him with obtaining and using recorded grand jury testimony that was still secret. The other concerned making false statements about his source. A federal court fined Cooper $500 on each count.

The California Supreme Court referred the matter to the State Bar for investigation of whether the charges involved moral turpitude.

The disciplinary board of the State Bar determined that the false statements count was moral turpitude and recommended discipline.

"This court ... has concluded that Cooper's conduct did involve moral turpitude and that he should be publicly reprimanded. This opinion will serve as such reprimand," the Supreme Court said.

The court could have punished Cooper with disbarment or suspension, but did not do so.

Task Force On Gambling Says 'No'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Attorney General Evelle J. Younger yesterday urged the California Legislature not to legalize casino-type gambling and said the state should not "touch off-track betting with a 10-foot pole."

Younger released a law enforcement task force study on the subject of legalized gambling.

Its major conclusions were:

—Lottery and bingo have not caused great law enforcement problems in states where they are legal, but California should study their socio- economic aspects more closely before legalizing them.

— Casino-type gambling should not be made legal "under any circumstances."

The Republican attorney general sent the report to legislative leaders, including Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, who advocates legalization of off-track betting.

Betting off the track is now legal in New York. Younger said that state's system "appears to have several unsatisfactory characteristics from a law enforcement standpoint."

Younger, the state's top law enforcement officer, said problems in New York include a system where state OTB officials are "subject to political appointment and removal."

He said the idea that OTB will drive bookies out of business is "unsound."

There's a big storm coming," Younger said of the New York system. Asked if he expects a scandal, he said, "I'm afraid it's going to happen."

"We don't want to touch off-track betting with a 10-foot pole," the attorney general told a news conference. California should at least "wait and see what happens in New York in two or three years."

FAMILY

"Song of Norway" - An operetta based on the early life of Edvard Grieg. The scenic splendor of Norway and magnificent music make a family spectacular that is outstanding and entertaining.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" - Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Zeppelin" - World War I spy story about a British double agent. The details about zeppelins are of interest, but the story is a routine romantic melodrama.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Andromeda Strain" - A team of trained scientists race against time trying to identify a fatal disease transported to earth by a space probe staellite. Settings and technical scientific details are fascinating. Destruction of people and animals might be frightening for young children.

"Big Jake" - A more violent than usual western for John Wayne. He is called upon to rescue a kidnapped grandson he has never seen and pay a million dollars ransom. He takes the law into his own hands to exact his own concept of just retribution. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" - A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits. Imaginative camera work, wonderful score and witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Chisum" - Based on actual characters and incidents during the cattle war in New Mexico in 1878. The usual routine violence and murder. Good of it kind.

"Executioneer" - International espionage with British spy suspecting a double agent in their own home office. Finding proof is entangled with various mistresses in and out of favor. Incredible number of corpses pile up before the truth is out.

"Love Story" - Film is pure romantic excapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Plaza Suite" Screen adaptation of three comic short plays which all take place in suite 719 of the Plaza Hotel in New York. A treat for Walter Matthau fans.

"Von Richthofen and Brown" - Air battles between German flying aces and their British counterparts are realistic but there is little character development. The vintage planes are interesting.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bananas" - A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Getting Straight" - Rebellion and rioting among students on a college campus as experienced by a student-teacher is a cynical melodrama. Sex scenes and foul language abundant. For Elliot Gould fans.

"Going Down the Road" - Realistic tragedy about poor, uneducated and untrained men who leave squalid homes for the big city in hopes of finding success. Grim, earthy and dull in spots with some tasteless nudity.

"Little Big Man" - A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121 year old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody, with some sex scenes.

"Man Called Horse" - Absorbing but sickeningly violent drama of Sioux Indians and an Englishman they captured and treat like a horse until he proves his manhood according to their standards.

"Two Mules For Sister Sara" - Set in Old Mexico when the guerillas were attempting to chase the French out of their country. An American mercenary and a prostitute disguised as a Catholic nun become involved with the struggle. Bloody violence and much profanity, some nudity.

ADULTS ONLY

"Five Easy Pieces" - A self indulgent, but talented man seeks love on different levels, but is unable to return it. Explicit sex and crude dialogue.

"Klute" - A small town detective and a big city call girl find each other while hunting a murderer. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"M.A.S.H." - Nothing excapes the mockery of this ribald blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Very adult satire.

Police Probe Set By Grand Jury

The Sausalito Police Department will be investigated by the Marin Grand Jury, Milen C. Dempster, jury foreman, said today.

The investigation was requested June 21 by Sausalito Mayor Alexander R. Imlay, who asked the jury to look into charges of an alleged arrest "quota system" in the police department.

In a letter to Imlay today, Dempster said the jury had decided to undertake such an investigation.

"It is the desire of the grand jury to thoroughly review the records of the police department and to interview as many persons as necessary to reach as accurate a conclusion as possible," Dempster wrote.

The foreman requested the cooperation of Sausalito city personnel and asked that all Sausalito police records be made available for the investigation.

The investigation, which Dempster said would begin in three weeks, will include interviews with members of the police department and may require officers to testify at jury hearings, his letter said.

Mayor Imlay said today he was "very pleased" at the jury's decision to proceed with the investigation.

"I think it is in the public interest to eliminate rumors and doubts" about the police department, he said.

Imlay had requested the investigation after newspaper reports and testimony at the drunken driving trail of state board of equalization member William M. Bennett suggested that Sausalito policemen must make a certain number of arrests in order to be eligible for promotion and pay increases.

Imlay said the "quota system" charges may have raised doubts about the Sausalito department in the minds of citizens that a "mere statement from the mayor, the city council or the police chief would not dispel."

At the time of Imlay's request, Sausalito police chief James D. Wright said he would welcome a grand jury investigation because the police department had nothing to hide.

Budget Bid For Bridge Promotion

An $87,500 budget to promote bus and ferry services this fiscal year by the Golden Gate Bridge District was endorsed yesterday by the district's legislation-public relations committee.

The total included advertising in the news media, fees to public relations consultants and other expenses. Of the total, $80,000 was for the bus system and $7,500 for the Sausalito ferry.

The district's 152-bus fleet is scheduled to begin operations in December.

The committee also agreed to send six district officials to Barcelona, Spain, all expenses paid, to attend the annual convention in September of the International Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association.

The committee's recommendations will be reviewed by the finance committee.

Shakespeare Workshop Getting Ready For Full Summer Season

Classes and rehearsals are under way at the College of Marin drama department's summer Shakespeare workshop, which will culminate in the staging of the comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and the tragedy, "Macbeth."

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" will open at 8 p.m. next Friday in the college's Fine Arts Theater and also will be performed on July 10, 11, 15, 16, 17 and 18 with a matinee at 2 p.m. also scheduled for 2 p.m. on July 17.

"Macbeth" will open at 8 p.m. on July 22 and will continue on July 23, 24, 25, 28, 29, 30, 31 and Aug. 1.

Professional actors Dakin Matthews and Carolyn Reed-Dunn will play the leads in "Macbeth," according to director James Dunn. They also are conducting actors' training classes for the 75 students in the program, Dunn said.

Preceding each evening's production there will be an "Elizabethan Entertainment" performed in the lobby and patio area.

On display in the lobby will be an exhibit Shakespearian effects on loan from the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C., and various collectors.

The display will include rare letters, documents, books, engravings and artifacts, as well as a facsimile copy of the 1623 First Folio edition of Shakespeare's play.

The box office will be open weekdays from 1 to 5 p.m.

Canoe Course Open

There are still openings in the Red Cross basic canoeing classes which will start Tuesday at the Marin Civic Center lagoon. Registration for the classes, which are at 1, 3 and 7 p.m., may be made at the Red Cross chapter house in San Rafael.

Integration Suit Denied By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Three Chinese families were denied permission Wednesday to intervene in the San Francisco school integration suit in U.S. District Court.

District Judge Stanley A. Weigel, who earlier received integration plans from the school district and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said there was no merit in the families' claim that they were being "unfairly treated" or discriminated against.

"Under any pupil assignment plan which the district may adopt, some students per force will be compelled to attend schools contrary to their preferences or those of those of their parents," the judge said.

Two programs of new music and film, with a resident ensemble circuited through two arp synthesizers, directed by George Burt, are set for the evenings of Aug. 28 and 29. Burt is on the staff of the music department at the University of Michigan.

Sober Driver Is Badly Outnumbered

Each year, new bills are introduced in Sacramento to curb the drunken driver.

A few of them manage to become law, but these legal pressures have failed to rid California of the distinction of having the nation's highest traffic fatality records.

In 1966, the state passed the "implied consent law", which gave officers the power to administer one of three tests to determine the alcohol content of a suspected drunken driver.

In 1969, California added another weapon for law enforcement by lowering the blood alcohol level at which a person is presumed to be too drunk to drive safely. The presumptive limit is now .10 of alcohol per millimeter of blood instead of .15 of alcohol.

THE FIRST LAW made it less likely that a suspect would refuse to submit to an alcohol test, and the second gave prosecutors a better chance of getting a drunken driving conviction on the basis of the blood alcohol test results.

However, even these new legal weapons added to the law enforcement arsenal have failed to slow the drunken driver or reduce the highway toll.

ON THE EVE of another Fourth of July weekend, we can only appeal to the common sense of the individual driver by quoting some figures issued by the National Automobile Club.

According to the auto club, if you are a non-drinker, you are outnumbered better than two to one.

The National Automobile Club estimates there are 100 million people who drive in the United States. Of these, 45 million are low-volume social drinkers, 16 million are high volume social drinkers, 4 million are heavy "escape" drinkers, and 3 million are alcoholics.

THAT LEAVES ONLY 32 million drivers who abstain from drinking. This means that when you venture out onto the highways during the coming weekend, or any day of the week, only one car in three that you meet will have an abstainer at the wheel. The other two will have potential drinkers manning the lethal weapon at 70 or 80 miles per hour.

More than one-half of the highway deaths involve alcohol, and problem drinkers cause at least two-thirds of such deaths.

Federal and state laws can never completely eliminate the drinking driver from our highways. Your best protection is to steer clear of the highways, especially during the holiday rush.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

'Times' Should Be Tried Under Espionage Act

By GEORGE TODT

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — For its clandestine efforts in obtaining and publishing secret classified material stolen from Department of Defense files, the New York Times, Washington Post and Boston Globe deserve neither praise nor persecution, but prosecution under terms of the Espionage Act of the United States.

"The law clearly provides that secret documents and top-secret documents should not become public until they are declassified," stated Secretary of State William Rogers in his June 15 press conference.

THE TIMES, Post and Globe, influential though they may be, are not above the law of the land. They have no right whatsoever to publish classified government documents according to whim, fancy or the personal opinion of curbstone experts. The latter were often referred to as "guardhouse lawyers" in service years — for their ability to get those in trouble who took their advice.

"A fundamental responsibility of the press in this democracy," gushed the Times in a recent editorial, "is to publish information that helps the people of the United States to understand the processes of their own government, especially when those processes have been clouded over in a veil of public dissimulation (translation: to feign, pretend, dissemble) and even deception."

IN THE FIRST place, the Times was wrong to call us a democracy when we are a republic. Officially and for good reason, this nation is called "The Republic of the United States."

In the second place, the self-serving platitudes contained in the Times editorial are correct enough with one well-known exception — of which the Times is doubtless aware — and that is when such published information referred to violates the Espionage Act of the Republic of the United States.

It is not the province of any newspaper or other portion of the mass communications media to make a unilateral decision of its own to publish secret or top-secret documents of the government with impunity. Such agencies are not above the law of the land. Far from it, despite their power to sway mass opinion.

IF THE NEW York Times is not to set a dangerous precedent for the rest of the media in this instance, it would seem that much more than a mere investigation is in order. Those who perpetrated this clandestine and potentially most harmful act — which may reflect dangerously on the American people in the end — ought to be prosecuted for breaking the Espionage Act andd, if found guilty in court, should be punished according to the law.

It is true that the publication of the stolen documents now makes for interesting reading, but that is not enough to excuse the error of the original theft. That is indeed the question.

FAILURE TO PROSECUTE the Times and its companion, the Washington Post and the Boston Globe in this matter by the government would almost amount to a unilateral repeal of the Espionage Act — not by act of Congress, but by the affected newspapers themselves.

Frankly, they have no right whatsoever to do this action, wishful thinking on their parts to the contrary, merely because it may be said they are not in sympathy with the law in all good conscience.

This is the line we hear from the hippies today. It is sad to find it adhered to by the biggest newspaper in the nation. Very sad!

Explanation Wanted On Jury Reversal

We have discussed Judge Smallman's actions with many people and wonder how many will take the time to write and find out just why a thing like this is allowed in our courts.

Can you give us an explanation of this action or tell us where we might go to have some of our questions answered.

We feel Judge Smallman owes the readers of your newspaper an explanation of his actions in the case of Mr. Bennett. If your newspaper is printing the truth, neither of these men are qualified for the jobs they are holding.

I hope we will hear from you.

Bennett Case Has 'Very Foul Odor'

First, I wish to congratulate the I-J for its editorial of June 21 on its criticism of the performance of Judge Robert A. Smallman in his over-ruling the guilty verdict of the jury in the drunken driving case of William Bennett. By his action, he has prevented any further charges being made by the district attorney's office.

Why did this case come up now? Bennett has a previous drunken arrest against him of March 4, which comes up for trial July 15.

I will take the version of Officer Hoffman as to how Bennett received the bruises on his face. No arresting officer would be that stupid as to mark his prisoner as Bennett claims. He had been told to sit back in the seat, but evidently was so busy abusing Hoffman that he did not take his warning.

Furthermore, by what authority does Bennett have for a state car for his personal use after office hours? Both drunken arrests were made when he was in a state car. The last was over a weekend.

After reading everything about this expose as published in the I-J from the time Bennett was booked at the county jail to the Smallman fiasco, I have reached the conclusion that this whole affair has a very foul odor.

It will be interesting to see when Bennett's trial comes up on July 15 what kind of a political white-wash he will receive. Will his driver's license be suspended as it should be, for refusing to take a chemical sobriety test as required by law?

Many Questions On Health Merger

During budget hearings at Marin County Board of Supervisors on June 21, the reorganization of medical services was accomplished without explanation of questions pertaining to the feasibility of the economic and physical mechanics of reorganization.

Some questions asked but not answered were:

1. Are we to obtain efficiency because of the new reorganization, or because $99,000 or $77,000 (the two figures quoted) more is being poured into reorganization? We were told no new progrms are involved, and we should not forget $250,000 has been approved for medical reserves during the new fiscal year.

2. In the new reorganization the coroner (an elective office) is placed directly under the administrative officer! I hope the people of Marin will investigate the implications of such an arrangement, and determine if other elected officials are subservient to appointive officers. I believe in coordination through cooperation, but isn't this going too far? We may also want to consider the elected official who will allow himself to be placed in such a position. Shouldn't we — the voters — be allowed a voice at the polls before rearranging elective offices?

3. Somewhere in the news I recall reading that this entire NEW reorganization is one which the County turned own a few years ago. Why is it now practical when it was not before?

4. What is the total salary of the Corner which now includes (five or six?) appointed COUNTY positions?

Thanks to our efficiency-minded county we will now have a reorganization which has a super-money-structure of $327,000 or $347,000 (budget plus reserve) more than last year's separate departments. The efficiency without economy principle must be somewhere in my economy books, but I can't seem to find it!!

Flag Day Sponsor Appreciates Help

San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, Wilkins Post 37 American Legion and Tamalpais Post 72, Veterans of Foreign Wars, wish to thank the I-J and its staff, especially Bryce Anderson, and station KTIM and staff, especially Margaret Bennett, for outstanding assistance rendered our Flag Day program.

Special thanks also to the mayor and all city officials of San Rafael, the Marin County Board of Supervisors and all state, county and civic officials and organizations who participated in honoring our Flag. . .

In order that we do not forget until another Flag Day comes, I enclosed a message, author unknown, entitled "Remember Me" which will, I hope, give us all cause to remember:

"Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your flag, the flag of the United States of America. Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you, because it is about you and me.

I remember some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and naturally I was leading every parade, proudly waving in the breeze. When your Daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that his hand was directly over his heart — remember?

And you, I remember you, standing there straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat, but you were giving the right salute. Remember little sister, not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you with her right hand over her heart — remember?

What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I have a few more stars since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since those parades of long ago.

But now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and I may get a small glance and then you look away. Then I see the children running around and shouting — they don't seem to know who I am — I saw one man take his hat off, then look around. He didn't see anybody else with theirs off so he quickly put his back on!

Is it a sin to be patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I've been? Anzio, Guadacanal, Korea and now Vietnam. Take a look at the memorial honor rolls sometime of those who never came back to keep this Republic free. One Nation under God. When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So, when you see me, stand straight, place your right hand over your heart — and I'll salute you by waving back — and I'll know that . . . you remember!"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Those Not Accountable Shouldn't 'Run The Store'

WASHINGTON — Recently I received a fascinating comment from such an unusual source that it deserves to be shared with readers.

Its authors are several former law clerks who were associated with the United States Supreme Court. They are young legal scholars who will later be emerging as leaders of the bar, judges and high government officials.

The memorandum is a reaction to the actions by some public officials which the writers feel show a pervasive and dangerous lack of discipline in government ranks.

The "brief" reads:

The paradoxes — irrational paradoxes — manifested on the pages of every newspaper and on the broadcast media are more than enough to unsettle the most stable citizen.

"AT ALL LEVELS of governmental responsibility, discipline must be maintained and accepted. This is so elementary as not to require expression and yet to read the utterances of some senators, congressmen, self-anointed civil libertarians, editorial pundits and a host of others, discipline and control over subordinates are undemocratic, un-American, Fascist concepts.

"Thus we find plaudits for a lowly judge advocate officer who challenges the constitutional Commander-in-Chief, laurels for file clerks of the FBI who challenge the lawful authority of an agency noted for its restraint and its control over its agents, and no condemnation of the government official who collaborated in providing 7,000 pages of secret documents to The New York Times.

"DO THESE MINDLESS critics want a responsible chain of authority? Do they want every field agent and file clerk of the FBI to make his own rules of what is or is not permissible conduct?

"If FBI agents and file clerks can politic against Vietnam, they surely can politic for it. Do we want FBI personnel embroiled in heated political conflicts? If FBI agents can launch attacks on their chief, why not then on the Congress, the Supreme Court, the President?

"THE FBI LIKE most government agencies has a 'suggestion box' process and all have profited from employee ideas. But if every minor functionary of government is free to exploit his employment in government as a platform to challenge policies of government, then we had better get clear on this question: Who is to 'run the store' in a free nation?

"Not everyone on his own terms surely. If a 20-year-old clerk of General Motors or a security guard of Chase Manhattan criticizes the FBI, the President or Congress, no one would hear of it; the press would not even smile. Only because they are FBI and Army does an FBI agent, a file clerk or a lowly judge. advocate of the Army get front page everywhere in America on his views. And only because, at the moment, the passions of our times make all 'establishments' fair game especially when they are attacked from within and more especially when partisans want to exploit dissension.

"THE QUESTION THEN arises: If without qualification, warning or caution, the news media glorify file clerks of the FBI who defy regulations and make a hero out of a junior Army officer who attacks the Commander-in-Chief, what control can civilian authority hope to exercise over police and military personnel?

Industrial Polluters Resort To Blackmail

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — What is now conventional wisdom about the environmental crisis took a long time becoming conventional: The fact that it is late, very late, and at the rate pollution of our world is STILL proceeding, we all have a fair chance of choking on the air we ourselves are contaminating, or gagging on our own coliform bacteria in our drinking water by the end of the century.

Belated or not, that truth has become so widely realized that it brings on the shakes among industrialists who envision profit margins trimmed by public and government demands that they change their ways.

WHERE ALTERING a manufacturing process or adding a final clean-up step to what they discharge into the environment has turned out to be cheap enough, some have taken action. After doing so, many of them have invested in fancy ads or at least self-serving press releases telling the community how public-spirited they were in doing what decency and the law finally dictated.

Where the threatened fines are not stiff enough, or the public demand has not become embarrassing enough, the too typical industry goes right on pouring out its poison, in the knowledge that every day it can get by with it represents X more dollars on the profit side.

BUT THE GREATEST histrionics of all take place when the polluting offense is discovered, the public and government apply pressure, and the changes demanded are going to cost more than a pittance.

Oh, the smiting of foreheads, the weeping and wailing in the board rooms, the anguishing for adverbs in the public relations departments!

And on whose behalf? Not the stockholders. Oh, no. The poor employees who will be thrown out of work, that's who. Or rather, that's what they would like us to believe.

Already, in places like Saltville, Va.; Marietta, Ohio; Groton, Conn., and elsewhere, chemical and other companies have told the people on their payroll that modernizing their plants to comply with newly enforced antipollution regulations simply would cost too much. It would be cheaper, they maintain, to simply close down the old plant and build a new one elsewhere.

IN MANY CASES this has turned out to be simple blackmail, an effort to convince workers that they face an either/or situation—either continue breathing and drinking foul air and water or go without jobs. When the government has toughmindedly gone ahead with enforcement, the companies have somehow found it possible to make the needed changes without closing down, after all.

In other, fewer, cases such clean-up orders have hit plants that already were operating on a slim margin, and the company viewed the antipollution orders as an excuse to make a move it would have had to make, anyway. It doesn't save any money by pointing the finger of blame at the government, but it does thus create propaganda against the overall effort to save the environment.

SOME OF THAT propaganda is high-priced, for example that written by Dr. Max Tishler, new president of the American Chemical Society. He wants the government to show "patience and understanding," to approach pollution problems "without panic and with deep reflection and mature judgment of experts."

Of course he himself qualifies as an expert, being former president of Merck, Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories. And as an expert, he notes the danger of factory shutdowns. "Is it reasonable to insist on a cleaner environment if in attaining it communities are demoralized and their citizens become welfare recipients?" he asks.

Well, that sort of rhetorical question might bluff some people, and of course it is targeted directly at factory workers. But all factory workers and their spokesmen don't bluff easy. For example, Howard Strevel, director of District 36 of the United Steelworkers in Birmingham, Ala. The day after the air pollution count there exceeded three times the critical level, he spoke out:

"THE THREAT OF companies closing down and moving away is nothing more than blackmail. . . . Polluters have nowhere to go in this nation. No community wants them . . . . Steelworkers should not be fearful of their employers moving when laws are passed to forbid an assault on the health of the community. Such companies know it is cheaper to stop pollution than to build new facilities in other areas where such abuses would not be tolerated to begin with. It is, however, cheaper to frighten people with job loss and economic calamity than to make prompt, effective remedies to stop pollution."

He obviously set a good example for emulation elsewhere. Today, the Alabama Legislature is considering new, strong antipollution laws after it passed a measure last year known as the "dirty air act" because it so blatantly favored the polluters over the public.

Some Strange Goings On In Scenic West Marin

The continuing saga of mysterious West Marin acquired another strange chapter recently when two friends from the East Bay made their first trip to Bolinas.

As the couple drove along one of the quiet, scenic lanes, two long-haired young men jumped into the path of their car and frantically waved it to a stop.

The pair ran up to the auto and thrust a dollar bill into the driver's hands. "Here, you'll need this for the toll road," he said earnestly. My friend tried to give the money back, saying he had the funds to pay the toll, but the men insisted he take the dollar.

The couple drove for about an hour, waiting for the pay station on the "toll road," which of course never materialized.

After pinning the bill on the Bolinas community bulletin board in front of Jack Pepper's general store, the couple left Bolinas puzzled and delighted by the strange native customs.

SAUSALITO DRUNK drivers are becoming more sophisticated these days and apparently well-versed in current events. One irate inebriate confronted this week by police in the city by the bay haughtily informed officers he was a "Personal Friend" of Judge Robert A. Smallman.

Smallman, Sausalito police watchers will recall, is the judge who, earlier this month, overturned a Marin jury's conviction of state equalization member William M. Bennett on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

In the latest case, the "friend in high place" did the motorist no good. Sausalito police smiled through clenched teeth and made the arrest anyway.

SINCE ALL TYPES of plants seem to flourish in the subtropical climate of the I-J's southern Marin office, more and more flora are always arriving here. Tiny plants are brought to grow large, and sick plants come to get well in the balmy atmosphere.

Latest addition to the office plant life is an attractive three-foot specimen of cannabis sativa (popularly known as pot), a gift from the Mill Valley Police Department and perfectly legal, since it is made of plastic.

IT IS A HANDSOME, realistic-looking plant, with distinctive, serrated leaves and a thick stem, but visitors to the office and even workers seem oblivious to the new addition and, in the week it has been here, not one person has even noticed the strange addition. Policemen have been in the office without even questioning it.

So realistic is the plant that insects seem fooled by it. Two spiders have fashioned webs in the leaves and are busily hatching eggs, and other bugs who arrive in the office by accident or design seem to ignore the real plants and head for the marijuana.

By CARL INGRAM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The next time you receive a letter signed in ink from Gov. Ronald Reagan, chances are a machine did it.

Don't feel slighted. Thousands of others receive similar mechanized signatures each week.

The governor's "auto-pen" machine actually scratches out a perfect facsimile of Reagan's signature with a fountain pen at the rate of 200 an hour.

The device is used to sign high volume form letters and correspondence which would consume the busy govenor's day if he endorsed each by hand.

"It's not a rubber stamp," explains Bruce Nestande, an ex-Marine who supervises the governor's efficiency-conscious correspondence office. "It's a legal signature that will stand up in court."

The "auto-pen" is a tool of the 23-member correspondence division of Reagan's staff, which also maintains a private "first name" file "readers," "composers," and typists process 13,000 pieces of incoming mail for Reagan during an average week.

The file contains the names of thousands of persons with whom the governor, according to his staff, is on a first-name basis. When Reagan orders an official letter written, a staffer must search the file to determine if the salutation should address the recipient by his first name.

Nestande said Reagan often personally signs his letters "Ron" or "Dutch' — a nickname he acquired as a Midwest sports announced before coming to Hollywood to make his fortune in the movies.

Nestande, a twice-defeated Republican candidate for the Assembly from Orange County and a former executive of Knott's Berry Farm, was hired several months ago by the governor to reorganize the correspondence section.

He said some mail wasn't being read for up to six weeks after it was received, much less distributed to the proper official or state agency for a response.

Nestande, 33, who visited both New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's office and the White House to get ideas for making Reagan's correspondence division more efficient, said currently mail is read the same day it arrived by one of seven "readers" who channel it to the appropriate recipient.

Nestande's goal is to develop a "turn around time" of one week for mail addressed to Reagan, meaning an elapsed time of seven days from when a letter arrives to when a response is dispatched.

Some replies are drafted by three "composers" and written over the governor's name. Nestande said they usually handle general, nontechnical responses such as on the Vietnam war issue.

"They know the governor's thinking," he said. "The biggest problem we have is to get people to write letters that are very soft sell and very humble."

A carbon copy of every letter sent from the governor's office is kept in a file, even heavy volumes of identical "form" letters—those mass-produced in response to a specific issue, such as his welfare program.

"We have about 175 form letters," Nestande said. "They absolutely reflect the thinking of the governor. He personally reviews every example of a form letter."

Many letters appeal to Reagan for help with a personal problem, condemn or congratulate him for his stand on a certain issue, or merely chitchat about nothing in particular.

Included in the governor's mailbag the other day was an envelope stuffed with obscene advertising from an irate Pennsylvania woman. She said the filth was sent unrequested to her by a Los Angeles firm and she was forwarding it to Reagan for a second time.

She charged he failed to take action against the firm when she first wrote and complained to him. The woman demanded to know what he intended to do about the second batch.

Other mail included a certified letter from "God Almighty," one addressed to "Sharon Tate" and another to "Mao Tse Tung."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. FUSSELMAN (William D. Fusselman's "County Comment" will not appear this week because he is taking a long Fourth-of-July holiday. His column will resume next Friday. - Editor.)

Independence Day's State of The Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) —And, it says, "for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our fortunes and our sacred Honor."

This was the ringing final paragraph of that Declaration of Independence which Americans normally celebrate each year on the Fourth of July.

This year, because July 4 falls on Sunday, we'll observe Independence Day on Monday, July 5.

Perhaps the date doesn't make any difference. Some historians contend the real Independence Day should be July 2, 1776, when the Second Continental Congress adopted a resolution declaring the 13 British colonies in the new world to be independent states.

The July 4 draft, they say, was merely a fuller statement giving historical and philosophical justification for the action of July 2.

Quibbling, perhaps. But if historians can quibble, why can't we? The July 4 document uses the name "united (lower case 'u') States of America."

But if you set your historical time clock from adoption of our Constitution in 1787, there weren't any American states in 1776. In order of admission to the Union, according to a table prepared by the U.S. Geological Survey, the first U.S. state was Delaware, admitted Dec. 7, 1787.

The rest of the Thirteen Original States, after their ratification of the Constitution, became members of the Union at various dates between 1787 and 1790. The last to join was Rhode Island on May 29, 1790.

Since then it has taken more than 170 years, a number of wars, and scores of treaties, compacts, and acts of Congress, to round out the United States of America to its present 50 members.

Sixteen states were admitted to the Union in the 18th Century, 29 in the 19th, and five thus far in the 20th.

The 20th Century newcomers are Oklahoma, Nov. 16, 1907; New Mexico, Jan. 6, 1912; Arizona, Feb. 14, 1912; Alaska, Jan. 3, 1959, and Hawaii, Aug. 21, 1959.

It so happens that no state has ever joined the nation on July 4, that date on which 195 years ago our Founding Fathers proclaimed existence of the "United States of America."

If Idaho or Congress or whoever was responsible had just waited a day, Americans in 1890 could have celebrated Independence Day by welcoming a new state to the fold. As it happened, Idaho was admitted to the Union on July 3.

Reappointees, New Members On Committee

Eight members of the Marin County Family and Children's advisory committee have been routinely reappointed and two new persons added to the committee.

All the appointments, made by the board of supervisors Tuesday, will expire July 1, 1973.

Reappointed were: Lynne Bishop, Charlotte Jones of Sausalito, Marion Kelley of the Volunteer Bureau, Dr. Malcolm Finley of the Marin Property Owners, Georgette Vilas, Marge Buckley of the Social Workers Union, Winfifred S. Frederick of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin, and Anna Marie Gurish of the Marin Foundation.

Added to the advisory board were Richard Neilsen, representing the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, and Mrs. Hugh O. Pessner of Greenbrae, representing the 14th District Parent-Teachers Council.

Legal Aid Society Moves To C Street

The Legal Aid Society of Marin County has moved its offices from 612 D Street, San Rafael, to 710 C Street, on the second floor, according to James H. Kovacs, directing attorney.

The regular appointment schedule will be resumed next Wednesday, he said. The office phone number is the same.

Red's Viet Proposal Spurs Dovish Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The new Communist proposal for peace in Vietnam already has triggered fresh pressure on President Nixon from congressional doves to set a deadline for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina

Sens. George S. McGovern D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., said Thursday they may make a new attempt to push legislation setting Dec. 31 as the pullout date from Vietnam. McGovern and Hatfield tried the same tactic little more than two weeks ago but the Senate defeated it 55 to 42.

McGovern said the new Viet Cong offer made at Paris Thursday lead to "a single obvious conclusion: not one further American death can now be justified in the name of the release of U.S. prisoners of war because the other side has made it clear they will start releasing U.S. prisoners of war as soon as we set a definite withdrawal date."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., would propose a new measure to end the war within the next few weeks. Cooper and Church collaborated last year on a measure to end the Cambodian invasion.

The State Department and the White House, said there were positive aspects to the latest proposal, which called for release of the POWs simultaneously with U.S. troop withdrawals under a fixed deadline.

But State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray added there were other elements "clearly unacceptable" to the administration. He said Ambassador David K.E. Bruce, the top U.S. negotiator in Paris, would present the U.S. response in the near future. He cautioned, however, that the United States would "accept no arrangement which would have the effect of turning some 17 million South Vietnamese over to the Communists."

Parts of the seven-point Viet Cong plan called for a coalition government in Saigon, including Communists. The question of withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces in the South also would be left open to discussions between various Vietnamese leaders.

Some Administration sources feel that unless North Vietnamese troops are withdrawn as U.S. forces pull out, South Vietnam would be jeopardized. The danger would be increased, the sources feel, if a coalition government were operating in Saigon.

Scientific Freedom Watchdog Panel Set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS) today announced appointment of former Chief Justice Earl Warren and former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel to a committee which will study means of protecting scientific freedom and assuring scientific responsibility.

Creation of the committee, which has three other members, resulted from recommendations made to the AAAS last year by Sens. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine. The Senators acted after two scientist-critics of Atomic Energy Commission radiation standards complained they were victims of reprisals.

The scientists are Drs. John W. Gofman and Arthur R. Tamplin who work in the AEC's Livermore, Calif., radiation laboratory which is operated by the University of California. The AEC denied their charges.

Appointment of the committee was announced by Dr. Athelstan Spilhaus, chairman of the association's board of directors. Committee members in addition to Warren and Hickel are Dr. Allen V. Astin, former director of the National Bureau of Standards, chairman; Dr. Mary Catherine Bateson, Northeastern University anthropologist, and Dr. John H. Knowles, director of Massachusetts General Hospital.

Hickel resigned as Interior Secretary late last year after publicly disagreeing with President Nixon's attitude toward young people. Knowles once was slated for appointment as Assistant Secretary of Health and Scientific Affairs of the Health, Education, and Welfare Department. He was opposed by the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and the American Medical Association. The appointment was blocked.

The committee has been asked to recommend procedures which will enable the AAAS, the nation's largest scientific body, to review cases in which scientific freedom is said to have been abridged or in which scientific responsibility is alleged to have been violated.

Spilhaus said the association in recent years has received requests from several scientists "for help in situations in which they felt their scientific freedom was in jeopardy."

Stanford Details Final Testing Of Big Space Scope

STANFORD (UPI) — A five-dish radio telescope which feeds signals from outer space into a computer for analysis is undergoing final tests at Stanford University.

Prof. Ronald N. Barcewell, director of the Stanford Radio Astronomy Institute, said the new telescope covers the universe minute bits of electromagnetic radiation emitted by the stars.

The $2 million project is supported by the Air Force Office of Scientific Research and the National Science Foundation.

In the July issue of the radio astronomy journal, Sk and Telescope, Bracewell and research associates Roger S. Colvin, A. Richard Thompson and Kent M. Price said the system would be used to map galaxies, the sun and the moon.

CHARLOTTE DYSLIN of Mill Valley, one of eight students enrolled in the first graduate program in learning disabilities at Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, has just received a master of science degree in the field from the University of the Pacific. She will begin work in September at St. Mary's Hospital's speech and learning center in San Francisco. (Independent-Journal photo)

PIONEERING WOMEN

Pick New Teaching Field

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Two Mill Valley women, each the mother of four children, are planning careers in the fairly new field of dealing with children's specific learning disabilities.

Mrs. Glenwood Dyslin was one of three students who received the Master of Science degree in learning disabilities from the graduate school of the University of the Pacific in June. The work was actually done in the first class of eight students enrolled in the graduate program at Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, an affiliate of the University of the Pacific.

MRS. IRVING Fisk, the other Mill Valley woman enrolled in the class, will be graduated next spring.

In explaining the nature of the program Mrs. Dyslin said, "The children we are working with are children who do not have blindness, deafness or mental or emotional retardation. They have specific areas of educational ability. For example, they may be able to do math but have difficulty with reading, or they may read but have difficulty with spelling.

"They have problems in one process of speech or language, reading, writing or arithmetic or other school subjects but not in all of them. In the last three or four years we have begun to understand that children formerly regarded as mentally retarded may have these learning disabilities."

THE MOTHER of two boys and two girls ranging in age from 10 to 16, Charlotte Dyslin is the wife of a structural engineer, whose enthusiastic cooperation, she says, is making possible her new career.

She will begin in September by doing part-time work at St. Mary's Hospital's speech and learning center in San Francisco. By Oct. 1 she will also be working with four other persons who have been connected with the Learning Disability Program in setting up a diagnostic and remedial center for learning disability children in the east Bay.

Mrs. Dyslin has a B.A. degree in sociology and psychology from the University of Denver. She was a juvenile probation officer in South Dakota before coming to Marin. In this county she worked, for three years with swimming programs for handicapped children at private pools in San Rafael under the cerebral palsy organization and Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children.

On completion of this work she was a laboratory assistant in the Visual Sciences Institute at the Pacific Medical Center and dealt with tactile training of blind students to use the Tactile-Visual Substitution System.

IT WAS while doing this work that she became interested in learning disabilities and enrolled in the graduate program.

Antoinette Fisk is also mother of two girls and two boys ranging in age from 8 to 16 years of age. She holds a B.A. degree from Radcliffe College with major in American history and literature.

She has never been employed before and plans to work partime in the field of learning disabilities after graduation next spring.

"I had thought of teaching, "she said, "but I didn't want to work in large classrooms. I see lots of possibilities in working with learning disabilities. It has to do with individualized instruction and can contribute to the public schools program."

A GO-GETTER

Parceling Out Cultural Funds

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —One of the brainiest women in government is in charge of parceling out about $30 million in federal funds to support budding artists and performers.

She is go-getter Nancy Hanks, a descendant of Abraham Lincoln's mother, who is endowment chairman for the arts.

Miss Hanks was appointed by President Nixon to give the arts a share of the federal action, and she is making her mark on the Washington scene.

WHEN SHE took over the post about a year ago she found out that "nobody knew what arts endowment was."

When she leaves, she said in an interview, "I hope to make government involvement in the arts an established concept. By that I mean not only patronage, but every agency participating."

Nixon went out of his way to give her a special pat on the back when he delivered a major speech to the Associated Councils of the Arts recently.

"THE IMPORTANT thing now is that government has accepted support of the arts as one of its responsibilities — not only on the federal level, but on the state and local levels as well."

"Increasingly," he added, "there is growing recognition that few investments in the quality of life in America pay off so handsomely as the money spent to stimulate the arts."

Her office takes up nearly two floors of a downtown building, and the layout is vibrant with color and examples of modern art. Her own a-shaped office with its long board table, also boasts art objects, including a magnificent blue pottery created by 15-year-old Jimmy Gonzalez of the Dallas Technical School, which she spotted in an exhibit.

HER STAFFERS reflect enthusiasm although she is a "perfectionist" in demanding the best output.

The endowment and the council of the arts dispenses funds for pilot programs in the arts to theater groups, community centers and ghetto projects.

"The arts is in the communications business and one of the worst communicators," she said.

Changing all that is Florence Lowe, her press chief, who is a dynamic promoter of Miss Hanks and the arts.

Miss Hanks receives touching letters regarding some of the projects. One cherished letter came from Stephen Reid after the endowment handed him $250 grant to buy music and drumsticks to teach the drum to Harlem children. "I'me taken them off the television drug," he wrote.

SHE IS a seven-day-a-week executive who has had a longtime association with the Rockefeller Foundation Associationn working on special projects in the arts.

She stresses she is an administrator, not the "arty type." She acknowledges she can't carry a tune, but has a "good ear" for music.

Her femininity comes out in her hobby. She makes needlepoint typewriter covers.

She hates to shop and leaves much of her personal shopping to her mother, Mrs. Bryan Hanks of Fort Worth, Tex. "I get a lot of free and wonderful advice from my mother," she said.

SHE HAS a house in fashionable Georgetown, likes to cook and entertain. As for her love life, "it's nonexistent but I'm having a good time," she added.

A Phi Beta Kappa, she is no devotee of women's lib, explaining she learned long ago, "if you have a job to do, you do it."

"I've never had the feeling men were trying to hold me back."

FRESNO AMAZED

By LLOYD G. CARTER JR.

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—At an age when most women are knitting socks for their grandchildren and otherwise taking it easy, widowed sisters Callie Ward and Tennie Malone embarked on a project that normally takes a crew of burly hardhats.

Nearly two years ago the women decided they needed better living quarters. So the sisters, both in their late 50s, made plans to build a house.

Mrs. Ward drew up some blueprints and in November of 1969 the two energetic women laid the foundation for a four-bedroom, two-bath house.

SOMETIME SOON the two, who say they are "retired," will move into the nearly completed house which has professional homebuilders and the Fresno County Planning Commission watching in admiration.

The dwelling was built on a lot behind a small church where Mrs. Ward acts as pastor. A son-in-law helped raise the roof trusses and another son-in-law applied the stucco to the exterior of the home.

A professional bricklayer built the fireplace but otherwise the two widows did all the work —raised the walls, laid the foundation and floors, installed the wiring and plumbing—everything.

THE PROJECT was made more difficult by vandals who plagued the construction site and forced Mrs. Ward to camp at the house. The county Planning Commission has provided plenty of red tape, scrutinizing every move.

But the women, neither with any formal construction training, persisted, spending a few hours on their home each day, watching it slowly take shape.

SLOWLY AND surely two grandmothers who are widowed sisters build a four bedroom house in Fresno. Mrs. Callie Ward (left) and Mrs. Tennie Malone have raised the walls, after laying the foundation, and have installed the wiring and plumbing. The planning commission has scrutinized every move. Mrs. Ward designed the house with a dividing wall down the center as a means of partial privacy for each. (UPI Telephoto)

Mrs. Malone credits her sister with engineering the operation, adding, "I hold the nail and Callie hammers it. She has all the know-how."

MRS. WARD said she picked up her handyman skills by "always living in old houses that needed fixing up," but admitted the only other thing she has ever built is a garage.

The house is partially bisected by a dividing wall. "This way we can live together, yet privately," Mrs. Ward explained. "There are no doors between us but we both have our own side of the house."

Both women have several grandchildren and the extra bedrooms allow for extended visits. They plan to give the house to the church after they're gone.

The two amateur carpenters will add the finishing touches after moving in and will probably have to hold an open house for all the building supplies people, county planners, friends and admirers who want to see the women's handiwork at its completion.

Mrs. Ward says she thinks the house is her last major project and has promised her daughter she will "slow down when I get to be 60."

They still have to landscape the yard but Mrs. Ward notes that will be considerably easier than installing plumbing.

One small job, however, they have left to the men—moving in the furniture.

"Some of it is too heavy for us to move," Mrs. Ward said with a chuckle.

Sociologist Lauds Second Marriages

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) —A second marriage by an older couple can make retirement more successful, according to a study by a Texas A&M sociologist of 100 marriages among the elderly.

Miss Minnie Bell, university extension specialist for aging, said the intelligent older woman becomes more interesting with years, especially with wisdom, wit and understanding of men, so she can expect to be sought as a marriage partner.

No Shopping List, But 'Top' Colors

Plum, eggplant and cinnamon may sound like a shopping list, but they are among the colors that will be popular in fall fashions, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Also popular will be bright red, black and white combinations and mixtures of deep brown shades with navy and red with green, says the ready-to-wear trade newspaper.

A Tramcar Trip Brings A 'Miracle'

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Seventeen-year-old Katherine Elizabeth Jurich was several yards ahead of her parents as the family descended a walkway after taking the 8,500-foot ride to the top of the aerial tramway here.

Her mother called out her name and the girl turned around instantly.

"It was one of the most thrilling moments of my life," said Mrs. Roy Jurich.

Kathy, deaf since birth, had never before responded to her mother's voice from a distance of more than a few feet, she said.

The Jurichs took their daughter to the San Diego Speech and Hearing Center, where doctors confirmed that the girl had better than one-third normal hearing after making the tramcar trip.

They were so impressed they suggested she take another ride to the summit of Mt. Jacinto to see if the abrupt change in air pressure improved her hearing further.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:
My wife has a terrible habit of belching after every meal. I wouldn't mind if she just said, "Excuse me," and let it go, but she feels compelled to make an excuse, like "artichokes make me belch," or "lemon pie makes me burp"... as if she has no control over what happens.

Is there some way I could get her to take responsibility for the noise or better yet, stop? — RINGING EARS

DEAR R.E.:
(Your wife sounds like a real gasser.)

If a package of antacid mints doesn't help, then your doctor might suggest that swallowed air produces more after-dinner music than artichokes, pie, etc.

DEAL HELEN:
When my daughter stopped wearing a bra, I was upset, but adjusted because she doesn't have a very big bust. But recently I found out she hasn't been wearing underpants either! I questioned her, and she said, "I like to feel free."

Don't you think this is going a little far? — MOTHER OF A COLLEGE GIRL

DEAR MOTHER:
Probably. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
Although I can't give real names, this letter is obviously pointed towards someone. And I hope he realizes who he is! To someone:

You told my husband that you wished your wife was more like me. Whatever kind of wife I am, it's all because of the kind of husband he is.

Rick spends 85 per cent of his spare time with me and the kids. When he does go "out with the boys" he never loses sight of his responsibilities to his job or family. He has never given me reason for distrust or shame. He never gambled away the grocery money or made me feel used. Rick married me because he loved me and wanted to spend the rest of his life with me. And a day never goes by without proof of that.

I am what I am because of him. Believe me, proving yourself a man takes more than golf or poker or making it with women. It takes a successful marriage! — HIS SUCCESS

P.S. Helen, I wonder how many "someones" there are in this world?

DEAR SUCCESS:
A lot! Thanks for telling 'em! — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I have a serious problem I'm ashamed to discuss with anyone who knows me. I am a grandmother, age 70 — even have a year-old granddaughter.

But I am also a shoplifter, have been for quite a few years. It was not serious at first but it's getting worse. Being from a well-respected family, our community people would die of shock if they knew.

I keep telling myself I must stop — I don't need the things and don't use them, but the minute I walk into a store all my determinations vanish. I feel unclean and miserable. Please help! — UNHAPPY THIEF

DEAR UNHAPPY:
I can't help long distance, but a doctor or therapist could explain kleptomania and guide you toward conquering it. He'll keep your secret.

Make an appointment today! — H.

ON BEING BLACK

Much To See — But 'Ain't' Easy

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The service station attendant sits calmly chewing on a wooden matchstick and fails to see you parked at the gas pumps.

After a reasonable interlude, you turn over the ignition, ready to pursue another station that's in business to do business. The attendant then languidly approaches the car, giving you that infamous hate stare — that expression which black people recognize all too well.

With a full tank of gas, you're on the road again — seeing America. At least trying to. You've scrapped the idea of going to Africa this summer — too many children and too little money — and have elected to spend the summer seeing what's right here at home.

BUT DOGGONE-IT, it isn't easy. In fact, it's frightening to see how things and attitudes change after you leave about a 10-mile radius of your home.

Too many things you encounter reinforce the reality that you are, indeed, in America and too little has changed.

Ever try to contain three jiggling children when they have to go to the bathroom and the service station attendant is reluctant (to put it mildly) to allow you to use the bathroom? Or would you believe the number of restrooms that are suddenly out of order or locked due to a disappearing key? Strange how this can occur at the height of tourist season when thousands of people have been told, via the advertising media, that they are welcome to use those facilities.

NEXT, YOU check into a motel, only to discover that the price has suddenly skyrocketed (the later the hour, the higher the price). You pay an outrageous price (the manager throws you the key) and find that your unit has a broken air-conditioner and a backed-up toilet. U.S.A. 1971! Believe it!

There must be something about travel that increases appetites because the kids are starved during the entire trip. So what else? You stop at a restaurant. As you enter, the other patrons look at you with obvious puzzlement. The waitresses appear to have a round-table discussion to draw straws to see who will wait on you. In the meantime, the kids are noisily deciphering the menu and rearranging the silverware.

The waitress's rudeness turns you off and you wonder just what it is you will be served. You silently long for your favorite home-town restaurant where the waitress calls you and your children by name.

But you remind yourself that you must not limit yourself, and this is a big country. And, doggone-it, the travel brochures are right — there is much to see right here at home. But for black Americans it still ain't easy.

Mrs. Antolini To Lead Institute At St. Anselm's

Mrs. Lawrence Antolini of San Anselmo will be installed president of St. Anselm's Young Ladies Institute on July 14.

A 23-year member of the group, she is a former president of the YLI and has "held all the offices" during her membership.

Mill Valley P-TA Leader Enjoys Duties

Working with children is her most enjoyable activity says Mrs. Zachary Reynolds, new president of Mill Valley's Marin Terrace School Parent-Teacher Association.

A member three years, she was first vice president in 1969-70 and has served as library and parent information chairman. She is also active in the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women.

A native of Milwaukee, Wis., Jane R. Reynolds holds a B.A. degree in psychology from the University of Wisconsin. Before her marriage she managed the children's program for the Marin County Jewish Community Center and worked as a teacher aide at Tamalpais High School. Afterward she worked as a library clerk for the Mill Valley School District.

She and her husband, a naval architect, have two daughters, Carolyn, 10, and Jessica, four months.

BACK TO ADAM AND EVE

New "Adam and Eve" sculptured jewelry is designed by 1971 Coty award winner Elsa Peretti for Vendome. As shown in New York, the burnished gold metal two-piece necklace and bracelet interlock in a loop that dates back to Adam's rib, says the designer. The earrings, too, have prehistoric design, according to Miss Peretti.

San Pedro School P-TA Elects Slate

The purpose of the P-TA, she says, is to "involve parents in the school by the implementation of volunteers in enrichment and aide programs, to support the needs and requests of the faculty and staff and, most importantly, to be aware that the well being of the children is the real reason for the organization."

A four-year member, Jean Knox has also served as San Pedro School P-TA treasurer and chairman of the ways and means and hospitality committees. She is also secretary of the Marin Shakespeare Festival board of directors and a member of the San Pedro Guild of Marin General Hospital Volunteers and Marin Civic Ballet.

"I AM formerly the world's oldest and most inept Brownie leader," says Mrs. Knox.

A native of Oak Park, Ill., she attended Beloit College in Wisconsin. She has lived in Marin for 15 years. Her husband is the regional personnel director for Touche, Ross and Company, a certified public accounting firm, in San Francisco, and they have two daughters, Patra, 13, and Marianne, 10 years old.

Knitting and needlework are Jean Knox's hobbies, and she enjoys entertaining and teaching the Christian Confraternity Doctrine Program to the fourth graders at St. Sylvster's Church.

"I make alot of lists and schedules, but nothing comes of them. I have a positive attitude toward doing nothing," she explains, laughing.

Sorority's Keynote: The Cultural Field

The purpose of Beta Sigma Phi sorority is to develop a cultural interest in the finer things of life, says Mrs. Harold R. Hay of Petaluma, president of Xi Gamma Upsilon chapter of the sorority.

Bonnie Hay has been a member for five years and has also served as treasurer and social chairman of the organization.

Members sold tickets at the Sonoma-Marin Fair and are planning a family barbecue this month. Meetings, suspended during the summer, will resume in September. Membership is by invitation only, according to the president.

A native of Fargo, N.D., Mrs. Hay and her husband, manager of a paint store, are the parents of Sandra, 21, and Greg, 17 years old. They have lived in Sonoma County for 10 years.

Mrs. Hay attends evening classes at Santa Rosa Junior College. She is also active in the California Podiatry Assistance and Little Hills Theater groups. She was a dancer in the chorus of Little Hills Theater's last production, "Guys and Dolls." Skiing and golf are her hobbies.

Accreditation Given Marin Hospital

Marin General Hospital has been accredited for a two-year period by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, according to Ray K. Boliner, administrator.

The two-year accreditation, the longest period given, was based on a survey conducted in May by a physician and an administrator.

New Plea For Mine Safety

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton yesterday called for "a new era of action" to improve health and safety in the nation's coal mines.

Morton led off a two-day seminar on ways of improving Bureau of Mines enforcement of the 1969 federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, expected to hear wide ranging protests from mine operators.

The interior Secretary pointed out so far this year there has been only 98 fatalities in the nation's coal mines, the lowest number for the comparable period in 26 years of recorded mine history.

The previous low was 103 in 1970.

First Primary In New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—The State House passed a bill Wednesday which would assure New Hampshire of having the nation's first presidential primary in 1972.

New Hampshire since 1952 has held the first presidential primary but a law signed in early June by Florida Gov. Reubin Askew set up a primary in that state which would coincide with New Hampshire's traditional March 14 date.

Republican House Speaker Marshall Cobleigh suspended the rules Wednesday and rushed through the bill to advance the traditional date by one week. He said the bill would show Florida "we mean business."

Bargain Lunches Bill Becomes Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon signed legislation Thursday to make $17 million available immediately for free or low-priced lunches for poor children attending recreation programs this summer.

In addition, the legislation will authorize another $35 million in lunch funds if demands for the money from the nation's big cities exceeds the $17 million grant.

Frank Galli is a man well suited to his current office of president of the Marin County Historical Society. For he is a man who long has been devoted to the preservation of Marin historical records and landmarks. And especially to the keeping alive of the name Ignacio, where he is the proprietor of a popular restaurant. This energetic and dedicated history buff is the subject of tomorrow's "Profile of a Marinite" in the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

The band concert in the park was once a vital part of every Fourth of July celebration. Indeed, no summer Sunday would have been complete without an outdoor concert of Sousa's stirring marches. It is an American tradition that has largely died — but not entirely. In Marin, for instance, the College of Marin Community Summer Band keeps alive the outdoor summer concert. Don Keown tells you about it in the I-J supplement tomorrow.

Restaurant Parking Lot Plan Eyed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Plans for a restaurant parking lot and car wash adjacent to Da Silva Pond on Richardson Bay were presented to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission yesterday with little opposition.

Pieter S. Myers of Belvedere, representing the San Francisco Bay chapter of the Sierra Club, called the location a "sensitive area" but had no specific argument with the plan.

Two applications, one for the car wash and the other for additional parking for McDonald's Restaurant at 600 Redwood Highway, were before the BCDC. They were considered simultaneously because the properties are adjacent.

Thomas F. Hippenmeyer, representing the car wash, outlined his proposal, which includes recycling all rinse water to avoid polluting Richardson Bay with grease and detergent and providing a public access strip between 20 and 40 feet wide along the shore of the pond.

Hippenmeyer said he will deed the access strip and some marshland to the Strawberry Recreation District to remain in permanent open space.

A McDonald's spokesman, Richard Slater, said the restaurant needs the new parking lot with 27 additional spaces because of increasing business.

He said McDonald's will give the recreation district a recreational easement over the strip, which varies from 40 to 50 feet wide.

Approval of the plans, the BCDC was told, will allow continued public access to 600 feet of shoreline along the pond. The land between the existing restaurant and the pond already is covered by an easement.

Under commission procedure, voting on the permits was postponed to its next meeting, July 15.

Court Opts For Prior Notice To Repossess Goods

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A state law allowing a sheriff to repossess without prior notice property bought on installment plans was ruled unconstitutional Thursday by the California Supreme Court.

The court unanimously struck down the 99-year-old law and held that before personal property can be repossessed, probable cause must be established for entering a person's home and a hearing on the claim provided.

"If the sheriff cannot invade the privacy of a home without a warrant when the state interest is to prevent crime, he should not be able to do so to retrieve a stove or refrigerator about which the right of possession is disputed," said the court's opinion.

The court rejected an argument that the state law was reasonable since buyers signed contracts giving the seller permission to enter the premises and repossess the goods. The opinion said such consent is not effective because the purchaser "is frequently not in a position to shop around for better terms."

Senator's Son Gets Jail For Pot Possession

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (UPI)—James Hart, 20, the son of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., was fined $200 Thursday and sentenced to 20 days in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of using marijuana.

The sentence will be served on 10 consecutive weekends, as is the practice with all first offenders who holds jobs, District Judge Robert Wood said.

Sentenced to an identical term and fine was Peggy Van Halmer, 18, of Fremont, Mich., who was arrested with young Hart Tuesday night in Marquette Park in the downtown area of Mackinac Island.

A state police trooper arrested the two when he saw them passing around a bottle of wine with other young persons. In making the arrest, he found a cigarette butt.

COLLEGE'S OLD SCIENCE CENTER RAZED

Suit Filed To Dismiss A Teacher

The San Anselmo School District yesterday filed suit in Marin Superior Court to fire its middle-aged, circuit-riding music teacher.

Charged with incompetency and "evident unfitness for service" was Dale I. Parker, 52, who has been with the district for 11 years.

Specific charges against him said he failed to engage in recruitment of students for the music program, was unable to organize the instructional program and couldn't control students.

During a public hearing on the firing last month, Parker's supporters charged the school district with a "breach of faith, ethics and administrative judgment" in moving to dismiss him.

According to Parker's attorney, A. Leonard Bjorklund, the school district's music program has been methodically cut back over the years to a point where Parker is now the only instructor of instrumental music at six schools.

As a result, he travels from school to school.

11 Plead Innocent To Drug Charges

Eleven persons pleaded innocent yesterday in marin municipal court to drug charges stemming from Marin Drug Abuse Bureau arrests earlier in the week.

William C. Laudner, 32, and Georgia Lee Baum, 23, both of 59 Crescente Avenue, Bolinas, denied possessing and cultivating marijuana.

A preliminary hearing was set for them for Aug. 3.

The pair was arrested Tuesday when agents went to their residence with a warrant. Upon their arrival, agents said, they found Miss Baum — hoe in hand — out in the garden with about 100 suspected marijuana plants.

Another Bolinas man arrested Tuesday has posted $2,500 bail and is to appear in municipal court next Tuesday.

Frank Daniel Meyer, 24, of Birch Road, was arrested when agents —returning from the arrest of Miss Baum and Laudner — followed Meyer's "house for sale" signs to take a look at the residence.

When they got there, however, agents were more interested in Meyer's garden, which one agent described as six rows of the "best marijuana plants I've seen in years."

Meyer was booked on suspicion of cultivating pot.

Nine persons were arrested early Wednesday after agents made arrangements to buy cocaine and hashish.

Three of the nine were arrested at a San Rafael motel where the sale was to have taken place, agents said.

The three — Richard Clement Johnson, 18; Hal Arthur Laflesh, 21, and Jan Christian Veltman, 27, all of Chico — pleaded innocent yesterday in municipal court to charges of selling cocaine. A preliminary hearing was set for them for July 13.

The six other persons were arrested at their Kentfield residence to which agents had followed Laflesh while waiting for him to bring drugs to the motel.

Charged with possessing marijuana and misdemeanor counts of possessing narcotics paraphernalia and being in a place where drugs were used were Charlene Lorraine Johnson, 20; Mark Harrison Leroy, 20; Alan Douglas Kernan, 21; Lauritz Reginald Woods, 24; Scott Lea Holcomb, 22, and John Michael Whyte, 26, all of 7 Locust Avenue.

Music Chest To Feature Pianist

Eugene List, world-touring concert pianist, will give a recital in Forest Meadows at Dominican College in San Rafael at 3 p.m. July 18 as the second attraction in the Marin Music Chest summer series.

List performed at the White House during the administrations of three presidents, Roosevelt, Truman and Kennedy, and is a prolific recording artist. His latest records include two piano concerti of Edward MacDowell, "List Plays Liszt" and the Chavez Piano Concerto.

On Aug. 22 Simon Estes, operatic bass-baritone, will make his Marin debut in the summer series.

Youth Booked In Felony Driving Case

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth has been booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving in connection with a single-car crash Wednesday on Hacienda Way in Santa Venetia.

Eric Earl Wight of 22 Linda Avenue was released on $1,200 bail following his arrest on Wednesday and is to appear Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred at 5:25 p.m. as Wight's car, westbound on Hacienda Way, south of Rincon Way, failed to negotiate a curve and struck a utility pole.

Wight was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts of the face and arm and a passenger, Richard B. Deem, 23, of 814 Hacienda Way, was treated at the hospital for a broken nose.

Condolences Sent By Mayor Alioto

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Mayor Joseph Alioto sent condolences to the Soviet Union consulate in San Francisco on Thursday because of the deaths of the Soyuz cosmonauts.

nauts.

The people of San Francisco "share your sorrow just as we have shared the pride of accomplishment as our two great nations have pioneered in the bold exploration of space," he said.

Coast Air Plane Crash Victim Told

One of the 16 persons killed in the crash of a twin-engine plane in the surf off Humboldt County Sunday has been identified as a San Rafael resident.

The body of Carl Peel, 48, of 34 Deer Park Avenue, has not yet been recovered from the ocean, the Humboldt County coroner' office said today.

He was a passenger aboard the private plane which was carrying real estate salesmen from the Shelter Cove planned community in Humboldt County.

Peel, who had lived in Marin about six months, was a salesman for the Burlingame office of R. J. Beaumont Co. of Los Angeles.

Academics Define Sandwich Rules

PARIS (UPI)—The French Academy ruled Thursday that in a grilled ham and cheese sandwich, the grated cheese is placed on the ham, not the other way round.

The point came up, the academy announced, and caused heated debate among academicians, when they met to define for the official French dictionary what a grilled ham and cheese sandwich is.

Old Adobe Trustees Take Budget Action

A tentative fiscal 1971-72 budget of $1,236,000 was approved last night by the Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the proposed budget represented an estimated increase of $200,000 over the 1970-71 year. He said the budget would not require an increase in the present tax rate of $2.39 per $100 assessed valuation because of an expected boost in property values.

Magowan said additional personnel sought for the new Miwok Valley School, under construction, accounted for most of the projected budget increase.

In the budget discussion, the board approved a 10 per cent salary increase for Magowan to bring his annual pay to $21,325. The board also approved an additional secretary for his office and suggested he plan to hire a business manager to lighten his work load.

A public hearing on the budget will be held Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the district office.

The Old Adobe School District Board Also:

PARK — Approved preliminary plans for a city park adjacent to La Tercera School and commended the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association for preparing the plan and offering manpower to construct it.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved hiring of Howard Calmer as a sixth grade teacher, Phyliss Neumann as a counselor and Winifred Hogue as a school nurse. Salaries were not set.

LANDSCAPING — Approved plans to landscape the parking area in front of La Tercera.

Marin City Sets Tenants' Panel

A committee to help reorganization of the Marin City Tenants Union, which has been inactive for the past few months, was appointed last night by the Marin City Council.

Melvin Atkins was named Vice Chairman of the temporary committee and Jackie Harris was chosen secretary. Also named to the group were Gabe Jackson and Collie Gaines.

Members are to meet with individual tenants and plan a reorganization meeting at a date and time to be announced.

Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority, said the authority will welcome an active tenants union.

Two Low Bids For Sewer Work

The Novato Sanitary District board has received two low bids totaling $2,595,790 for sewer projects designed to meet discharge standards imposed by the Regional Water Quality Board.

The bids — $1,590,780 by Healy Tibbits of San Francisco for construction of a sewage outfall line to San Pablo Bay and $1,995,000 by Kirkwood-Bly of Santa Rosa to provide improvements to the district's Novato and Ignacio treatment plants — were offered to the board Wednesday night, according to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph.

Contracts are expected to be awarded Aug. 2, pending review of the bids by the federal Environmental Protection Agency, which is involved because federal grants will cover a portion of the cost, Joseph said.

Joseph said the district is scheduled July 27 to receive bids on $1,475,000 in bonds that will cover the remaining cost of the work, first installment of a $5.5 million improvement program approved by voters in December. Included in the first phase of the work program, and expected to be covered by the bond sale, are four other sewer projects on which bids have yet to be taken — Olive Avenue pumping station, $266,000; Railroad Avenue force main, $90,000; Wilson Avenue sewer interceptor, phase one, $25,000, and extension of main interceptor two, $270,000.

Joseph said the district had expected to need $1.6 million in bonds to cover the cost of all the first-phase projects, but the bids received Wednesday night totaled $160,000 less than estimates. This means fewer bonds will be needed, he said.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

CONDEMNATION — Authorized condemnation proceedings to acquire an easement for the San Pablo Bay outfall line across property in the Deer Island area from Watchie and Associates, appraised at $2,589.

RENOVATIONS — Authorized renovations at the district office at a cost of $2,181.

WILSON AVENUE — Asked for bids at 2 p.m. July 26 for the Wilson Avenue interceptor line from Novato Boulevard to Monte Vista, estimated to cost $25,000.

MEETING — Said it would meet July 12, 22 and 27, and next month, Aug. 2, 16, and 20, all at 6 p.m. at the North Marin County Water District office.

Novato Firemen Eye Radio Alarm

The Novato Fire District board is studying the possibility of installing a radio alarm system instead of undergrounding.

Fire Chief Jack Kidder said with the growing trend toward undergrounding, which is costly, directors decided Wednesday the radio system as an alternative.

said, is a radio system could operate in areas which don't have alarm boxes now because of the cost of poles and wires.

Directors authorized purchase of a diesel fuel tank at the district's drill tower at a cost of $99.

A 49-year-old San Francisco man was injured yesterday at 3:35 p.m. in an accident on southbound Highway 101, south of Terra Linda, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The patrol said Dent swerved into the center divider to avoid a car which had changed lanes in front of him. His vehicle then crossed to the right shoulder of the freeway and went over a small embankment.

POSTAL CELEBRATION

Yesterday was Postal Service Day, marking a reorganization of U.S. post offices aimed at providing better service. There were tours and open houses at many post offices but San Geronimo staged a celebration more fitting for its clientele — with a rock band setting the theme of the day. Post offices are now organized under the U.S. Postal Service, a public corporation.

Safeway Buys Land For Complex

Safeway Stores Inc. has purchased six acres in Rohnert Park for a planned $2 million shopping complex.

The land was purchased for $225,000 from Cofega Enterprises, headed by Paul Golis, who is known as the founder of Rohnert Park. The Safeway development will be coordinated by General Exploration Development Corp. and includes a drugstore, shoe store, two banks, a Junrio Department Store and other convenience shops.

Golis noted that Rohnert Part with a population of more than 7,000 has only one supermarket. A survey last year showed that 75 per cent of the residents go to Petaluma or Santa Rosa to make their major family grocery purchase.

Golis said the 22,500 square foot market and auxiliary stores will be the initial component of a planned $25 million 45-acre regional shopping center of Highway 101 at the Rohnert Park Expressway and Commerce Boulevard.

Caruso's Grave Hit By Vandals

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Someone has removed the tombstone from the grave of tenor Enrico Caruso, police said today.

They said vandals broke into the locked family vault in Naples' Poggioreale cemetery and removed the marble slab but did not touch the urn with Caruso's remains.

WIMBLEDON

A Stunning Win By Teen

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Evonne Goolagong today became the new queen of tennis when she beat defending champion Margaret Court in straight sets to win the women's singles title at the 85th All-England championships.

Miss Goolagong, a 19-year-old part aboriginal, needed only 63 minutes to beat Mrs. Court, 6-4, 6-1, and win the top prize of $4,320.

It was her second major title in two months. She won the French Open in May.

Mrs. Court, 28, and a three-time Wimbledon champion, entered the match a prohibitive favorite to win the title, but at no time was she in command.

Miss Goolagong, the first teenager to win the title since Brazil's Maria Bueno in 1959, outplayed the champion in every department of the game, even though she entered the match with a 1-7 record against Mrs. Court in eight meetings during the last 18 months.

Critics opined Miss Goolagong would not succeed this year because of a suspect forehand and a weal second service. This deficiency was not in evidence today and Mrs. Court was kept away from the net.
net.

The capacity 15,000 center court crowd, which included Princess Magaret, Princess Alexandra, Premier Edward Heath and former Premier Harold McMillan, was behind the young Sydney girl and she did not disappoint her followers, many of whom had stood in line through the night to get the few available standing tickets.

Mrs. Court, a traditionally slow starter, lost the first four games of the match. She was unable to hold her service with any comfort, even though she got a fair proportion of her big first deliveries into play.

Miss Goolagong, completely unspoiled and with no center court nerves, got away to a dream start when she broke in the first game and after that she never let go.

Mrs. Court rallied to win the next three games, breaking in the sixth, but then games went with service. Mrs. Court saved two set points in the 10th game, but a deep volley to the baseline and a smash sewed it up for her teenage rival in 32 minutes.

Mrs. Court held to 15 in the first game of the second set, but after that it became a rout as Miss Goolagong hit winners from all angles.

Mrs. Court pulled back from love-40 to 30-40 in the third game and then netted a backhand; she let a cross court volley pass when she had it covered in the next game with Evonne on advantage; Evonne saved five game points in the fifth before putting it away, and she held in the sixth after blowing three game points.

Mrs. Court opened the seventh game with a doublefault and Evonne played a delicate drop shot and then hit a deep volley to command three match points. Two intended passes into the alley and a service winner made it deuce for Mrs. Court. Evonne got her fourth match point with a forehand to the baseline corner and then Mrs. Court's title slipped away when she ended the match on a doublefault.

Mrs. Court served six doublefaults to Evonne's two.

The crowd went wild when Princess Alexandra came down to present the silver plate to the winner.

The final of the men's doubles followed the women's singles windup, with Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson meeting Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.

Knudson's Potato Masher

It's a plastic putter with a head that's shaped like half a pie. A mark on the head helps him line up the ball, taking into account an eye correction. And with it, Knudson, in the opening round of the $150,000 Canadian Open golf championship Thursday, negotiated the greens with only 29 putts and stood only one shot behind four U.S. tour regulars who shared the lead.

Chunky Phil Rodgers, Rod Funseth, Lou Graham and Rolf Deming all shaved five strokes from par, equaling the course record 67 set by the host pro Jack Bissegger on the 6,895-yard Rouville course at Richelieu Valley.

A fickle wind bothered the starting field of 149 that included 12 former winners and 26 Canadians like Knudson who plays out of Toronto. Thirty-five shooters bettered par in the opening round.

Knudson was bracketed at 68 with Rod Curl. Seven others were grouped at 69, Don Bies, Ralph Johnston, Hal Underwood, Lionel Hebert, DeWitt Weaver, Herb Hooper and Ben Kern, another player from Toronto.

Arnold Palmer was in a 10-player bracket at 70 and noted, "the fairways are a little long. When you drive the ball down the middle, you shouldn't have to hit a flyer to the green."

The field will be pared to the low 70s and ties after today's second round.

Funseth, a 38-year-old who has played on the tour for nine years, was six-under at one point Thursday and later remarked, "I get a little nervous at my age when that happens. But I still think we might see some 63s or 64s before it's all over."

Rodgers, winless since the 1966 Buick Open, was having trouble with his driver and blamed the breeze. "All the tees are in the trees and you couldn't feel the wind to read it properly," he said.

Graham concentrated on a slow backswing to make "solid contact with the ball because the wind exaggerates anything you hit offline."

Bonds Continues His Hot Hitting

NAILED AT THIRD — St. Louis third baseman Joe Torre put the tag to Tito Fuentes of the San Francisco Giants yesterday during the sixth inning at Candlestick Park. Fuentes was out on the play, which began when Ken Henderson singled. Hal Lanier scored on the hit, and the Giants went on to win, 8-7.

Bobby Likes Batting In Middle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —If it's all the same to manager Charlie Fox, Bobby Bonds would like to stay right where he is in the middle of the San Francisco Giants' batting order.

Since being moved down from leadoff a couple of weeks ago, Bonds has improved his average by 20 points. In Thursday's 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals he was the hitting hero with two singles, a double and three RBIs.

"I like being in the middle of the batting order better than leading off," Bonds said. "I feel real comfortable and I like coming to bat with a chance to drive in some runs. It's the kind of challenge I like."

The three hits Thursday, including the game-winning blow, boosted Bonds' average to .312 and the three RBIs gave him 46 for the season, tops on the Giants.

"I guess when we get healthy again I'll be moved back to leadoff," Bonds said. "Naturally I won't complain but as I said, I like it better in the middle of the batting order."

Bonds is hitting third or cleanup these days while Willie McCovey is on the disabled list. He bats third when Willie Mays plays and fourth when Mays sits down for a rest as he did Thursday.

The Giants beat the Cards with a six-run outburst in the second and a two-run rally in the sixth. Bonds drove in two runs during the earlier rally and scored Ken Henderson from first with his double in the sixth. Henderson had reached base on a run-scoring single that snapped a 6-6 tie.

The Giants played with a patchwork lineup and Fox, as might be expected, was happy to win with it.

"Some fellows needed a rest, so we went with the kids," Fox said. "They sure came through, didn't they?"

The kids who helped were newcomers Ed Goodson and Floyd Wicker, who had two hits each.

Tito Fuentes chipped in with a double and single and drove in two runs as the Giants worked over four St. Louis pitchers for 15 hits. The victory went to Don McMahon, the third of five San Francisco pitchers. He now is 6-3.

The victory enabled the Giants to maintain their 6 1-2 game lead in the National League West over the Los Angeles Dodgers,

The Giants and Cards meet again tonight with Steve Stone pitching for San Francisco and Bob Gibson for St. Louis. In Saturday's concluding game of the series, it will be John Cumberland against Steve Carlton.

'Our Kids Are Confident' But Russia Has The Edge

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— The United States puts its best foot forward in more ways than one today in the start of its two day track and field struggle with Russia and a team of world all-stars.

It's the meet fans from both sides of the Iron Curtain have been waiting for ever since the Russians whipped the Americans, 122-114, at Kiev last year.

Both coaches, Dave Maggard of the University of California for the Americans, and Vladimir Popov for the Russians, have exchanged pleasantries in the ast week befitting senior diplomats.

"The Russians are strong, maybe even stronger than last year, and we have to come up with some super performances to beat them," said Maggard, "but our kids are extremely confident, and it could make a difference."

"We did not come here thinking it would be easy to beat the Americans," said Popov, "but this is the strongest Russian team we've ever had. We might surprise the Americans in the sprints but they might surprise us in the jumps and throwing events."

There are 11 men's finals and the first five events of the decathlon on today's schedule plus seven women's events. On Saturday, there are 10 men's events plus the windup of the decathlon and six women's events.

American men lead the series with their Russian counterparts, 7-2, while the Soviet girls hole an 8-1 edge over the Yank females. While the men's competition is rated even, the Russian girls are big favorites. On that basis, the Russians, lumping all the scores together, are almost certain to claim victory.

On the field of combat, though, this is how things will line up on today's show with the United States expected to pick up winning points in the 100 meter dash, the 110 meter high hurdles, the shotput, 400 meter relay and possibly in the 10,000 meter run.

Dr. Delano Mer wether, the 27-year-old cancer research expert from Baltimore who ran a wind-aided nine seconds flat in the AAU 100 yard dash last week, and Jim Green carry U.S. hopes in the 100 meters where the Russians have a strong candidate in Valeriy Borov, the USSR and European co-record holder with a best of 10 flat.

Rod Milburn of little Southern University set a world record of 13 seconds flat, and some still insist it was 12.9, last week in winning the 120 yard high hurdles at the AAU championships. Ron Draper, who did 13.2 in a trial heat and 13.3 in the final, is Milburn's running mate and the Russians have no one to challenge either man seriously.

World record holder Randy Matson and Karl Salb, the Kansas strongman who beat Matson for the first time at the AAU championships, are in tough but should finish 1-2. The Russians counter with Eduard Gushchin, who has a career best of 66-6 1-2.

In the 400 meter relay the U.S. team will be made up from among Meriwether, Green, Ivory Crockett, Bobby Turner, Warren Edmonson, Tommie Turner, Edesel Garrison, Darwin Bond and Fred Newhouse. No matter which four run the Yanks should have the edge.

Frank Shorter, who startled the Russians last year when he beat their best, is back to see if he can make it two in a row in the 10,000 run, and he will have plenty of backp help from Gerry Lindgren, who has worked slowly this year and just now is reaching his peak.

The Russians appear to have the edge in the pole vault, 20 kilo walk, triple jump and hammer with the 440 and 1,500 runs tossups in other men's events on today's show.

LEE GETS WIN

Red Sox Extend Victory Streak

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Boston Red Sox apparently never got the word that they were supposed to be out of the American League East race.

Just last Friday night, the Red Sox were reeling eight games behind the Baltimore Orioles in third place and seemed on the verge of dropping out of sight.

But the Red Sox, who rallied for two runs in the eighth inning and a three-run homer in the ninth inning by Rico Petrocelli, made it seven straight victories Thursday night with an 8-7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers to move within 2 1-2 games of the Orioles. Baltimore suffered a 3- loss to Cleveland.

Rico Petrocelli capped the Boston comeback with a three-run, ninth inning home run, and Bill Lee of Terra Linda picked up the win with 1⅓ inings of magnificent relief pitching. Lee struck out two batters and allowed only one hit while earning his fifth win against two losses.

The Red Sox were leading the league by four games back on May 28 but then went into a slump that lasted almost a month. They won only eight of 24 games until last Saturday when they started their seven-game winning streak by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from Baltimore. Until they started their current streak, the Red Sox seemed to be falling out of contention.

The Tigers like to consider themselves a pennant threat, too, but they remained 5½ games behind Baltimore after the loss to the Red Sox. Reliever Fred Scherman had a 5-3 lead in the eighth but Boston tied it on Bob Montgomery's infield out with runners on second and third and Phil Gagliano' single. Detroit came back to take a 7-5 lead in the last of the eighth on run-scoring sin-

Most N.L. All-Star Positions Locked Up

NEW YORK (UPI) —The National League All-Star team has practically been decided, although there are still four days remaining before the official starting team will be announced.

The NL team will be announced next Wednesday but virtually every position has been locked up. The only two positions which could conceiveably change are shortstop and first base.

Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants leads the first baseman with 399,002, but McCovey has been on the disabled list the past two weeks and Orlando Cepeda of the Atlanta Braves has closed the gap. Cepeda has received 336,718 votes and could possibly overhaul McCovey before the final results.

Chances are Cepeda will start in the All-Star game anywhow as McCovey will still be sidelined with a knee injury. If McCovey should win the voting and not play it would be up to the NL manager — Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds — to choose the starting first baseman. Anderson will likely choose from Cepeda or his own Lee May, who is third in the voting.

At shortstop Bud Harrelson of the New York Mets holds a slight lead over Don Kessinger of the Chicago Cubs. Harrelson has received 393,708 votes to 338,820 for Kissinger.

The remainder of the positions have virtually been decided. Glenn Beckert of Chicago leads the second baseman with 352,761 votes. Joe Torre of St. Louis has 485,473 votes to lead the third basemen and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati tops the catchers with 781,098.

Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves has moved ahead of of San Francisco's Willie Mays as the top vote-getter among the outfielders. Aaron has 795,589 votes to 783,938 for Mays.

Two Californians On Wightman Team

LONDON (UPI) —Two California girls are among the six girls named to the Wightman Cup tennis squad that will meet the British team at Cleveland Aug. 21, 22, and 23.

Bob Colwell, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, Thursday announced the selection of Kristy Pigeon of Danville and Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego. Miss Pigeon will be making her Wightman debut.

Rested Athletics To Open Series Against Angels

ANAHEIM (UPI) —With talk floating around that Oakland may be getting complacent with its 10-game lead in the American League West, the A's try to snap a two-game losing streak tonight against the California Angels.

After dropping two straight to the Minnesota Twins, the question of whether the A's were letting up was put to manager Dick Williams.

But Williams said the A's were just tired, and he predicted that now that they've have a day off they will get back on the winning track.

"We've had 14 games in 13 days. One was a rainout, but we were in uniform and played a couple of innings so it can't be counted as a day off," Williams said.

Odom, who has been plagued by elbow problems, now seems ready to regain his old style. Last Sunday he beat Kansas City in his first complete game of the year and his third straight win. He has a 4-3 overall mark.

Righthander Rick Clark (1-0) will pitch for California.

By AL GIDDINGS

Tomorrow the statewide rabbit season opens. This year the daily bag and possession limit has been increased from five to eight. The season remains open through Jan. 30, 1972 for the cottontails, brush, pigmy and snowshoes. Jackrabbits season is open all year with no limit.

Reports have it that the prospects in Northeast California are not as good as last year because of a winter die off. About 120,000 hunters took 728,000 rabbits last year. Cottontails are excellent for the table. It's worth going.

LET'S BE careful. "Last year, with more than three times as many hunters in the fild, there were fewer hunting accidents than there were 40 years ago!" This was a statement noted in the April 1931 issue of a Fish and Game report! An estimated 100 persons were injured in 1931! The number was 132 by 1955. Last year 89 persons were injured. It really looks like our Hunter-Safety program is doing a great service for the people!

Special hunts for deer, elk and antelope are being considered by the Fish and Game Commission at the San Diego meeting today. Twenty-six special anterless and either-sex deer hunts with 11,575 permits has been recommended to the Commission by the Department of Fish & Game.

A ROCKY MOUNTAIN elk hunt in Shasta and Siskiyou counties for Nov. 13 to Dec. 5, with 200 permits is also on the recommended list.

An antelope hunt in Modoc, Lassen, eastern Shasta and Siskiyou counties from Aug. 28 to Sept. 6 with 400 permits is also being recommended.

In the special hunt for antelope, 300 hunters took 241 bucks. The 3,800 antelope counted in this year's census was the highest number counted since the present census method was started. The commissioners will also consider adopting regulations to prohibit the importation of falcons, hawks, eagles, vultures and owls.

THE MAIN BRANCH of the Russian River in southern Mendocino County was to be stocked with catchable size trout before the Fourth of july weekend. The area stockd will be etween Ash Cree and squaw Rock north of Cloverdale. No plants for the Marin lkes tis wek, but Lake Merced gts soe catchables.

LICENSE AGENTS throughout California have received the first shipment of 1971-72 hunting licenses, deer and bear tags and the new hunter safety validation stamps, and they are now on sale.

James Christopher, Department of Fish and Game license chief, said that the statewide mailing covered approximately 2,600 license agents. More than three-quarters of a million hunting licenses were sold in California last year.

First of the 1971-72 hunts is rabbit season, which opens Saturday. The early archery deer season opener follows on July 10, and the early deer season on Aug. 7, which is also opening day for the tree squirrel season in Lake, Marin, Napa, Solano and Sonoma counties.

THE $1 HUNTER safety validation stamp must be purchased by applicants who qualify for licenses by presenting the hunter safety certificate of competence.

As a special service to hunters this year, Christopher added, a larger, more legible map of deer hunting areas will be provided in addition to the map regularly carried in the hunting regulations booklet. These will be available from license agents at about the end of July.

Pheasant and duck stamps will go on sale about Sept. 1, Christopher said.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Pirates' Ellis Wins His 13th Of Year

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Dock Ellis' burning ambition this season has been to make the National League All-Star team. The way he's pitching now, he may be the first choice when Manager Sparky Anderson fills in his pitching staff next week.

Ellis gained his 13th victory of the season—tops in the NL—against only three losses Thursday afternoon when the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 3-0 in a battle of Eastern Division frontrunners. Ellis, who pitched the first five innings of the lengthy, rain-delayed game, struck out five and allowed only two hits. Jim Nelson, Nelson Briles and Dave Giusti finished up for the Pirates.

Gene Clines scored Pittsburgh's first run in the fifth on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly and Clines singled in another run in the sixth. Robert Clemente's double and a single by Willie Stargell accounted for Pittsburgh's final run in the ninth.

The game was interrupted three times because of thunderstorms and Ellis was removed after the second delay. The victory left Pittsburgh three games ahead of second-place New York in the NL East.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco edged St. Louis 8-7, Los Angeles shaded San Diego 2-1, Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 5-1 and Atlanta beat Montreal 7-3.

Wes Parker doubled in the tie-breaking run when Leron Lee misjudged his line drive as the Dodgers rallied for a pair of runs in the fifth inning to beat San Diego. The Padres led 1-0 when Maury Wills singled, stole second and scored on Richie Allen's single. Allen scored when Lee broke in on Parker's liner and it sailed to the wall.

Johnny Bench stroked three hits and Jim McGlothlin pitched a four-hitter as the Reds stopped Philadelphia. Singles by George Foster, Bench, Tony Perez and Bernie Carbo produced a pair of runs in the fourth and Carbo walked leading off the sixth and scored on Dave Concepcion's double. Concepcion scored on a double by Pete Rose.

Ralph Garr tripled in two runs to highlight a four-run ninth inning rally that boosted Atlanta over the Expos and spoiled Montreal's Canada Day celebration.

South Cagers Overpower North

OAKLAND (UPI) — The South All-Stars, led by Biff Burrell and Dave Meyers, had a 13-0 scoring binge in a three-minute span of the final half to win its second straight All State Basketball Classic 90-79 Thursday night.

About 4,000 saw the South take a 49-43 halftime lead and then the North move ahead 66-62 before Burrell, a 6-2 Compton performer headed for USC, and Meyers, 6-7 Sonora of La Habra student headed for UCLA, turned the tide.

gles by Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline.

But Scherman hit Luis Aparicio and Reggie Smith singled to open the ninth. Carl Yastrzemski struck out but Petrocelli followed with his 12th homer to decide the game.

In the other games, Washington edged New York 3-1, Chicago topped Milwaukee 6-4 and Kansas City routed California 9-4.

Jim Palmer and Baltimore seemed to be rolling to a 2-0 victory over Cleveland when the Indians loaded the bases in the eighth on two walks and Ray Fosse's single and Frank Baker hit a ground-rule double to tie the game. Vada Pinson then homered with two out in the ninth off reliever Eddie Watt to give the Indians the victory.

Ironically, Pinson never got the ball out of the infield in four trips against Palmer and struck out twice.

Washington has all kinds of problems —except when it plays New York. The Senators have won only four of their 11 games and all four victories have been over New York. Jim Shellenback pitched a four-hitter to beat Mike Kekich and gain the victory. Shellenback is 3-4 and all three victories have come over New York.

Dick Drago pitched a six-hitter and California backed him with an 11-hit attack to beat Kansas City. Amos Otis, who hit his 13th homer, had two hits and drove in three runs and Paul Schaal had a two-run double to pace the Angels.

Crutches And Cast For Carr

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Austin Carr, the Cleveland Cavaliers' No. 1 draft choice, will have a cast on his right foot for the next six weeks, the team announced Thursday.

Carr suffered a hairline fracture in the foot Wednesday night while playing a pinkup game of basketball in New York City, a team spokesman said.

The former Notre Dame star will wear a cast and use crutches for two weeks, then be fitted with a walking cast for another four.

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) —Dave Cowens of the Boston Celtics was released on $25 bond after being arrested Thursday on a disorderly conduct charge in a local night club.

Police said Cowens, a former Florida State University basketball star, and two companions were involved in a fight with a fourth man, who pulled a knife. All four were arrested.

Cowens was cut on the right arm during the struggle, but police said the injury was not serious. He was treated and released from a local hospital.

Football

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dallas Cowboys' rookie star Duane Thomas said today he does not intend to report to the pro football team's summer camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., unless the club gives him a new contract.

Thomas, the club's rookie of the year, feels his performance in 1970 justifies the renegotiation of his contract and he said he intends to retire from football unless a new agreement is reached.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mayor Richard J. Daley says Chicago will have a new sports stadium. It will, he says, be located on the lakefront, cost $55 million and be used for football.

"This is a football stadium," the mayor said Thursday when asked whether the Chicago Cubs or White Sox might avail themselves of the field.

Actually, Philip K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, has said he likes his present North Side playground, Wrigley Field, and sees no reason to move to a superstadium. John Allyn's White Sox have indicated a similar lack of interest.

HENLEY, England (UPI)—Trinity College of Hartford, Conn., and giant New York sculler Jim Dietz Friday advanced to the final of their events at the Henley Royal Regatta.

Harvard University's four earlier boosted U.S. hopes for honors by reaching the semifinal of the Wyfold Cup competition. Trinity beat Fitzwilliam College, Cambridge, by 1-3-4 lengths in seven minutes 10 seconds to make the final of the ladies plate and Dietz, a 6 foot-6 student of North Eastern University, Boston, Mass., qualified for the diamond sculls final.

Auto Racing

Among those missing from the meeting will be Mark Donohue, who took the pole position with a speed of 172.393 miles-per-hour. Donohue, driving a Turbo-charged Offenhauser-powered McLaren, got special permission so he could instruct some amateur drivers at Lime Rock, Conn.

Important Games With The Dodgers

During the next two weekends the giants and Dodgers will meet five times, twice in Candlestick Park July 4-5, three times in Dodger Stadium July 9-11 just before the All-Star break.

Any baseball fan who has been following the day-to-day team standings in the National League West knows that the Dodgers have chipped away considerable chunks of the 10-1/2 game division lead the Giants enjoyed at the end of May.

"THERE'S NO doubt about it, we've been playing our best ball for the last month," said Walter Alston, manager of the Dodgers.

"We have to make them (the Giants) look over their shoulders," said Jim Gilliam, Dodger coach.

There already has been more than one shoulder peep backward by the Giants, especially during the first half of June when they won only four of 15 games and the Dodgers whittled their fat 10-1/2 game lead to 5-1/2.

THEN THE Giants put together a seven-game winning streak and their lead over the Dodgers climbed to a comfortable eight games. But the win streak came to an end in the Astrodome where the Giants always have had monumental problems regardless of what month it happens to be. Over the past three seasons the Giants have won only five of 25 indoor ball games.

From the Astrodome, which they left without a pleasant memory, the Giants flew to San Diego for an end-of-the-month series with the Padres who showed no respect whatsoever for Juan Marichal, ace of the Giants, in the series opener. And once again the lead of the Giants was trimmed to 5½ games. Marichal's loss to the Padres coincided with a Dodger win over the Cubs in 101 degrees at Wrigley Field.

"DODGERS AS hot as Chicago's temperature," was the sports page line in one Los Angeles newspaper, following the Dodger decision that interrupted a modest three-game win streak of the Cubs and gave the Dodgers their 13th win in 18 games.

Maybe Candlestick's breezes this weekend will cool off Dodger bats that have been compiling hit totals in double figures in game after game. The Dodgers weren't hitting in such fashion in May when the Giants beat them four out of six.

There will be no looking back by the Giants during the next two weekends. They will be eyeing their old rivals in head-to-head combat, the kind schedule makers dream about.

TWO STRONG LEFTIES

That might look like a plug for the main wrestling event at any local arena, but it really has to do with baseball and in particular with Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians and Vida Blue of the Oakland Athletics.

One of the major topics of discussion in the stands these days is over who has the best fastball in the American League, McDowell or Blue? It is a question asked often but with no clear-cut answer. Opinions vary on the ability of these two strikeout artists to throw the ball by AL hitters.

"They are different type pitchers," says Roy White of the New York Yankees. "Blue's ball seems to pick up speed as it comes up to the plate whereas Sam's ball is faster out of the hand. You're more ready at the plate for a guy like McDowell.

"Blue has a very easy motion and is what you would call 'sneaky fast.' He's much tougher to hit because you're not ready for that fast ball when it comes. I know Blue throws hard, but I don't think he's the type of pitcher that would knock the bat out of your hand. I am very impressed with his control, though. He's got much better control than McDowell."

"Blue and McDowell are about the same," says the Yankees' Bobby Murcer. "But Blue seems to be able to throw hard for an entire game. The way the press built him up the first time we played him we weren't supposed to be able to see the ball. He's not that fast. But he is one of the hardest throwers I've seen."

One of the raps against McDowell is that he doesn't throw high hard ones often enough during a game. He has been criticized as being "too cute" with off-speed pitches.

"If McDowell threw nothing but fastballs for an entire game he would win 1,000 games," says one player. "Nobody throws a ball as hard as Sam. The problem is he doesn't throw hard as he can most of the time."

Tommy Davis, a teammate of Blue's on the Athletics, has batted against McDowell on several occasions and also played with another famed fastballer, Sandy Koufax. How does Davis rate 'm?

"McDowell, when he really rears back and fires, is the fastest of the three," says Davis. "But Vida, like Sandy, can throw hard for nine innings. There's very little to choose from between Koufax and Vida, except that Sandy had a better curve. But Vida really works hard at improving. He wants to be great, real big. If he keeps his arm strong he's gonna win a few games in his lifetime."

In 1881 President Garfield was shot by Charles Guiteau in Washington. Garfield died Sept. 19.

In 1937 American aviatrix Amelia Earhart and co-pilot Frederick Noonan were reported lost over the Pacific. They never were found.

In 1964 President Lyndon Johnson signed a new civil rights bill.

A thought for today: Horace Mann said, "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity."

Many Relying On Income Policies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many couples are relying on their life insurance policies to provide additional income for them when retirement comes.

While life insurance is purchased primarily to furnish financial protection for dependents if the policyholder dies prematurely, almost half of the persons questioned in a national survey said they also feel that life insurance is one of the best ways to accumulate money for retirement.

New Twist: Make Unavoidable Play When Choosing A Finesse

When you have a choice of finesses, you should usually start with one that is unavoidable. If it goes well, you may be able to play the rest of the hand more comfortably; if it goes badly, you've lost only what was unavoidable. The point is illustrated in today's hand, played some years ago in a match between England and Norway.

AT BOTH TABLES

The bidding and the opening lead were the same at both tables of the match. Both declarers won the first trick with ace of spades, but then they parted company.

The English declarer led the three of diamonds at the second trick and agonized over which diamond to play from the dummy. When he finally played low, the situation was pretty clear to both defenders.

East won with the jack of diamonds and returned a diamond. When East got in with his high spade, he returned another diamond to give West a ruff. The ace of hearts took the setting trick.

DIFFERENT START

The Norwegian declarer made a different start after winning the first trick with the ace of spades. He led his singleton heart on the theory that he was sure to lose a heart trick sooner or later.

West stepped up with the ace of hearts, setting up dummy's king. Declarer eventually discarded a diamond on dummy's king of hearts, after which he needed only a simple finesse with the queen of diamonds. South had to play the hand with care, but he had a fairly easy time making 11 tricks.

LUCK IN DIAMONDS

The trouble with leading the diamonds at once is that the hand depends on luck in diamonds. The advantage of leading hearts first is that good luck in that suit may simplify the diamond position; and bad luck in hearts is not likely to make declarer's job more difficult.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - A 10 8 2
♦ - 10 4 3
♣ - A K 10 9 6.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

You have 11 points in high cards and two points for the singleton, enough for an optional opening bid. You decide to bid rather than to pass because of the excellent intermediate cards and the fine high-card structure.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuities Provide Income Guarantee

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am elderly and would like an investment providing maximum security and high income. I realize, considering these requirements, full capital return in later years is probably impossible. — J.D.

A. For your purpose an annuity contract would probably be a good choice. Annuities are sold with a wide variety of options which allow the buyer to shape his contract to his individual needs. The monthly payments would of course be affected by the various options chosen by the annuitant. Although I can give you no specific figure on what you could expect by way of return, a single premium, nonparticipating life annuity for a man aged-70 could provide up to $110 annually per $1,000 invested.

As a rule, a large portion of each monthly payment is considered a return of principal, and, as such, that portion is not subject to income tax. It is because the annuitant receives part of his original investment back each month that the income from annuities generally exceeds that available from similar high quality investments. Thus the annuitant is assured of a generous monthly income for his life time. In addition, under a refund contract, the beneficiary will receive payment or payments equal to the stipulated amount, in the event of the early demise of the annuitant.

I would emhasize that prior to making such a purchase you should be familiar with all the possible options so that your annunity contract will fit your needs. Furthermore, in order to avoid second thoughts at some later date on the wisdom of relinquishing a portion of your capital, you should understand fully the principles basic to annuities.

The growing acceptance of annuities, both by individuals and groups, is testimony to the important role these contracts serve in supplementing retirement income. In 1940 there were less than one million contracts in force. By 1969, this figure had grown to over nine million, with 1.6 million of these anuities written for individuals in circumstances similar to yours.

Wall Street Slump On Holiday Rush

Bank Forecasts Economy Upturn

Inflation and relatively high unemployment will continue to be troubesome for the rest of 1971, according to a progress report by Bank of America. However, vigorous growth in the economy should set in next winter and last through 1972.

Bank economists forecast that the unemployment rate will probably near 6 per cent, while prices grow about 5 per cent for the rest of this year. They expect the Gross National Product to increase by 7.5 per cent over 1970.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York finds that an unusual amount of anxiety exists among businessmen over high long-term interest rates besides inflation and unemployment.

On the bright side, it sees a "reasonable chance"that some progress may be made on the price front and a probability that productive gains will average a good deal higher in 1971-72 than they have over the past two years.

BLUE CHIP STAMPS has reported earnings of $1,729,000 or 34 cents per share for the first quarter ended May 29, compared to 43 cents for the first quarter a year ago. Total revenues declined from $34.6 million in the 1970 quarter to $28.4 currently. Decreased earnings and revenues were attirbuted to adoption of the so-called discount method of promotion by a number of supermarket chains. A cash dividend of six cents per share will be paid Aug. 5.

WEYERHAUSER CO. has announced the acquisition of a majority interest in International Timber Corp., which holds valuable timber cutting rights in Borneo. The acquisition will triple Weyerhauser's Far East holdings.

CROCKER-CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK has shortened its name to Crocker Bank, although the legal name is now Crocker National Bank.

THE WICKES CORP. sales for the 13 weeks ended May 1 totaled $126.2 million - up from $112.4 million a year ago. Net income of $2.2 million compared with $1.4 million last year - an increase from 21 cents per share to 32 cents per share.

JAMES ALLAN AND SONS MEAT CO. will build a $10 million plant on a 73-acre site near Gilroy and transfer its meat processing and distribution facilities there from San Francisco. The new plant is not expected to be ready for two years.

H. J. HEINZ CO. has reported a gain of 15.6 per cent in consolidated net earnings for its fiscal year ended April 28, establishing a new record. Earnings totaled $37.6 million compared to $32.5 million reported a year ago. Net earnings were equivalent to $2.53 per common share after provision for preferred dividends. Last year the company reported earnings of $2.41 per common share.

BEATRICE FOODS CO. sales, net earnings and per share earnings for the first quarter ended May 1 reached all-time highs for the company for its 20th consecutive year. Net earnings of $17.2 million were up 14 per cent and earnings per share were up 11 per cent from last year.
